Hungry Nations Need A "Better Way"

TALA-GLOBAL ALLIANCE PROVIDES THE SOLUTION

RE: HUNGRY HEARTS, STOMACHS AND SOULS—GCH/D

BELLY OR SOUL?

A young son said to his Mother as he struggled for balance within himself, "I am so hungry; I am starving!"

Having just eaten half hour before it certainly could not have been food which the being sought. The soul was crying out for LIFE in a meaningful way in the midst of suicidal thoughts—suicide won within the week.

How many ways do men suicide themselves other than outrightly killing their bodies? (The soul is never deaded in the process.) How many turn away from the very source of life while BLAMING the very being who gave them life? Every deliberate move into the snare of evil doubts ("Evil: that which moves you away from God in goodly intent.") is a decision of conscious consideration and, ultimately, action.

Death of body is not the "ultimate" in decision-making—it is the most foolish, perhaps, in that nothing is settled for those making transition or for those remaining "behind". Results of the very transition can be in the form of gifts beyond recognition or simply pain and blame and a move further DOWN the spiral into ignorance. Ignorance is the darkest of evil-empire decadence, readers—all other circumstances are but the expression (clues if you will) of hopelessness that is now a GLOBAL pandemic.

Those who attempt to achieve "a way" for growth, honor, integrity and goodness are simply hit at every opportunity by those who are so unfulfilled as to have no way of dealing with their own problems but must blame others for their indiscretions. It becomes a heated game of lash out and destroy someone rather than the loving inference of "reaching out to touch someone".

Yes, the road to disruption and chaos is filled with good intentions simply hidden by shrouds of gossip or "life" as it happens. This is not the road to Hell of which I speak, for in this instance, there is NOWHERE TO "GO"—"hell" is being expressed most candidly from within the tormented and restless being. And still, the "buck is expected to stop HERE". Why is this so?

I CANNOT SAVE YOU OR YOUR SOUL. If YOU would be "saved" from something or other, you shall see to it and it will not be worthy if all you do is dump, onto another, your perceptions of THEIR shortcomings whilst attending your careless dispositions.

IN THIS ISSUE

We have to face, as we write, the fact that a major spoke in our wheel has just wiped out our very things that facilitate continuing operation in this paper, this project and this global exercise. Meanwhile, demanding more pay for the processing of such adventures into deeper ignorance. Oh, there are others who will step into the void and close the warehouse, shore up the "corporation" participation and yes, even see to layout of a paper—but THIS resource is weary—Fingers is tired. This is not of typing but of sorrow of soul.

So, good, will she stop? No, because commitments are deep and unbending—TO GET THIS TASK ACCOMPLISHED. Her task is not to pull anyone along to Heaven's Gate or Hell's Freeway. The fact remains, however, LET GO AND SOMETIMES: LET GOD. Here is where the AA creed might work pretty well in that you must always decide for self that which you can impact or change and do so. Then accept that which you CANNOT change (this does not mean that it is a REAL perception) and RELEASE that over which you have no business or reasonable right of interference. So, I've taken liberties with the creed itself?

EVERY incident has MANY choices in thought, intent and action. However, the ONE focus in every confrontation is to CORRECT THAT WHICH IS FALSELY PRESENTED where it IS your business; expect others to confront that in which they participate; and seek solutions of the BEST kind possible for resolution of any given "problem".

Please understand that an addiction to such as alcohol or drugs is certainly pitiful—in that long journey to the "bottom" and in the climbing "out" again in recovery—but alcohol and/or drugs are NOT the problem—REALLY. It is the habit gained in the "treatment" of the problem. Therefore, recovery must bring a balance and strength to handle the PROBLEM and meanwhile, please discount "suicide" (of any kind) as one of the viable solutions. Killing oneself is the rarest kind of suicide. Moreover, when you do not LISTEN, you cannot hear! Most people have to pass beyond the mouth to open the ears! Worse yet, when the choice of solution to "your own discomfort" is to bash another, the eyes, ears and "reason" are quite muted.

Moreover, others take up the hammer and pound a nail or two and the "dark acrobats" win another round in "getcha God".

I have an observation: Dharma looks out over the pollution at a distant aircraft taking off from the airport while the "bug man" comes in the door to spray the roaches and I hear: "I wish I was on that plane!" Oh, I inquire, "Where would you be going?" Retort: "I don't care where—just somewhere else…."

How many of you reach some such desperation in your being that "just anywhere else" would certainly be preferable?

Dharma is a good example in that there is always the actual confrontation of somehow if "she fails"—it is a failure against everyone who ever heard of us. How so? How arrogant?

The feeling is always one of "somehow I failed SSS or XXX" and therefore >>>>>!" Is it not just possible that SOMEBODY FAILED US/YOU? The realization is much more in reality of correct perception. This program serves EVERYONE and participants who make it possible to continue will reap the greatest rewards no matter how they try to fail. The choices are theirs in EVERY instance.

GOLD IN THE VAULTS

I would like to change focus just a bit—but not too far afield from the topic in point. Even EJ says to Doris that she could be more supportive and get more backup for him. She is offended because all anyone has to do is wash their ears, open their minds and use the information and lessons already given over and over again ad nauseam. Details may well change with events but concepts NEVER change—nor with us, the goal of the game in play.

Is MY game narrow? Perhaps, BUT, when you actually ask or "do not ask" before shooting your brother between his eyes—who might be a bit at risk? Don't you already know that it is wrong to shoot the other? When is it "right" to shoot him? And, do you aid and abet the original sniper or do you just fan flames until the raging fire is out of control?

Is this harsh as accused? Well, is closure of our very substance not a bit harsh? It actually DOES matter to almost all of you who will even read this message. In Manila the team is under CONSTANT 24-7 surveillance and investigation. Not one centavo can change hands prior to working out this program and those are the FACTS of the matter—period and no argument otherwise is even remotely acceptable. WE PASS ALL SUCH CUTE ENCOUNTERS AND WELCOME THE CIA, FEDS AND ANYONE ELSE "THEY" CHOOSE TO SEND TO TAMPER, BRIBE OR DESTROY.

So, back to the vault with the "alleged" gold therein.

We now have backup information that when the Central Bank changed out in 1993 the major buyer was Rothschild incorporated in a dozen different names. But, the gold is also said to still be in the old bank, all processed and marked. Is this true? Does it matter—really? NO, in overall perspective. YES, in realistic need for attention.

The facts are, and certainly if no one else spoke a word about it other than VK Durham in her idiocy, that the Fed, the Bankers, etc., run the world and therefore will try diligently to confiscate that gold holding.

Now we move on to the Tallano estate, now a registered, as court ordered, Foundation (FDN). This is good and has only taken three sets of teeth, five heads of hair and a year and a half of frustration in getting the task accomplished. The facts are that even now with the job accomplished it is impossible to get the key player, Tallano, to even show up at Director's meetings, even with his full name and prints proving his position.

Will we turn and wander (wonder?) our way in the other direction? Oh no, please. We are going to hassle this thing to the mat and we are going to shelter our/YOUR position with every known legal binding and umbrella. We are going to now, at my request, get another PUBLIC NOTICE OF LIEN(S) attached to all of it and the players involved. This will protect the few who are actually ON THE LINE, our interests, and protect assets.

The Big Boys can certainly gain it all through FORCE but that tactic is getting less and less well hidden and even though we are not YET running notices in Manila papers, because we are a U.S. entity, we make sure that all major papers and government officials have copies of the notices themselves. It works better for safety and security of parties involved. Moreover, we need the FDN to function here in the Philippines—not a U.S. visitor.

The most secure position is to have liens protecting the PRODUCT in every instance but at this point we only wish to protect the hard commodity in the vaults and under court order. We have no ability or interest in seeing to all the land titles in the Philippines and our only obligation is to help clear the outstanding collections due and owing from court ordered payments, fines, etc. Otherwise, we enter into contracts for support—of which the major one in point is USE of the collateral.

If YOU don't quite understand it then be patient with these people in this third world dying nation. They can't even conceive that anyone is even trying to help them and not just steal it all. The "Fear Factor" is magnificently huge.

So, in the confusion I will just include you readers into this loop as I ask EJ to prepare Public Notices suitable to shelter all of our potential possibilities and overpass the pitfalls. This is NOT an easy task although can be done in a couple of documents (more or less, actually) but needs doing timely—AS IN "NOW", please, and get it into the next edition of CONTACT. This means that this week's timelines are not going to be met but the preparation can be concluded and public showing offered even before the actual date of publication. This is to establish INTENT as well as "action" on the matter. We are NOT playing at games and will no longer leave ourselves open for every potshotting usurper around.

This means that the documentation will reflect that no party can arbitrarily go around other parties to the coalition. This brings everything out into the open transparency demanded, shows all of the players and manipulators otherwise—and generally places the gold, etc., into a "hold" pattern of security—LEGALLY. If other things transpire they will be UNLAWFUL (and perhaps even illegal).

I further suggest that you get operating "committees" or authorized parties so that there are no further holdups by failure of participating parties to make meetings. Keep the Board of Directors as small as possible under the circumstances and do not allow "selling" of positions. There is plenty for everyone and handled properly the entire program can move quickly ahead instead of bog down month after month waiting for someone's mother-in-law to get over her hives. This is unacceptable and what happened this week is a prime example when it involved someone not even attached to the Board of Directors. A fully noticed Board of Director's meeting was not even met by a quorum of directors and to which EJ gave over half a day to the incredible streets of Manila just to attend. We do believe that there is some "better understanding" for the next one—tomorrow.

You need startup funds and the quarreling over who gets the most is out of the question. There is need for immediate accounting firm acquisition—right after getting interim bookkeepers, clerks, computer people and establishment of operating business operations. The potential is MASSIVE in itself and that holds true for us as for any participant. Lesser is not acceptable in that once established the hope is always to "go around" the very facilitator. It is not going to happen—except through carelessness—so we will not be careless, please. We don't have to worry over or about the FDN—because we can handle our interests by the branch over which we have FULL CONTROL. Moreover, we hold the ORIGINALLY ESTABLISHED REGISTRATION and paid for the entity itself. The agreements bear all of the proper signatures and necessary documentation so let us do our duty and gain our shelter. We do not go to war; we do the legally sheltered method of establishing standing.

The liens have to cover all of the supposed amounts of gold in point—even if some is missing or some amounts are in conflict (i.e., the Marcos-Sta. Romano holdings). The last legal documents from the courts include those sums and must be noticed although expectation of the presence of the commodity itself is unlikely. We have to cover everything from, at the least, our original letter of intent followed on by formation of the Foundation and all of the other established "agreements".

The object is to get use of some of the commodity in order to gain working funds so that help can be brought into the affairs to do proper BUSINESS right under the tightest scrutiny of all agencies and enemies.

I would like to simply put that aside and turn to the insipid display of political insanity. While Rome burns the politicians fight over the charcoal and never mind bothering to even address the hungry masses. And, readers, in the Philippines it is established that some 80 percent of the people are HUNGRY. This is not "just poverty", THIS IS OUTRIGHT "HUNGRY".

Handouts are NOT an answer. Crime and corruption will be the rule of the day when the masses are literally HUNGRY. Politicians can afford to play but the man who is starving has no more wish to further "play". Neither will he ultimately be patient with another who deliberately damages the only project left visible and active.

Here is where we fit, in that some can try to destroy us if they would but our TASK is far greater than the sum of all the parts of that which allowed us to reach this point of this mission and now only inches from that "touchdown" line we expect last ditch efforts to derail this train at every rail-tie. It is ever thus.

Yes, Dharma, you could get on that plane going "somewhere else", but it will eventually land and that "else" will be "here and now"—wherever that might be.

I would like to honor Alejandro Lichauco who has written the following: (Please pull it up from the paper-net so we can attach it here.) [QUOTING:]

HUNGER, NOT CORRUPTION AND CRIME, THE ROOT OF NATION'S CRISIS

By Alejandro Lichauco, Thursday, 12 04, 2003

We should be disturbed at why corruption and crime have taken center stage in the national debate when it should be widespread poverty and hunger instead. A nation can survive with corruption and crime no matter how pervasive, but it can't survive where 80 percent of its people are hungry. In fact, when you have hunger stalking the land, corruption and crime will run rampant even if you have a top cop or a top lawyer or a top economist or a top anything at the helm of state. And hunger is precisely what we have today. But that's the one issue they never touched on during the road-show of the "presidentiables" at the Manila Hotel last week.

According to Food and Nutrition Research Institute of the Department of Science and Technology, 80 percent of the nation's households now live in hunger conditions and not only in poverty.

With that, don't ever expect peace and order, and upright government to come about even if St. Peter were to promise you that. And not one of the presidential candidates is a St. Peter.

What does 80 percent hunger mean in the concrete? Well, a few years ago, Newsweek ran a story about how the poor in Tondo—and presumably in other impoverished areas—are compelled to sell their kidneys to meet the requirements of survival. We have reportedly the highest rate of tuberculosis in Asia, and that disease kills 62 Filipinos every day. It's a poor man's disease and estimates are that at least one-third of the nation's population are infected by it. A year or so ago, a newspaper splashed a story full across its front page telling us that "Doctors and nurses at the pediatric ward of the Philippine General Hospital fight emotional battles each day while helplessly watching a baby die because the parents cannot afford to buy medicines that could save their children."

And the lament is endless.

This is what made the respective programs of government presented by the three opposition presidentiables—Ping Lacson, Raul Roco and FPJ—before the businessmen's conference last week seem and sound so unreal. Their program should have focused on the problem of hunger and its roots because hunger is at the root of the growing anarchy that now envelops the nation as well as of the corruption that has metastasized as a cancer grown wild.

Corruption and crime are running rampant precisely because the nation is hungry. If you are hungry, chances are that you will turn criminal—and sell your vote to the first corrupt politician who comes around with his bribe money. Political corruption begins at the grassroots where voters are so poor and hungry that elections are received as a happy occasion for making merienda money and getting free entertainment besides. And when you have an electoral process so corrupted by poverty, to dream of a government where public officials are honest and transparent is precisely that—to dream.

That's what the comfortable businessmen don't understand. They are so detached from social reality because all they are looking for is money and they are as a class so insensitive and stupid that they will cheer Raul Roco on, totally oblivious of the fact that it is free trade and GATT, which Roco espoused and continues to espouse, that sank the economy and drove even some of the richest of the rich to bankruptcy.

As for Ping Lacson, he should know as top cop that much of the criminality that has now enveloped the nation is rooted in economic desperation and that while ruthlessness might go a long way in restraining criminality and bringing top criminals to justice, ruthlessness alone won't suffice to bringing about a regime of peace and order as long as people are hungry.

If Ping himself were hungry, he would be a top criminal and this piece won't blame him.

Ping isn't old enough perhaps to remember that before the Second World War, this country was run by the most upright of governments. The morality of our politicians then was synonymous with the morality of a Quezon, a Recto, an Osias and Sergio Osmeña Sr.

But we were already poor then, illustrating that upright governments don't necessarily make for a progressive economy. Central Luzon was a hotbed of social unrest already, birthplace of the socialist movement led by Luis Taruc and Pedro Abad Santos. And so concerned was the upright Quezon that he announced his program of social justice.

To believe, therefore, as Lacson and Roco do, that wiping out corruption and crime by itself would bring about peace and prosperity in the land is to entertain the most unreal of political notions. Unless a war against crime and corruption went hand in hand with a war against poverty and hunger, the war against crime and corruption can only degenerate into a stupid fascist regime—not only fascist but stupid.

To one's surprise only the "uneducated" FPJ demonstrated a perception of this truth when he said unless the basic needs of the people are met, crime will persist and that it will cease only when those basic needs are first met.

That's the reason that if their program is to acquire an air of reality, Ping and Roco should show they are equally focused on the problem of hunger, not only poverty, and they can demonstrate that focus by presenting a program of specific policies on just how they propose and expect to achieve their objective.

And the same holds true for FPJ although he has already given us an unmistakable hint that he understands the connection between poverty, on one hand, and crime and corruption, on the other.

If nothing else, this season of presidential campaign should provoke a national debate on the problem of poverty and hunger, their roots and the forces behind poverty and hunger.

That's the only thing that would make these elections meaningful. As long as the problems of hunger and poverty are made the focus of national debate, it really shouldn't matter whether the ruling power cheats. It will cheat anyway, and it will be stupid to assume that it won't or that it can be prevented from doing so.

At least elections would have served the invaluable purpose of having the root of the crisis exposed and discussed.

But this piece fears that behind all that focus on crime and corruption is a design precisely to cover up the real cancer and prevent it from being discussed or even mentioned at all.

[END QUOTING]

I am astounded at the "do-gooders" who, in the face of a nation in starvation, argue over a genetic "helper" which allows vitamin A to present in the rice production—synthesized right from the sunlight. It is a strain of abundantly producing rice called "golden" in that it presents as with a golden hue. It could wipe out hunger in this nation as well as all others for it also presents other nutrients that even though processed will retain enough nutrients to "keep a man alive", his stomach fed and his ENERGY level up high enough to increase production. Humankind is truly an amazing species intent on self-destruction (called "suicide").

You ask that God have mercy? He does! Where is yours?

To you who have helped us make it through—we are humbly grateful and you shall not go wanting. If you cannot see by the very size of this gift that GOD has both hands in the play, then you are truly in need of eyeglasses.

I told you from the beginning that the need would be GREAT and therefore the solution would indeed be greater—and so it IS. SO IT IS!

HOPE AND GOOD NEWS

RE: POSITIVE RUMBLINGS IN MANILA; ALL THINGS WITH GOD ARE POSSIBLE—DJE

ORDER OUT OF CHAOS?

Well, I guess that would be stretching it a bunch in consideration of how deeply imbedded is chaos is everything man touches (well, and woman too).

I know that things are happening around here and there because many of the old con-scammers are back trying to make things somehow acceptable to our hardened hearts.

We have several who hurt us so badly over here that we have scraped off the debris and moved on only to find that they actually now want to come back, participate, get backing for their absurd programs (lies in the first place) and get some kind of "appearance" of partnerships of some kind or another.

One is a group of those who simply applied our names to documents and circulated them all over the government and some banks—but without signatures of course. They had also set forth a King Sultan that somehow we were supposed to praise and approve, etc. No, and yet, they called this very morning wanting back on the bandwagon going on the golden freeway to rich and famous.

Another little lady who kept us dangling a year ago—with all the backup necessary to scam the gods, was in touch yesterday with blessings of the day—from God no less. Then came another message from her saying that silver had cured her very, very sick son of Typhoid in November.

Short-term memory loss? I guess so—like two minutes is too long to consider. Moreover, it seems there are no boundaries or groups separated one from another where the game only seems different.

We can be bashed, trashed and thrashed and yet we are supposed to never be offended, feel betrayed or bleed over the stab-wounds and knife twisting. However, it should be known right here and right now that when my brother/sister is attacked—I have been attacked and the whole must be considered instead of the bits and pieces of malcontent frustrations. It will be a bit longer before I confront the more recent insults and aspersions of a personal kind; this kitchen is always hot so we have no real "other" choices of whereat we might serve.

GOOD NEWS CHURNING

The reason for this particular message is to share a bit of, PERHAPS, the best news we have had since we started this task in the '80s. At least it seems at least one other genuine person holds out a hand and says, hey, I can help. It really is: "WE can help." That indicates more than one.

This one claims to have known about much of this for at least the last three years, has some "goods" on the Central Bankers, a very, very large following of a well respected group here, asked for an audience, came almost on time and he and EJ got on so well it is almost frightening. Maybe he is only one of those "investigators" from Interpol or something—but it was refreshing, beautiful and he certainly UNDERSTOOD THE PROGRAM AND HOW TO GET IT DONE.

In addition, because of other very respectable reasons he also travels around to all these Southeastern Asian countries and can be an incredible help because he personally knows the right people to move the thing off its dime.

Moreover, he has personally SEEN the gold (TALA) in that Central Bank and says it is already marked (processed) and could be moved immediately without further processing into a bullion bank or, actually, anywhere.

Now that we have finally finished the Notices, the qualifications, and the incredible teeth pulling on Philippine TIME, perhaps we can get something accomplished.

Since the person of yesterday, (I will call him RO for initials and privacy for now) came via a TALA Board Member, we know that there is good news buried in here somewhere.

PUBLIC NOTICE

GLOBAL ALLIANCE INVESTMENT ASSOCIATION

This notice will be construed as a continuation of compliance with provisions necessary to establish presumed fact (Rule 301, Federal Rules of Civil Procedure*, and attending State rules). If all interested parties fail to rebut any given allegation or matter of law addressed herein, the position will be construed as adequate to requirements of judicial notice, thus preserving fundamental law. A true and correct copy of this Public Notice is on file with and available for inspection at the newspaper* CONTACT (P.O. Box 27800 Las Vegas, NV 89126, USA) which is responsible for publishing the instrument as a legal notice. In the Republic of the Philippines, comments and objections may be filed in writing by addressing Global Alliance Investment Association at 6751 Ayala Avenue, Makati City, Philippines. Others may be addressed to Global Alliance Investment Association, 5344 Images Court, Las Vegas, Nevada, 89107 USA.

This document is to notify interested parties of the intent of GLOBAL ALLIANCE INVESTMENT ASSOCIATION (GAIA) to immediately begin the collection on its lien against the gold and gold-derived assets of the Royal Family/Tagean-Tallano Estate, now identified as assets of the DON ESTEBAN BENITEZ TALLANO & DON GREGORIO MADRIGAL ACOP FOUNDATION, INC. (FDN) by virtue of compliance with the Order of the Court (Judge Agana, Clarificatory Decision of January 19, 1976) and the FOURTH ALIAS WRIT OF EXECUTION, POSSESSION AND DEMOLITION ordered by Judge Sofronio C. Sayo of the Regional Trial Court in Pasay City on MARCH 7, 1995. The pertinent paragraphs of the latter (the case is properly captioned LRC/CIVIL CASE NO. 3957-P) are next quoted:

> 7) Ordering also the Sheriffs to collect/withdraw/confiscate all Gold Bullion including its cash deposits which are in the account of the late President Ferdinand E. Marcos, who was a lawyer for the clan, and either presently deposited in Central Bank, any Philippine bank here in the country or any foreign bank outside the country, including the account of the then Reverend Jose Antonio Diaz or Col. Severino Garcia Sta. Romana, while all deposits either gold or currency found deposited in the account of Dr. Alejo Rizal Lopez has been re-conveyed to and in favor of the Tallano Estate, so the same, should be recovered in favor of the Tallano clan;
> 8) Ordering the Sheriff to deputize the NBI, PNP, and Philippine Army to assist the recovery assigned.
> 9) This FOURTH ALIAS WRIT OF EXECUTION, POSSESSION AND DEMOLITION has imprescriptibility [cannot be taken away] clause until the said P3 Billion pesos including its interest has been fully collected and until the reconstituted copies of the subject land titles has been issued accordingly in favor of the Tallano clan, in as much as both Department of Justice and the Land Registration Administration has no objection over the issuance of the Reconstituted owner's original and duplicate copies of Oct No. T-01-4, TCT No. T-408 and TCT No. T-498, Annex A, and remain enforceable until it has been fully complied with.

HON. SOFRONIO C. SAYO
Presiding Judge

EJ's sister, Tissey (that many of you will remember), had a joke that I can't remember well but was digging through piles of horse-stuff in the corral. Someone finally asked what was happening and why such nasty work was so eagerly engaged. The response was: "With all this horse-sh__ around there must be a pony in here somewhere!" We just keep on digging!

We really don't have time for extra breathing but at least the pony keeps showing a bit of itself. It just needs so much brushing, washing, shoeing, clipping, etc., as to be a bit staggering as in, "Oh God, what do we do now that we have a rope on his neck?" That, of course, leads to another "kid" joke. This one is about the little boy who watched his big brother taking his girlfriend around behind the barn where all manner of giggling and laughter was heard. He noted that his brother always came out with a big smile on his face while the couple was all kissy-poo.

After watching this take place many times the boy finally got up nerve, asked a girl to go with him around the barn—and surely enough she did. So they went around behind the barn and sat down and waited. Nothing happened. The little boy finally said: "Oh Dod, oh Dod, what I do now?"

So, we wait for the new people to catch up on the facts and our projects outlined as to use, agreements, requirements, etc., and then, according to RO—go for it in a big, big way. Actually, in far bigger a start-up way than we think logically operative is the way they would like to "begin". EJ explained that we DO IT RIGHT, cover all bases, get a transaction of smaller amount DONE and a "conduit" established.

Next will probably be a meeting with the Bullion Bank "persons", check out the vault access, and then push on the Judge with the "orders". RO is an American and I prefer to not say much more about him until we have better perspective but so far he "adds up" and that in itself is "different".

EJ did, however, get a Gold Sales Contract ready and we can, now that we have a good idea the gold is actually still in the vault, move the price of gold up to $500/oz. for our "plan" in establishing stability and yes, corner the sales market. Few seem to even realize that we got it up to $401.50/oz while not a single ounce ran through our accounts or noticed that we can now up the ante in our program. ("There is a pony in here somewhere!") We even now have a way to use that gold anywhere around as our other people have shipping permits and the banks are interested now that we have qualifications up the gazoo.

I don't really care, friends, this moment of insanity FEELS GOOD for a change of recent pace. As Cmdr. says: "Now, make it so!"

All we really dare say is: IT SURE LOOKS GOOD FROM THIS CHAIR.

This action is taken on the advice of counsel pursuant to the following facts:

The debt of Bolivia, Chili, and Peru were assumed by the United States of America pursuant to an act of Congress in 1906. Among that debt was an unredeemed bearer gold certificate (bearer bond) #3392, issued and sold in New York City in 1875. The outstanding debt of the USA was guaranteed by the PRIVATE Federal Reserve System pursuant to the Federal Reserve Act of 1913, which of course included #3392. The bond became the property of Russell Herman, an associate of George H.W. Bush, in the late 1970s and, in the 1980s is alleged to have been used by Bush and Herman, being referred to as the "SuperFund". Because of that use, it cannot be repudiated. It was also associated with the Ferdinand Marcos/Ronald Reagan "ABL" program devised to reestablish a worldwide gold-based currency. Because it is payable in gold and is guaranteed by the FED and the owners of the FED, the International Banks, any and all gold held by any of those entities is subject to this lien.

Pursuant to the rules governing Public Notices under the Uniform Commercial Code of the USA and most other nations, this notice will be published in three consecutive issues of a newspaper of wide circulation. Copies of this Notice will be available at any of the three addresses provided above.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, the undersigned have executed and sealed this authorization as of the date hereof.

For the Corporation, dated at Makati, Manila, the Philippines, this 17th day of December 2003.

CONTACT, THE PAPER

We can't see how things will work through on that front. We have to continue to close down everything while hopefully being able to store some of the books. That will remain to be seen.

The December 3rd paper is a miracle in print for I certainly did not see how we could get from "there" to "there" and we really needed the information.

As much as anything here we have to have the information about Notices and contracts and boy, did we get a picture of how the nasty-brats work. This very week, our friend sent over an extra copy of one of the old but small papers here in Manila—nothing big, just had an extra copy. It is called MALAY, small and not much audience.

I was thumbing through and with "Notices" on my mind, by golly, there was an interesting notice—from the President herself.

It was worse than that in that it was a Public Notice about a new Executive Order to become law in 15 days from the date of Notice. It covered LAW that would prevent the Internal Revenue Service from releasing ANY information on any "public official" in office or otherwise (after or before the fact).

That comes as a protect-her-ass, literally and PERSONALLY. They have found plunder and graft to the ears and Bank Privacy along with the mal-practice by the Supreme Court—has protected THE GUILTY through the Money Laundering—Bank Secrecy laws (still in place in the Philippines). The ONLY way left to nail the criminals is through those tampered Tax records. Well, the gasoline is afire and what will be done remains to unfold. THOSE PUBLIC NOTICES ARE WORTH PURE GOLD and cannot be denied. Just slip that Notice (EO) through and it's all over, readers, and set forth in law and they only had to use this little off-the-wall publication, but which qualified, to get it shoved past the notice of the people AND THE CONGRESS! This was not even a large notice—just small print in legal format, perfectly presented within all guidelines and, after entering into the registry, it is DONE.

If we do not learn—we are destined to repeat error after error.

Now, the next important one focus:

CONTRACTS.

In spite of everything presented by the unlawful LAW practices, Contracts are still the WORKING PAPERS—along with COURT ORDERS RES JUDICATA. So, thank you Ron for giving us the "physical" confirmation for this is like walking through eggshell covered glass shards with bare feet. And by the way, those "contracts" most especially are represented by documentation-registration as INCORPORATION. We have certainly learned to never leave home without one even if Russbachers cost us our American Express card. Lessons? Indeed-indeed. Fools? Perhaps.

That reminds me of another speaking: A man says to his friend: "Boy, God must like fools for he made so many of them!"

Me: "No, God made everyone to be perfect—Man and Satan turned us/them into fools."

The sunshine can't really make its way to the ground here today—but somehow the blast of light is worthy of attention. It's a good day to be alive and yes we thank God for allowing us this experience of all space and time. If we deliver, properly, the "pony's" head, the rest is sure to follow for it's in here somewhere.

ANNUAL UPDATE

RE: STOP, LOOK, LISTEN AND TAKE STOCK—THEN GET OUT THE CHAMPAGNE INSTEAD OF THE ARSENIC, PLEASE—DJE

"FIRST, STOP THE BLEEDING"

The first lesson in First Aid and to Medical/Nursing students is to LOOK at the patient and see if a problem is "evident". Then if there is a hemorrhage—STOP IT. Then next, if you have severe pain that endangers the very life of the patient—ease it—depending on circumstances, i.e., a shattered leg is evidence that the problem is likely NOT a death presenting brain problem; if the leg was the singular point of the overall problem presenting.

It is far more difficult in LIFE, friends, as we look to "our" problems and potential solutions and find hemorrhaging from infinite sites and for all varying kinds of causes. The brain cries out: "Enough already"! And then, a miracle of sorts happens and you note that by plugging those holes and stopping one point of bleeding after another—the patient is likely to be saved—if more shooting or new hemorrhage points are at the least, limited.

When the patient is yourself, it becomes a bit more difficult to be objective and therefore, assessment of circumstances is advisable.

Being in Manila for over five years WITHOUT ANY MEDICAL HELP AT ALL, we find the bleeding frustrating but not unmanageable. Overall, the painful sites are being overwhelmed by the progress made until you end up, still bloodied, bleeding and unable to stop all of the pain—BUT, THE GAME IS WON: TECHNICALLY! Moreover, we find that it "just happened this way" and certainly not one economic handover has been accomplished—but the legal bandages are ON and starting to "hold". Damn the lousy tape on the market.

The soul says: "Let go that which is past and passing; hold to that which moves us forward—BUT DO NOT FORGET A SINGLE DETAIL LEST YOU ARE CAUGHT IN YOUR OWN FOOLISHNESS."

EJ, being far more practical than I, says "OK, if the dump is here and we are 'it' then we will accept it, solve the instant problems as we can, gain control if possible—and keep right on 'going for it'."

So, friends (and enemies), when you see our names affixed to almost everything that passes this way please know that we are meeting the responsibility while praying for the guidance (which always comes abundantly) for both protection and resolution of the myriad of impacts. ALL that we can do is the best we can, plead for help, and then work with that which IS.

I am not going to move off into the maze of perceptions, misperceptions, misrepresentations, observations, accusations and attempts at destroying us inch-by-inch and project-by-project. THAT is past—we are in the here and now and in taking stock of that which we have accomplished, MIRACLE is the only term properly available. Moreover, to be able to get to "here"—YOU are the backbone of this miracle for we would have long been buried were it not for a few of you with the same commitment and vision while holding this astounding gift FROM GOD.

WE LAUGH AS WE WONDER WHAT IS LEFT TO COME

We have to "laugh" because alternatives are so limited and limiting.

We did NOT go searching or seizing amazing assets or holdings from anyone. However, if we look at FACTS unfolded and now proven as even by one who claims to be a widow (but of course, is NOT), we find proof all over the globe of the THE HOLDING and that which has been placed into our hands is now whole and proven. We hold the assignments, the program, the corporations which originally held the asset(s) and, without tampering or fiddling, it now is representative of the WHOLE. And THAT is only the portion of the overall massive PROJECT-PROGRAM in our basket of possibilities.

In every instance we went forth to SHELTER and facilitate our partners, friends, and others who had bogged for years and years in the mire of ignorance and/or greed and usurpation. We also recognize that had ANYTHING been different in our lives we would not have been anywhere around this prize of prizes.

Russell Herman, for instance, came TO US because of our relationship to our purpose and recognized the conduit as CONTACT even prior to its name change. It was through this very work that we continue to present daily from these keyboards and sharing in now nearly two decades of publication that we are HERE. Moreover, past and present, we have not missed more than three consecutive publication runs even when the whole name had to be changed out to recover it from thieves. Only the reasons for the attempts at theft are "different".

Obviously, having lost everything of a personal nature, we will finish this job, get funds available and SECURE the paper itself—professionally. THAT insures that personalities are well compensated but have no need for impact on the property or some claim to fame or fortune. When you have NOTHING available, wishes are as useless as wind against a locked-down windmill.

We most certainly can see that we can endure for the publishing of these mandatory notices of our own circumstances in the Philippines. In fact we are hitting it hard NOW so that even if a bit abrupt in some instances, we HAVE TO FISH WHILE THE FISH ARE AVAILABLE, for bait cutting is useless if the fish are GONE. We certainly cannot pay for the full coverage we can gain in CONTACT that is necessary here while keeping our interests sheltered in the U.S. from whence come the "Bonus" assets—WHILE PROTECTING THE U.S. ITSELF. (I doubt you heard that fact from VK Durham.) Well, I am NOT going to remind anyone of anything and start the cannons firing again for it remains a weekly ongoing attack here, from her clan, as is.

WE HAVE IT SHELTERED, SECURED, INCORPORATED, PROVEN AND TESTED WHILE EVERYTHING IS PROPERLY NOTICED, RECORDED AND AVAILABLE TO ANYONE WISHING TO LOOK. WE HAVE HIDDEN NOTHING AND PRESENTED BOTH SIDES TO THE VERY BEST OF OUR ABILITY WITH DOCUMENTS, REGISTRATIONS, LEGAL FILINGS AND YOU NAME IT—WE HAVE TRIED TO SECURE EVERYTHING WE TOUCHED.

OK for the Herman (our GAIA) program and what we all recognize and have fully documented, printed and openly shared, but what about that "Tallano" stuff in the Philippines with all the claims and assets supposed to be available? We don't know about ALL of it—but we have done due diligence up the gazoo and FOUND that court orders for the last quarter of a century are still VALID TODAY and the cause of those assets go all the way BACK for CENTURIES. We certainly didn't pick a number while waiting for the lottery to pay off in our "luxurious life-style" party-play.

WHEN THE STUDENT IS READY————!

We often wonder where God is when all these myriad of things fall on us or over us and the liars and cheats overwhelm the scene in EVERYTHING. We find Him right here or there giving instructions above the din and cacophony of thousands of drumbeats.

Can I example this point? Indeed, in many instances but that takes volumes of pages already shared and not worthy of pointed responses.

We had met many hundreds of "would-be" PROMISING parties and along came some wanting to know if we could join with the "Tallano" circumstance. Never having heard of such a thing or party we looked at the situation and said certainly we could—if their documents were true and accurate. The odyssey was underway! [June 2002]

Enough documents from court records were presented so that we could SEE for ourselves that there was SOMETHING interesting afoot and yes, we could possibly assist, BUT, would have to get CERTIFIED records and documents, court orders, etc.

Somewhere in here the "Prince" came and we established, with legal counsel all around, the Letter of Intent which we all have appreciated over and over again. We were told to get it done, get it signed and get it published as a Public Notice IMMEDIATELY.

Shortly after we did that, we were asked to form a Nevada "Foundation" which would have a close enough title/name to be acceptable to the Regional Trial Court. Not yet having the correct name (since no one seemed to know it), we called it the Foundation for the Tallano Estate and it was officially formed July 17, 2002. Of course the group here (Tallano) wanted that corporation in about the worst way possible which immediately opened our eyes wider than usual and we took a long, hard look. Since we had not yet received the new "records" we declined to even discuss it because we knew that the real Foundation would have to be established in the Philippines as well before the court would hand over zillions of pesos or dollars to anyone. The plot got thicker than pea soup almost instantly.

There was a Temporary Restraining Order holding up the turnover of the case for collection was lifted on June 6—so our documents, dated June 7, were clean. THEN, after the date of qualifying our corporation—for goodness sakes—the Solicitor General (SG) (= Attorney General) managed to convert the TRO to a Temporary Injunction on June 25. That remains in place. However, the ruling or injunction has no impact on our agreements for we are not into land titles and solving the problems of the real estate world for the Philippines. It doesn't matter, though, for everyone is terrified of the "non-judicial" system that rules by King—without the King [except you all know King Davide by now]. So be it. We got the documents TIMELY, the agreements in place and a useable FOUNDATION incorporated in the only window open. All the while it was with pushing and shoving from our teacher of DO IT NOW, DO IT TODAY—"COUNFOUND IT, GET IT DONE AND RECORDED!"

Our instant ACTION proved the "intent" and thus the agreement was then in place. We got the records of the Foundation from Nevada and still hold them. A similar entity was registered by the Prince for his personal part of the "estate" a year or so earlier. This is good for future information, knowledge and our own protection for use.

We then dove off headlong into due diligence and EVERYTHING we found backed the picture even more ably than any of the tales and lies regarding same. The biggest and the most interesting FOR OUR JOINT USE, of course, is the gold which BELONGS to the "now" Foundation—fully formed in both the U.S. and in the Philippines—exactly according to court orders—the DON ESTEBAN BENITEZ TALLANO & DON GREGORIO MADRIGAL ACOP FOUNDATION, INC.

The only question about the gold, for instance, in the Central Bank is HOW MUCH? For it is now presented that the Marcos and Sta. Romano shares SHOULD ALSO BE THERE (but we know they are not) and that those sums (gold) and money are also alleged to be assets of the Foundation. That would bring the amount of gold in question from the basic 400,000 metric tons KNOWN to supposedly be there—to up around 700,000 metric tons SUPPOSED to be there.

CHANGE OF VIEW AND A LOOK AT TALLANO

OK, we do all the work and everyone starts trying to gain advantage. There was even an attempt to extort a million pesos if we wanted to establish that "ordered foundation" with proper names affixed.

Holy cows, friends, the herd scattered and some actually came home to ask the head Cowboy what to do now?

Head Cowboy said, "TODAY, GET THE PROPERLY NAMED FOUNDATION SET FORTH AND QUALIFIED IN NEVADA." Ron, as agent did it "that day". It, however, needed to be concluded and qualified by the end of July (well "by" the first of August) and by heavy breathing and a day in the life of "one day ahead"—the qualification was put to record and the registration is on the website of the Secretary Of State, Nevada. How does July 29th hit your heartstrings and blood pressure? Well, ours was off the chart! Moreover, the SOS failed to ship out the documents timely and a few other things happened about registration/recording but we were established and CLEAR in all legal categories.

We set forth that U.S. Foundation/Corporation as the other half of the Philippine Foundation to legally cover all of our activities in this joint venture having grown exponentially in the processing and uncovering of information in documented form.

We didn't let up a minute while the group here in Manila promised, begged more alms, fees and funds—still along with that demand for a million pesos directly to "Sir Prince King". No! We said—period and end of debate.

Then, the "Prince King" made a mistake: He actually said that the LOI was not the same thing as a CONTRACT and yap, yap, yap with the heavy screws. And, we got busy. We got very busy in fact and made sure that all "Intents" were converted by documentation and activities—into legally respected "contracts".

The games went on and promised meetings were missed without even so much as a courteous message to the ones involved. Well, we weren't involved so we were left being only irritated over the laziness of these people as a whole.

But we had to have the Foundation or nothing was ever going to happen. So, Dad said, do it "this way" and do it NOW—TODAY.

The time had zipped along and a month and a half had elapsed and NOTHING but arguments and attempts at robbery continued with, again, missed meetings and missing persons, funerals and hospital excuses. Again, many people died "again" and "again". We quit listening to the BS at every opportunity. We even got more rude than the opposition when some of the "Sultan's" (you know, that "really real" Sultan) group actually took the liberty of making us their partner (without permission or signatures on documents) and scattered it all over the halls of government (the palace included) and were planning to use the Tallano gold to back their Sultanate. Even the Sultan, himself, for an all expense paid vacation to a major hotel in Makati would condescend to meet with us. Our expense, of course, in spite of the fact that we had already said we wouldn't meet with him/them. They still call every week trying another equally absurd approach.

We are not into Sultans, Princes, Kings or riff-raff for that matter. We work with documented, valid proof of circumstances out of their court of law "res judicata".

When ALL attempts of the Prince failed to gain our attention or payoff, and being unable to get our Nevada Corporation, it was decided that a group, including us, would go forth and "found our own". Oh fine! It would require a few dollars (pesos) and five Directors. There were three available but none of them would foot the bill for the qualification process. Now, remember, the Prince was 27 YEARS in contempt of court for doing all sorts of things but NOT forming that Foundation was the major contempt.

In the Philippines, to do business, or set up a corporation or Foundation with foreign participation it requires that three of the five Directors or "founders" must be Filipino. Fine, we didn't want another problem anyway. But yes, we would be glad, in fact pretty much demanding (if we put up the funds), to serve two of those Director's slots.

We don't actually know all the regulations but it is known that shares are NOT issued in a "Foundation" so, at the most, the "positions" are the "grab the power" and not shares of the entity. This is much like the corporation allowance of not issuing stock in Nevada. The "owner" is not particularly at issue one way or another—but of course whoever pays for the registration and fees and holds the original qualifying documents—has control in the long run.

So, we looked over the situation all the while "DAD" was saying—"do it today" and we puzzled over what "it" could be until the lights went on—ta-da! The next step was to have the ones involved go forth and get all the papers necessary and yes, we would help them with fees which would be returned to us immediately upon start-up of the entity.

It got really interesting then in that somehow only the basic three working Trustees were ever available at any given time. This meant that, for instance, the Prince would promise to show up even at the registration office—but didn't. Then one other, the "Attorney-in-Fact" who, like VK is IN-FACT-NO-ATTORNEY, would show up hours and hours late after a quorum no longer was present.

We bit the bullet—put our names right smack on that list along with identifying thumbprints and actually sent the documents to the SEC. Ah but, wow, you never saw anything happen so fast in all your days. The very night the papers were finished, the fees in hand and the guys ready to go forth and finish the incorporating the next morning—EVERYBODY missing suddenly surfaced and they, by golly, wanted on that list.

Back to Ekkers, who said we had not wanted on the list and for them to work it out. Therefore, with pen and prints in hand the Prince and his "In fact" got the top slots on the list and we removed ourselves.

It has only gotten more difficult for those five Filipinos to work out even a coffee break—but it is never far from God's gift of wisdom to be able to work out of the pit. We find it utterly amazing that anything gets accomplished and yet we are now able to see the benefits in the absurd circumstances presented.

We have the MOA not only signed by three working Board members but have now published it as a Public Notice. Weep, whine and wail means nothing. Moreover, because we insisted upon holding the ORIGINAL of the SEC registration, the nervousness of the Prince makes it clear that we "own" the Foundation more than he does.

Certainly we have every right to claim the 40% "ownership" allowed to foreigners, so we hold both the Foundation in the U.S. AND THE ONE HERE IN MANILA. We fully intend to Notice this and move smartly along with clarification with "de Judge". Mr. Struck was to take the more recent backup documents to that Judge TODAY.

What does all this mean? I suppose it at least means we have a pulley on "that pony" and we are winching him out of the pony poop as fast as we dare without pulling his head off and preferably without leaving us with only the "ass-end".

What do we EXPECT on any given day? NOTHING, and in that position we can somehow make it through the disappointments most apt to come.

We have learned to accept what comes but the hits from home are still the most difficult to face, even when we know we have to allow choices and just keep right on going or lose the ship now waiting to make port.

We can only share with you what we KNOW and witness. Promises are not for us to make or offer. This place is a political nightmare which is becoming all the more grotesque because of the proximity to the HOLY Season.

One nice thing we can say about the Philippines, however; they surely do know how to decorate for Christmas. Virtually all of Makati is just beautiful.

I labeled this "Annual Update" but EJ says I am being too optimistic and might even get another writing in this year. We got the papers from home this evening and Ron has done a superb job with it. Some of those documents mentioned above are now in your hands and Valerie sent us plenty to send around to all of those who need them here. Our cup runneth over with happiness today so we will say, "Happy Trails".

GLOBAL ALLIANCE INVESTMENT ASSOCIATION

This notice will be construed as a continuation of compliance with provisions necessary to establish presumed fact (Rule 301, Federal Rules of Civil Procedure*, and attending State rules). If all interested parties fail to rebut any given allegation or matter of law addressed herein, the position will be construed as adequate to requirements of judicial notice, thus preserving fundamental law. A true and correct copy of this Public Notice is on file with and available for inspection at the newspaper* CONTACT (P.O. Box 27800 Las Vegas, NV 89126, USA) which is responsible for publishing the instrument as a legal notice. In the Republic of the Philippines, comments and objections may be filed in writing by addressing Global Alliance Investment Association at 6751 Ayala Avenue, Makati City, Metro Manila, Philippines. Others may be addressed to Global Alliance Investment Association, 5344 Images Court, Las Vegas, Nevada, 89107 USA.

This Public Notice is to notify interested parties of the intent of GLOBAL ALLIANCE INVESTMENT ASSOCIATION (GAIA) to immediately take control of its assets within the Republic of the Philippines, including its statutory forty percent (40%) of the DON ESTEBAN BENITEZ TALLANO & DON GREGORIO MADRIGAL ACOP FOUNDATION, INC. (FDN).

This action is taken on the advice of counsel pursuant to the following facts:

1. All of the expenses incident to the formation of the Foundation were paid by GAIA.

2. The original Registration documents created by the Securities and Exchange Commission remain in the POSSESSION of GAIA.

3. Philippine law allows 40% of the ownership of Philippine foundations to be held by foreign entities.

Pursuant to the rules governing Public Notices under the Uniform Commercial Code of the USA and most other nations, this notice will be published in three consecutive issues of a newspaper of wide circulation. Copies of this Notice will be available at any of the three addresses provided above.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, the undersigned have executed and sealed this authorization as of the date hereof.

For the Corporation, dated at Makati, Manila, the Philippines, this 17th day of December 2003.

SYNOPSIS OF GEORGE MERCIER'S INVISIBLE CONTRACTS

PART TWO OF A TWELVE-PART SERIES (Pages 89-130)

By Ron Kirzinger

WARNING: WHAT YOU ARE ABOUT TO READ IS HAZARDOUS MATERIAL. PLEASE DO NOT ACT ON THIS INFORMATION WITHOUT ACCEPTING FULL RESPONSIBILITY FOR YOUR OWN ACTIONS.

TOWARD PERSONAL SOVEREIGNTY

At this point it seems necessary to address a common refrain arising from those who seem resigned to endure their enslavement under the artifice of statutory law, which could be summed up like this: "Any and all efforts at personal sovereignty are doomed to failure because you may be right in terms of lawfulness but end up 'dead right' in terms of legality." While many have apparently ended up "dead right" (but were they right?), the preceding conclusion that there is no way out does not sit right.

I do not believe that God leaves us no way out of our enslavement. Yes, many have tried and to my knowledge no one (other than possibly Mercier himself and any other very low-profile individuals who actually understood what he wrote and put it into practice in toto) has yet succeeded in restoring personal sovereignty—but it MUST BE POSSIBLE. How are we to "get there" unless we use our critical reasoning to explore the possibilities?

Thus, this presentation is an exploration of the potential for recovering sovereignty at the level of the individual, which is surely a worthy and desirable objective. Without personal sovereignty, "resistance is futile" and in due course we would probably have to endure the increasingly comprehensive implementation and enforcement of Talmudic Law. Remember, Noahide Law as revered in Public Law 102-14 (1991) prescribes the penalty of decapitation for any gentile in breach of the law. Different laws and rules of judgment apply to non-gentiles, who are to be the ruling class. Don't know what the Noahide Laws are? "Ignorance is no excuse," so you'd better go look them up if you want to know what's on the agenda.

Operating under the assumption that the status quo shall not be maintained in God's Millennium, we should think in terms of re-establishing correct law. To be correct, man's law must recognize and devolve from the sovereignty of each individual—NOT from the supposed "higher" status of the head of government or King by any other name because ALL ARE ONE AND EACH IS EQUAL.

Common law gave rise to the original Constitution and Bill of Rights owing to the colonists' abhorrence of the King's rule. Starting from Amendment 11, however, each new constitutional amendment has helped to put in place plank after plank of the Communist Manifesto. Now it is obvious that we have come full circle—through abrogation of the personal sovereignty we ought to possess—and once again find ourselves under the heels of the King (by any other name).

A good start to restructuring the legal system would be repudiation of all amendments subsequent to the Bill of Rights, with the possible exception being the original Amendment 13 (which forbade individuals with titles of nobility, such as esquire, from holding public office). Can you imagine the hundreds of thousands of laws that could be set aside? Can you imagine the FREEDOM that would bring?

If a single individual could regain personal sovereignty, that sovereignty is no less than the sovereignty of a KING. The King has bigger guns? Then let's not be so foolish as to fight him with guns—the Sword of Truth is far more powerful.

Could a truly sovereign individual assert his agreement to the original Constitution and Bill of Rights? Why not? Would any legitimate court try to stop such an individual? Really? Do you really think that the Supreme Court wants to be compelled to rule on such fundamental issues when a truly sovereign individual stands before them? As Mercier explains in this chapter:

"…[S]ophisticated attorneys who work for the King know that it is often best to drop a prosecution, sans gene, in a low level Administrative or Trial setting, rather than raise the presentation threshold level of the grievance to senior judicial appellate forums and risk an adverse appellate opinion on appeal that might benefit others, even if unreported."

He restates this position in a footnote, as well:

"Always remember that Gremlins merely take advantage of what is handed to them, and will back off when the knife encounters a bone instead of more flesh; this is a Principle pronounced over and over again in ecclesiastical settings, as Lucifer is identified as a clever adversary specializing in taking prime advantages of weaknesses."

The problem seems to be that no man has dared to assert his personal sovereignty—but the tricksters have had any such efforts INVISIBLY blocked, as George Mercier explains so clearly. If these invisible adhesion contracts can be seen for what they are and properly VOIDED (due to FRAUD), there could be no further (legal) obstruction of the sovereign on his way to the Supreme Court short of settlement of the issues at lower levels of the judiciary.

Did George Mercier present us with "the" (only necessary) key to personal sovereignty? Is this knowledge "a" key (one of multiple necessary keys)? That is for each to decide based on personal discernment, in the light of full personal responsibility, as the warning in the header of each installment in this series clearly states.

Moving along with the synopsis of the "letter" to Mr. May, this chapter addresses the issue of how the interference of an outside party does not alter the terms of a contract.

[QUOTING:]

THIRD PARTY INTERFERENCE WITH A CONTRACT

In a Contract Law Judgment setting, questions sounding in the Tort of unfairness regarding the interference of a person not a party to a contract in causing a person who is a party to a contract not to honor his contract [are] irrelevant, as I will explain later on; and so when cries of unfairness wallow up at the Judgment Day, as claims of unfairness will be heard in having had Lucifer's low key assistants hacking away at us down here, those cries will then be in vain, as the unfairness in Contract Law of outside interference in contract administration is irrelevant in measuring contract performance itself. For example, the fact that an Employer terminated your livelihood, and you subsequently experienced a cessation of money coming in, and so that now you are unable to pay your apartment lease payments, is irrelevant in a Tenant Eviction Proceeding. Either you have paid your rent as the Lease Contract calls for, or you haven't. Even though the secondary effect of your livelihood being terminated directly restrained you from honoring your Lease Contract due to a lack of money, your Employer is not a party to that apartment Lease Contract, so what your Employer did or did not do is not relevant in a leasehold Eviction Proceeding. That is Contract Law Jurisprudence; it's cold, mean, and it isn't really very "fair"—so now addressing that face on, we should start to negotiate our personal business contracts on terms we can live with, rather than snicker at Judges when we are in default later on. Remember the reason why "fairness" is not relevant in a contract grievance: because if judges allowed "fairness," so called, to enter into one side of the grievance and benefit one party, the effect of the entrance of such "fairness" into the evidentiary setting presented to the Judge for a ruling, will always work a Tort on the other party. What is the correct solution? Ignore all claims for "fairness" and just enforce the contract. Cold, brutal, mean, harsh? Yes—but proper. Rather than snicker at Judges at that late date well after you are in default, you might want to address the origin of your problem: You entered into a contract you could not handle under a worst case scenario (worst case meaning loss of livelihood).

And those are the kinds of very narrow and precise lines that we need to think in, in understanding Contract Law. You may very well have legitimate mitigating circumstances to justify why you could not honor a contract—but it is an Election of Remedies for the Party that you are in default to, to decide what he intends to do with you, and it is not anything for an enforcement judge to take notice of.

[END QUOTING]

Throughout this chapter Mercier makes numerous references to our contracts with our Heavenly Father. His general argument is that Tort Law reasoning is inapplicable in relations with God and that only each individual's specific contract is relevant. Natural Law is unbending and constant.

This makes some sense, since transgression of Natural Law leads to painful lessons, as we all can attest. These are natural consequences often viewed as penalties, Nature's "retort" to our "tort" of erroneous behavior, "the wrath of God" or "God's Guidance". On the other hand, when we adhere to our contracts with Creator it is amazing how quickly and easily our troubles are remedied. Watching the mind bogglingly sudden evolvement of the world-changing GAIA Program provides striking proof of this truth.

The Common Law sought to mold itself around the principles of Nature. Under Common Law, a tort occurs in a setting where harm is done and no valid contract governs the egregious conduct. Where a valid contract governs the conduct of the parties, such contracts are adjudicated according to the terms of the agreement, which must be entered into knowingly, willingly and voluntarily.

PURPOSE AND FUNCTION OF CONTRACTS

Whether under the Common Law or under the Law Merchant (UCC, Admiralty Law and the like), a well crafted contract is designed to give advantage to the one offering the contract ("just sign here").

[QUOTING:]

This then is the Grand Key towards understanding why people want contracts out of you: because that contract you gave them gives them the right to deal with you effectively at a later time… In the case of the King, he too wants contracts out of us to accomplish his revenue raising objectives, and then later enforceable against us under threat of incarceration otherwise not permissible absent a Commercial contract… In a contemporary Commercial setting, merchants, lending institutions, landlords, etc. all want recourse contracts out of you so they can deal effectively with you at a later time in Summary Judgment proceedings should there be a default.

Those who want to go forth and fill the measure of their creation, just like Prophets and Patriarchs, need to go out and get some replacement Contracts with Father; the status of a person being a Prophet or Apostle down here does not exalt them or confer upon them any special entitlement, as everyone is exalted by reason of their Covenants with Father, and their status as Prophets are actually an administrative work assignment for them.

You don't need to be a Prophet, or raise people from the dead, or be endowed with Celestial magic to snap your fingers and heal people of cancer, in order to go forth and fill the measure of your creation, but you do need to fulfill difficult Contracts.

Which leads us to the conclusory observation regarding the overall wisdom of ignoring the terms and conditions of contracts we sometimes improvidently get ourselves into: that people who are well seasoned experientially realize that although ignorance may very well be bliss in the dreamy Alice in Wonderland emotional aura it psychologically creates, this line on Contract Law Jurisprudence is exemplary as to why ignorance is also highly self-damaging in the practical setting.

Yes, the benefits inuring to persons entering into and honoring Father's New and Everlasting Covenant are so great that the judgment of folks trying to search for ways to work around it (by either adapting Tort Law reasoning… or by adapting a posture of avoiding responsibility through claims of factual ignorance), really looks pathetic by comparison.

MAKING INVISIBLE CONTRACTS VISIBLE?

And speaking of ignorance (and of staying in ignorance by choice): An interesting secondary element surfaces in the Restraining Order and the chronologically correlative criminal prosecution of Armen Condo. Not only did Armen Condo not honor his contracts with the King, he did not even know of their existence.

This state of affairs of throwing criminal prosecutions against people who do not even know of the evidentiary existence of a contract the King is operating on, has been under consideration and review by the King's Agents in Washington. Staff members in the Treasury Department have been analyzing the possible benefits and consequences to the King if, in the justification of the Income Tax, the IRS were to shift over to a correct presentation of the Law, in the context of proper and natural morality and ethics, based on a voluntary attachment of Equity Jurisdiction, and applicable only to a special class of people. At the present time, the IRS presentation of the Law, in explaining why an Income Tax is to be paid, continuously shifts attention over to the 16th Amendment, and kind of winds up by saying that:

"...well, we collect the tax from every one because the 16th Amendment tells us we need to."

You may be surprised to hear this somewhat pleasant note, but there is internal disagreement within the Treasury Department on the long-term wisdom of such an erroneous presentation of the Law. And both Armen Condo and Irwin Schiff are prime exemplary models to explain this interesting change in viewpoint now in intellectual gestation within the senior administrative rank and file of the King's own tax collectors. In Treasury staff meetings ever since the early 1970s, there has been concern expressed regarding the growing Tax Resistance Movement, so called.

Senior staff members have known about this Movement well in advance, back to the early 1950s, and it was very clear to them at that time in the 1950s what we now are seeing all around us: open and growing resistance and defiance to the assertion of tax collection authority by the King.

Back in the 1950s, statisticians in the Treasury Department, in their long-range (10, 20 and 30 year) revenue/budget projection plots, saw that the combination of both inflation and the percentage progressive Income Tax would, in just a few decades, be pushing just the average worker into highly aggressive tax levels of up to 50%.

In the 1950s, those workers had then been paying just a small percentage. It was known at that time that there would be public concern of the growth from those low taxation rates in practical effect then, to the substantially higher tax rates expected in the future, and that this public concern would grow increasingly with each passing year. And it was expected that the thrust of the public concern that was out in the open, would be of the basic legitimacy of the Income Tax itself, and that such concern would have a strong current under it due to its percentage progressive nature that would accelerate into such noticeable levels when inflation was strong for several years in a row; so much so that even ordinarily blind, disinterested, naive and politically benign people would then perk up and take interest; and even businessmen would start to slough off, rather than give away their hard earned income stream to termites. With the annual increment in Inflation, the public's questioning of the general illegitimacy of the Income Tax would be incremented with each passing year, as it was expected that the public would notice that although greater taxes are being paid, no additional benefits or commensurate services were being experienced or being returned by the King in one year to the next. This illegitimacy angle was expected to be a "center of gravity" in the public's view, since the general public is unaware of the ethical and moral basis of the Excise Income Tax, and of an attachment of Equity Jurisdiction involved (in other words, the King can demand and get anything from 0% to 100% in Equity and be morally correct, because your participation with him in accepting his benefits in Commercial Equity is purely voluntary, and so any amount of gain you acquired in King's Commerce is gain that you would not otherwise have). That attachment of King's Equity Jurisdiction always precedes the liability for the tax. And so it has been expected for some time that the United States would one day experience the most extreme and intolerable levels of income confiscation ever known to Americans: without any reciprocity by the King, without any apparent quid pro quo of incremental increase in benefits to be experienced from one year to the next, and without any justification at all for the annual percentage incrementation in tax extraction. These projection plots were not deemed to be of very high priority at that time back in the 1950s, but the results and findings were circulated among some administrative personnel and they eventually made it over to two Congressional committees. Under the Treasury Department's projection models and plots, it was predicted that open defiance would come some day as such expected aggressive tax levels are simply not bearable by average folks, previously quiescent, who would then start to question the legitimacy of the tax itself.

The catalytic effect of such aggressive tax levels would be the deprivation of the ability of such average folks to provide minimum necessities for themselves, such as housing and food. One of the questions that was hypothetically addressed in the accompanying report is the concern the Treasury had of the general institutionalized acceptance of "Tax Protesting" by the public. Like the widespread flaunting of the assertion of the King's law during Prohibition, a little resistance and a few flare-ups can be managed well in the early stages with some well publicized spankings, but a lot of resistance later on produces Jury Nullification, widespread administrative non-cooperation, secondary disrespect for the Law in general, a growing underground economy, as well as numerous other technical problems. In the present discussions that are now going on in Washington, there is a minority viewpoint being developed that suggests the possibility that it might be worthwhile for the United States to consider exploring the feasibility of heading off the impending blossoming Resistance by preventative means, and one possible way to do that would be by having the IRS justify the tax along ethically specific and morally correct reasons, and on grounds harmonious with Natural Law, involving citing just the Commerce Clause, equity benefits and contracts (bank accounts, direct beneficial interest, adhesion, equity, employment, political, and state Juristic Personalities), and to emphasize that only special individuals in these classes who want these special juristic benefits have any liability at all for the King's Equity participation tax on incomes. Such an officially sanctioned justification would strip away the veil of illegitimacy that now permeates the Income Tax among many people, and would show to all the immoral position of Armen Condo and Irwin Schiff, as those two were caught defiling themselves by dishonoring contracts they had with the King. The consequences of this reversal of IRS public justification would be manifold:

1. First, it would discredit people like Irwin Schiff and Armen Condo, who have propagated legally defective tax related information around the countryside. Appearing on television and selling large numbers of books, these people develop a cult following (if cult is the word) and contribute to the institutionalization of public acceptance of defying the King, and their cult continues to grow even though the information they propagate is misleading and technically defective, and will collapse in front of a Federal Judge;

2. Tax revenues would decrease a bit in the near term as some people shift their Status around to avoid being a Taxpayer;

3. Tax revenues would increase a bit as the immoral and unethical position of Tax Protestors is frowned on, rather than cheered on by courtroom supporters; and the resentment against paying a high percentage tax would cease;

4. The underground economy, so called, would partially disappear, as black markets in any commodity can only exist to escape the forced intervention of Government that creates unnatural pricing. (Bolshevik planners who have reasoned that the underground economy will disappear altogether with their planned cashless society, with all financial transactions reported to the IRS, are in error);

5. Tax revenues would increase in the long run, as most of those folks who suddenly got rid of their bank accounts and other attachments of King's Equity to save money found out that the loss of income, benefits, cutoff from Commerce, deprivation of mortgage and loan availability, and other adverse secondary effects just wasn't worth it. This is now happening on a small scale with some commercially oriented enterprising type Patriots who are re-entering the highways of Commerce and signing up with the King again (but this time under careful circumstances).

6. Near-term revenues would increase as Taxpayers who now view the tax as either wrong, immoral, or illegitimate and then claim excessive deductions would be hesitant to do so when the moral position is shifted around and now it's their failure to pay their full share that is a serious act of self-defilement on their part.

It is the opinion of staff members that although this is an interesting model to consider, its revenue generating strength for the King lies in the correction of wholesale public perception of the King being wrong and working immoral acts on the countryside. Since a majority of Americans still do not perceive of things being this way at the present time, this revenue enhancement and Tax Resistance termination model is best kept on the back shelf, for a while.

The value in this story is the knowledge that the King's Tax Collectors in Washington are not the intellectually lethargic and dim-witted bureaucrats some people make them out to be. They are constantly polling public opinion and testing for factual knowledge, to see what they can get away with. They are brilliant and they know exactly what they are doing at all times. So too, the IRS knows exactly what it is doing, just like the King. And its present policy of justifying the tax based on a phony hybrid composite blend of top-down universal Civil Law and 16th Amendment grounds is in place for just one reason: because at the present time it is to the King's financial advantage to do so, due to baneful public ignorantia juris. (But remember the King propagates this erroneous justification because of the institutionalized political banality of most Americans. Reverse the banality and the King will very likely reverse himself). I have a hunch that the King's reversal will be virtually automatic when the time is right. He closely monitors public opinion, and he is careful in his public pronouncements.

So all factors considered, it is unlikely that the King would not switch public tax justification positions where it is to his own self-enrichment financial advantage to do so.

Just as there is deception and [there are] lies in the conveyance justification being offered to Americans for an unreasonably sized chunk of their wealth, month in and month out, year in and year out without any let up in sight, so too was the Income Tax justified on fraudulent terms by Congressmen who, just like the King's Senior Tax Collectors today, had a pure and perfect picture of their magnum Torts of deception and lies. Yes, if you were to believe Congressmen trying to push the 1913 Income Tax Act through Congress, the world was simply crying out, insisting, and even strongly demanding that they be taxed, fleeced, and thoroughly looted. But if that statement from George Hull is not enough to turn your stomach, then perhaps some other previous statements, emanating from the floor of the Congress in support of the Wilson Tariff Act of 1894 (which contained an Income Tax rider—the Income Tax bill would not pass the Congress by itself), which present a flowery wonderland promised to us all, if only we were just taxed more heavily, just damaged more intensely, and deprived of just more wealth through one more turn of the screws, is just strong enough to make someone choke.

The King's policy of keeping the ratio between the Income Tax bracket and the percentage tax demanded where it is, is because it lies just below the threshold toleration level, although not precisely so. The King's Agents are constantly surveying us folks out here in the countryside to see how many of us are in what tax bracket, so the King can reassess how much more tax confiscation can be extracted from us without an unmanageable revolt.

It is the possible likelihood that this threshold toleration level would be overpassed and broken that concerns certain senior bureaucrats in Washington, who are wise to the practical secondary consequences such a passing of the threshold limit would create. The meaning of this concern is perhaps best understood by the 1979 analogy of the oil pricing decisions made by Saudi Arabia's Oil Minister, Sheik Admed Yamani. The Sheik's adamant refusal to raise Saudi crude oil prices above the $40 per barrel limit in the face of such rare and unusually strong world wide petroleum demand puzzled many observers.

From the viewpoint of some folks, the Sheik was passing up on a golden opportunity to cream in some extra bucks while the oil boom lasted across those several months. To other observers of the passing scene, the Sheik was a friend of the United States, and was just a good, kind, caring, public welfare oriented person who simply had the world's best interests in his heart as he refused to raise prices any higher. But the real reason why Sheik Yamani was trying to keep the oil prices artificially low is the same reason why the Congress has fixed the Income Bracket/Percentage Tax ratios for the Income Tax at their present levels: because raising oil prices to levels above a threshold toleration level then equal to higher priced alcohol would cause the universal shift to alcohol and other non-crude oil based substitutes, and so oil would then not be purchased at all in the future; just like more aggressive Income Tax levels would cause folks to simply abandon taxes altogether, thus leaving the King with nothing from these folks (as I mentioned that some Tax Collectors have been concerned about since the 1950s). And that is the great art of pricing in business: keeping prices competitively high, but just below the threshold level of rejection.

No relationship to cost, no relationship to benefits received, no relationship to hard intrinsic value. Just pricing based on Enscrewment (a similar conclusion reached by others just cited in the footnote, but they use their own proprietary language that removes identification of the moral orientation (for good or evil) in the actors. As for pricing within the interior of shared monopoly cartels—this is why sophisticated pricing strategists know that charging the highest momentary price the market will support is not necessarily the best thing to do for yourself: You may win that battle under unusual circumstances, but loose the long term war for several different secondary reasons. And our King, with his monopoly, is no different in either motivation or strategy. And that concern about likely rejection by ex-Taxpayers is also the same reason why sophisticated attorneys who work for the King know that it is often best to drop a prosecution, sans gene, in a low level Administrative or Trial setting, rather than raise the presentation threshold level of the grievance to senior judicial appellate forums and risk an adverse appellate opinion on appeal that might benefit others, even if unreported.

Like the Sub-Threshold Pricing Enscrewment Model in Commerce, there is also a Sub-Threshold Prosecution Enscrewment Model in effect in the corridors of Government as well, as the Judiciary is used latently by prosecutors in ways to help enrich the King. Incidentally, the Rothschilds and their ideological mentor, Karl Marx, have planned this impending state of affairs since the Paris Communes of the 1800s, but their sub rosa political involvement and quiet intellectual sponsorship required our national consent through acts of own American legislatures, which they got. (So we really did this to ourselves). And so I am only interested in now addressing things as presently fabricated under American Law; and since the King is now collecting Income Taxes exclusively by contract (numerous layers of invisible contracts difficult to see), only the content of the contract is relevant to discuss, when a grievance under the contract later comes up for judicial review and enforcement. And so questions, sounding in the Tort of unfairness, as to just who ultimately sponsored this grand scenario become largely irrelevant, when contracts are in effect. [Why can't the Law of Void Contracts be applied to ensure that such invisible contracts are NOT IN EFFECT? When invisible contracts are not in effect, issues of unfairness are highly relevant.] The facts are that the Income Tax has been around in the United States for a long time. The American colonists had such a tax imposed on them, and there was also one imposed during the Civil War under Abraham Lincoln. But the distinction between those prior belief and transient ad hoc taxing occurrences and the present permanent Income Tax is that our contemporary Income Tax has an underlying political objective as its primary goal: It was originally designed and is now intended to forcibly screw, harm and damage people, first, and then to raise revenue as a wealth transfer instrument, second.

INCOME TAX AS BOLSHEVIK TOOL

Creating damages through such devices as a national Tax on Incomes, as a tool for conquest, is very important to international Bolsheviks, particularly since they thrive in an atmosphere where the true seminal point of beginning of national destruction is obscure and difficult to see; and very few folks see the Income Tax as the great tool of destruction that it is.

For example, the World Bank in Washington will not make a loan to any political jurisdiction in the world, unless that country has enacted a national income tax at rates high enough to satisfy the Bolsheviks. Nations rise and fall on Income Taxes. And here in the United States, the State of New York, under the evil genius of Nelson Rockefeller, enacted the highest corporate and personal income taxes in effect, of any state, during the 1960s and 1970s, driving a large number of businesses and literally millions of people, to emigrate from New York.

Income Taxes have a history of being used to accomplish special objectives which, by their nature, require the creation of some incidental damages, and so Gremlins trying hard to run a country into the ground, need generally look no farther than simply initiating a Taxing grab on Incomes.

Although making life difficult for Individuals is important for Gremlins as a source of damages, creating military engagements and wars can be another such source of damages, and quiet national economic enscrewment still another.

Today, in the United States, law school students are taught the Bolshevik line that Income Taxes are good for the country because of the social engineering that can then be performed with the confiscated money. Having been contaminated with clever lies originating from a devilish source far beyond their minimal factual level of comprehension to understand, and also requiring a level of judgment operating on a repository of knowledge in excess of their limited capacity, some sympathetic little Gremlin lawyers are now trying to twist basic property rights around to have the mere omission of an Income Tax be construed as a Tort on impoverished people, arguing that poor folks now have some type of a social right to your money.

The bottom line is that the Income Tax continues to roll on; opposition is minimal; Tax Protestors are being frowned upon by the general public at large, viewed as cheaters making Government only more expensive for themselves; and so the Income Tax is now accomplishing its Bolshevik political mission in the philosophically divided House of the United States, with flying colors.

SELECTED FOOTNOTES

Throughout George Mercier's "letter" there are numerous footnotes. Owing to the need to present this information in concise form, such footnote references have been removed from the general text. Yet, some of the footnotes make some very interesting points of their own. A sampling of the contents of some of these intriguing footnotes follows:

More on Contracts with Heavenly Father

"There are many people who take the view, seemingly very reasonably that, since they have accepted Jesus Christ into their lives, and since they are just as good and moral as anyone else they know (and a lot more moral than many other people), then it is quite reasonable that they will be going to Heaven. This view is very widespread today, and it is also quite defective. First, the fact that you are just as good and moral as anyone else is irrelevant to Father in our impending Judgment Day to be held under a Contract Law jurisprudential setting. Father has no interest in any relative or collectively weighed anything. You, individually and personally, have either progressed under your Contract, or you haven't; and what some guy down the street does or avoids is not relevant to you and your Contract. The unfairness of possibly being treated worse than someone else in a grievance is a Tort Law argument. Second, the fact that you have accepted Jesus Christ into your life is very significant—but only as a point of beginning, and not as a terminating wrap up to anything. The error made by many Christian folks—that their acceptance of Jesus Christ completes their forward motions on Heavenly matters—is the same error that many other folks make by assigning either a terminating or concluding attribute to the execution of contracts (like walking out of an automobile dealership with a sigh of relief that since you've [signed] the contract and the car is yours, well, that ends the matter; sorry, but that Purchase and Sale Contract only started the matter). Entering into a contract—whether with Heavenly Father or anyone else—is always just a point of beginning, a fact that sharp Gremlins have taken very astute notice of…."

"As a concluding by-line to this digressionary discussion here on Father and Contracts, if you'll but give it a few moments thought and imagination, it is interesting to note that this impending Judgment Day arrangement that Father designed, gives a generous built-in structural edge to those persons who are trying to become the Sons of Eloha, and the procedure itself also creates obstacles for those who have no interest in such a Celestial Objective (as if the operation of the Judgment Day mechanical procedure itself assists in separating embryonic Eloha from their ministrants). So now we need to ask ourselves a question: Does that structural arrangement sound like it comes from someone who knows what he is doing? Yes, it sounds like Father knows exactly what He is doing; and if that is true, then we should listen very carefully to anything Father has to say and would like us to do. And consistent with Father's intentions to give his Sons the edge whenever possible, while exposing them to the same environment and standards as everyone else, comes the following arrangement: that after we enter into Father's Advanced Contracts down here there are some other circumstances we can go through down here to accelerate the Judgment Day to the present time (but that is another Letter). I am only making the comparative point here that the lack of national collective interest on the extreme significance of that Judgment Day accelerant statement replicates the lack of national collective interest on the extreme significance of bank accounts and other high-powered contracts as those Equity instruments define our sub-parity relationship with the King. In both cases, this information is freely floating around the countryside, but one first has to define objectives, ask questions, and then exert efforts in order to get to and then understand answers to questions. (And it is the discipline and serious attitude such a procedure requires which largely explains why there are so few people around who possess such important knowledge; not that there are few knowledgeable persons; that is an inverse indicia to gauge the importance of the knowledge)."

Early Tax Rates Reference

"As recently as the early 1930s, a mere 5% was the maximum graduated federal income tax due, but in time Bolshevik Gremlins changed that, by escalating taxing percentage grabs to enscrewment levels more satisfactory to them. The schedule was, at that time: 1-1/2% on the first $4,000; 3% on the next $4,000; 5% on the balance—Wall Street Journal, February 8, 1929 (Income Tax in a Nutshell), page 4."

In Terrorem* Tax Collection Technique

"'...there is one way by which the Government could avoid almost all resource costs in enforcing the tax code: penalize only a few taxpayers, but with inordinately high fines or other punishments. Given that taxpayers are risk adverse, such a strategy has a minimal resource cost while serving as an effective deterrent to tax evasion.'—Jonathan Skinner and Joel Slemrod in Economic Perspectives on Tax Evasion, 38 National Tax Journal 345, at 346 (September 1985).

"Notice why this in terrorem method of collecting taxes would succeed: Because the Taxpayers are deemed to be milktoast risk adverse persons (meaning that unlike Patriots, Taxpayers would rather pay than put up a good fight)…."

Government Elimination of Currency Competition

"…Later I will talk about the use of guns, literally, by Treasury agents in the 1800s, to seal up a national monopoly on circulating Currency; in the old days, private mints and businesses freely issued out their own circulating coins and script, and so back then there was a real question as to whether or not common folks were involved with what is called Interstate Commerce; but today everyone is automatically 'in' this invisible Interstate Commerce by the use and recirculation of Federal Reserve Notes, because the King once used his guns and bouncers to accomplish by hard physical duress what natural competitive economic attraction and good common sense could not bring about: a tight national Government monopoly on circulating Currency instruments, enforced by penal statutes. Should we be surprised that today, the King's Agents are now trying to twist things around enough so that those same common folks who simply do not want to use the King's money are now colored as being illicit participants in that vile, illegitimate 'Underground Economy'—but in fact the King should be the very last one to talk about what is illicit, vile, tainted, and unsavory."

Aura of Mystique Maintains King's Power

"Gremlins know that folks will go right ahead and improvidently place an aura of mystique about the nominees they sponsor into visible executive positions in Juristic Institutions, such as Presidents and Members of his Cabinet—while the real action (the level where the bureaucracy is interfacing with the public, the level where damages are being created), is taking place at a lower level—an invisible bureaucratic level. And Gremlins are also cognizant of the fact that formal legal restraints, such as those residing in the Constitution, are in fact circumvented, as Mr. Alexander admitted; and third parties the public seems to trust, like the Press, are noted for their acquiescence of mischief through their silence…."

Effect of Prosecutorial Discretion

"Even something as seemingly removed from the fine art of sequestering common public knowledge of taxation by contract away from people, a field of law enforcement seemingly aloof from the high stakes game of tax collection—Federal Anti-Trust Enforcement—is actually swirling in the same vortex of manipulative selective prosecution by use of strategy sessions held by United States Deputy Attorneys General in Washington, as they go about their work trying to make sure that only those cases conforming to a certain profile of criteria within their classification are eventually sent to the Judiciary for cracking, and one of those criteria is trying to identify, before prosecution is initiated, which cases the Government is likely to prevail on during appeal… [reference omitted] …So never assume what the Law is by the mere silence of Judges, as a clever King has selectively withheld cases potentially adverse to his position."

Gremlins' Real Taxation Objectives

"I once had a conversation with a Bolshevik Gremlin who works for the Brookings Institution in Washington. There was an aura permeating the atmosphere around him that was different, as if there was a demon chill in the air. Sensing this introduction to Hell, I almost felt as if I was in Tubingen University in Germany, swirling in the midst of the ghostly political tempest of devilish intrigue that has been going on there since the days of Fredrich Schiller and George Hegel institutionalized the kinky intellectual which that University generates, and which ideological flotsam and doctrinal mischief continues on without abatement down to the present day with Hans Kung and the Green Party. But when this conversation drifted over towards the Income Tax, all of a sudden he sparkled up a bit, and with a devilishly sneaky cackle and a crooked grin that stretched fully from one ear over to the other, this little Bolshevik Gremlin then immediately blurted out his high approval of the Income Tax by saying that '...Oh, we don't want to enrich them too quickly.' He seemed excessively concerned, even fixated, on their objective that the countryside be allowed only minimum subsistence income levels. I really got the message from him, loud and clear, that they deem our deprivation of wealth to be of maximum importance to them and their damages enscrewment objectives."

Why Gremlins Abhor Individuals

"Although the income tax on profits is the true source of economic stagnation, as Gremlins strive to run one civilization into the ground after another—here their modus operandi of deception surfaces again, because when Gremlins and their intelligentsia imps try to explain away the true source of a long term declension in national economic prosperity, they will invariably turn around and point attention over to their irritant: individuals:" [QUOTING from "Imp" Carroll Quigley in Tragedy and Hope, at page 497 (MacMillian Company, New York (1966)):]

"The nineteenth century had accepted as one of its basic faiths the theory of 'the harmony of interests.' This held that what was good for the individual was good for the society as a whole and that the general advancement of society could be achieved best if individuals were left free to seek their own individual advantages. This harmony was assumed to exist between one individual and another, between the individual and the group, and between the short run and the long run. In the nineteenth century, such a theory was perfectly tenable, but in the twentieth century it could only be accepted with considerable modification (that's right—remember, folks, this is the modern era, and you just don't need to concern yourself with the past). As a result of persons seeking their individual advantages, the economic organization of society was so modified that the actions of one such person were very likely to injure his fellows, the society as a whole, and his own long-range advantage (just somehow). This situation led to such a conflict between theory and practice, between aims and accomplishments, between individuals and groups, that a return to fundamentals in economics became necessary (meaning total top-down Gremlin control of the economy)." [END QUOTING]

"Notice what really irritates Gremlins and the imps they hire: individuals, and everything else Noble and Great their impending Celestial Status represents. Here we have a sponsored Professor Carroll Quigley, trying to pass himself off as a history professor, and while using an opportunity to come down on free competitive enterprise, he starts throwing invectives interstitially at those annoying individuals. And Individuals, exercising their own judgment, managing their own affairs, and trying to be responsible for themselves as the embryo Elohim that they are, have long been a recurring source of irritation to Gremlins…." [QUOTING from William R. Bradford in Conference Reports, at 53 (October, 1979):]

"The most basic, fundamental Principle of truth, that upon which the entire plan of God is founded, is free agency. As an Individual, you have the right to govern yourself. It is divinely given to you to think and act as you wish. It is your decision.

"It must be pointed out, however, that although you have the free agency to choose for yourself, you do not have the right to choose what will be the result of your decision. The results of what you think and do are governed by law. Good returns good. Evil returns evil (throughout this Letter, I will cite examples on how the violation of Principles will always generate latent secondary adverse circumstances out in the future, with the seminal point of origin of those secondary adverse circumstances being latent (invisible) and difficult to see). You govern yourself by subjecting yourself to the discipline of the law. If you are obedient to God's law, you remain free. You progress and are perfected. If you are disobedient to God's law, you bind yourself to that which restricts your progress. You become defiled and unworthy to be an associate with those who are more clean and pure." Update From An Old Friend

After a five-year hiatus we are pleased to welcome back an old friend, hard-hitting correspondent Tomeros Korton, and share his observations of current world events.

12/12/03—#1 (17-118)
TUE., DEC. 2, 2003 11:37 A.M. YR 17, DAY 118

COMMANDER TOMEROS KORTON

Good morning, Commander Tomeros Korton present in Light and Radiance in Service to God Aton of The Holy Lighted Source. Each new day must be greeted with reverence and appreciation for there are many who would gladly take your place upon this three-dimensional experience. It is the remembering of what you have been given as a gift from The Creator that will give you the power AND THE JOY to do God's works. And as the seed sprouts and takes root so too does that which you envision to manifest upon the Plain of Demonstration. May all your Blessings of brotherhood and hope be answered. Just remember, it requires your input as well as Aton's to make it work.

82ND AIRBORNE TROOPS BECOME THE FOCUS OF ATTENTION

In Iraq your nation's "Guard Of Honor" is going to be the focus of attention by those who want to see if America can still do what your politicians say it can do. Even though the peace and security of the world seems to rest with the U.S. and coalition forces there is a great undercurrent of disinformation and outright lies that are going to get many of your service men killed. It does not have to be that way. You-the-people of this country have to demand that your troops not be set up for murder.

The killing of the Spanish Intelligence officers several weeks ago signaled the beginning of the next and most costly phase of World War III, which you are well into now. The secret warriors who fight the Special Operations aspects of the war are going to come into contact with the covert operatives of your adversary. It will be as the titans versus the titans when it spills over into the public world view.

This is because it is at this juncture that ones who have trained all their lives to defend "Democracy" (in actuality it is a Republic that you have—"democratic" is a Marxist term. The Soviet Khazars told you that the first step to communism is to change your Republic to one with democratic ideals; which leads to a Socialistic government, whereby power is consolidated under a ruling elite; and then finally turning into communism, whereby all your freedoms are openly stripped from you.) discover WHO is really calling the shots.

America is, fortunately, comprised of people who are against evil and want to right the wrongs of the world. So too do your citizens in the Philippines, Russia, China, Iraq, England, Africa and elsewhere. What makes you different is the fact that you are seen as THE superpower, so the United States is the hope of the world. However, just like those other countries, you too have a government that is home to the vipers of Satan's forces. The ones you have feared since Biblical times have all but taken over this wondrous land and are planning to utilize and then sacrifice it to further their dreams of a One World Government.

Since the elitists need you to pull this off they have given your "best and brightest" people specialized training, and access to information outlets, that most are not privy to. That is why you have ones that are called true "patriots"—WHEN THEY SEE WHAT IS REALLY HAPPENING TO THEIR WORLD AND THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA GOD STEPS IN AND THEY EXCLAIM: "BY GOD I CANNOT LET THIS HAPPEN!" And then they become the adversary of the adversary.

To keep this from happening, your Zionist controllers will stage an attack on the 82nd Airborne to get rid of these potential "troublemakers" before they get that "call to serve". Because the adversarial elite know that if those elite among your soldiers listen to God—Who resides within—they could be in big trouble. I speak not of M-16s versus Israeli Uzis or communist AK-47s, it is the acting in wisdom utilizing the tools of you nation's Constitutional Republic and an INFORMED man who realizes how the "game" is played.

This soldier becomes very dangerous to the ones in power because he utilizes what he has been trained to do along with what God has given him: the ability to REASON IN WISDOM. And when it is used to focus attention on the "real enemy" the public stands up and takes notice. The 82nd Airborne Division was put together when your country was manipulated to fight its first wars. Its patch is the double "AA" with the "AIRBORNE" tab above it. (The "Screaming Eagle" or 101st AIRBORNE patch is similar with the head of the Bald Eagle, but this unit is not an airborne unit—meaning paratrooper unit. At one time they were; however, they were retired as true airborne soldiers when most of them were wiped out during one of your wars.)

The "ALL AMERICANS" got their name when they were formed as the oldest and most famous infantry division in your country. They were comprised of volunteers from every single state in the union and were of all nationalities of fighting men who wanted to protect the ideal of America as the land of Freedom, Liberty and Justice. They became world renouned as the 82nd Infantry Division.

In 1941 the 82nd Infantry Division became the 82nd Airborne Division and all its members now took their "best of the best" status, donned parachutes and stepped into the clouds. Every member, in addition to being infantry trained was now airborne qualified—he must be ready within 18 hours to deploy anywhere in the world with a call from your President.

They are the first to be called when your nation needs help. In Detroit during the riots of the '60s they were the first called to be on the street corners by the next morning to bring peace and order before it spilled over into your nation's next civil war. (The evil planners still intend on having another civil war and will indeed pull it off—IF YOU ALLOW IT!) Since then, the 82nd Airborne's reputation as dedicated Americans always at the ready to defend their homeland has earned them a coveted place in history. During several encounters the fact that Airborne troops were in the air and on the way to the place of battle was enough to cause your enemy to "stand-down" without further incident.

The esprit-de-corps and reputation of the 82nd earned them a Charter by the United States Congress and they became known as "America's Guard Of Honor". It is this "honor" of one's country AND GOD that the Khazarian elite must destroy before they complete their plans of bringing your country to its knees.

The counterattack by 82nd Airborne forces against those who killed the seven Spanish Intelligence officers was a blow to your adversary. For it has the potential of uniting Spain's royal court with American "freedom fighters".

SEVEN OF SPAIN'S "JAMES BONDS" MURDERED

The murder of seven of Spain's top intelligence officers is not unlike the slaughter of the 101st Airborne (now designated as helicopter-ferried solders). When something of this magnitude happens it is usually a blow that is fatal to the reputation and the spirit, of not only those intimately connected, but to its lasting memory and legacy as well.

In Ian Fleming's movie adaptation of his book Thunderball, starring Sean Connery, there is a scene where "every '00-man' in Europe" is called in for a top secret meeting with England's Home Secretary to find two stolen nuclear bombs being used to extort money from England and the U.S. As Connery enters the meeting late he strolls past the disapproving eyes of his superior, "M", and takes his seat, which is number seven out of nine high-backed chairs facing away from the camera. As you can tell by the grandeur of the setting these are not ordinary field agents. Being barons or baronets, they reflect how high up the elite chain of command these men are in those "royal" circles—be they good or bad.

On the coffins of the slain Spanish agents are their flags with their coat of arms. The funeral service was closed to outsiders but was televised live in Spain. If that had been represented in Thunderball it would have been a humiliating and nearly unrecoverable blow to see seven empty chairs next to Bond/Connery. The citizenry would have lost faith in their government's ability to protect them and it then becomes a long, downhill slide into oblivion.

When attacks like these are done to a nation they destroy not only the precious lives of those who think they are serving their country BUT TO THE MORALE OF THAT COUNTRY AS WELL. America still represents the art of gallantry to Westerners in the U.S. and abroad. However, the majority of Americans are regarded, now, with such as: "you poor, blind idiots"; especially if you are visiting a foreign country and do something pretentious.

But it is those few who have the reputation, such as the 82nd Airborne, who hold onto the hope that maybe America has some military "heroes" left. I speak not of "boots on the ground" invaders of another's homeland. When I use the term "military" I am referring to those patriots who learn about and study their—actual, future and current—enemies (be they soldiers, politicians, the environment or simply a lack of KNOWLEDGE) and prepare their families and comrades best HOW to defend themselves against those things OR PEOPLE who would rob them of their lands, liberties AND LIVES. For you see, once that hope is destroyed it becomes that much harder for the masses of your world's civilization to be salvaged without some of the evil elite's worst plans of genocide coming to pass.

You now have THE method of saving your nation and your world through what God's Hosts have brought to you—by the leader of His Hosts, no less—my compatriot, Commander Gyeorgos Ceres Hatonn. But I repeat: It will not be used to further ANY military anything. You are already on the brink of total disaster where the possibility of wiping out all life on your planet (including bacterial) has become a reality.

Now comes the point where the true "warrior" for freedom and justice picks up his pen or his shovel, rolls up his sleeves and gets on about his or her Father's business. This part of the journey has only just begun and ALL HANDS ARE NEEDED.

Thank you for your service, Jonur, go in Peace and know that The WORD is going to the four corners of the globe and much, much farther. Commander Korton to clear. Good day and Salu!

ISRAEL SHARES BLAME ON IRAQ INTELLIGENCE, REPORT SAYS

Molly Moore, Washington Post, 12/05/03

JERUSALEM—Israel was a "full partner" in U.S. and British intelligence failures that exaggerated former president Saddam Hussein's nuclear, chemical and biological weapons programs before the U.S.-led invasion of Iraq, a report by an Israeli military research center has charged.

"The failures of this war indicate weaknesses and inherent flaws within Israeli intelligence and among Israeli decision-makers," Brig. Gen. Shlomo Brom wrote in an analysis for Tel Aviv University's Jaffee Center for Strategic Studies.

Israeli intelligence services and political leaders provided "an exaggerated assessment of Iraqi capabilities," raising "the possibility that the intelligence picture was manipulated," wrote Brom, former deputy commander of the Israeli military's planning division.

David Baker, a spokesman for Prime Minister Ariel Sharon, declined to comment on the report.

The allegations parallel those raised in the United States and Britain. Officials have combed Iraq and interrogated former authorities for months, but have turned up little evidence to support the prewar assessments of Iraq's weapons programs.

"In the questioning of the picture painted by coalition intelligence, the third party in this intelligence failure, Israel, has remained in the shadows," the report said. "Israeli intelligence was a full partner to the picture presented by American and British intelligence regarding Iraq's non-conventional capabilities."

The report added, "A critical question to be answered is whether governmental bodies falsely manipulated the intelligence information in order to gain support for their decision to go to war in Iraq, while the real reasons for this decision were obfuscated or concealed."

The study did not cite specific exchanges of intelligence. Israeli officials frequently told foreign journalists before the war that Israel and the United States were sharing information, particularly regarding Iraqi missiles and nonconventional weapons that could possibly be used against Israel.

The report accused intelligence agencies of being blinded by a "one-dimensional perception of Saddam Hussein."

"At the heart of this perception lay the colorful portrait of an embodiment of evil, a man possessed by a compulsion to develop weapons of mass destruction in order to strike Israel and others, regardless of additional considerations," the report said.

The analysis said a "certain degree of intelligence wariness is justified," but added, "the problem lies in getting carried away to extremes, as was clearly the case with Israeli intelligence on Iraq."

The report said that when "Israeli intelligence became aware that certain items had been transferred by the head of the regime from Iraq to Syria, Israeli intelligence immediately portrayed it—including in leaks to the media—as if Iraq was moving banned weapons out of Iraq in order to conceal them."

The analysis faulted intelligence officials for discounting the more likely scenario that Hussein and his aides were moving cash or family members out of the country in anticipation of the attack.

The study noted that Israeli and U.S. governments have disagreed over the past decade on the "weight of various threats in the Middle East." The report said Israel has generally claimed that Iran poses a more serious threat than Iraq, because the latter was "contained and under control."

But, the author added, "Once the Bush administration decided to take action against Iraq, it was more difficult for Israel to maintain its position that dealing with Iraq was not the highest priority, especially when it was obvious that the war would serve Israel's interests."

GIs RAZING HOMES OF SUSPECTED IRAQI INSURGENTS

Jeff Wilkinson, STAR LEDGER, 11/18/03

TIKRIT, Iraq—In a tactic reminiscent of Israeli crackdowns in the West Bank and Gaza, the U.S. military has begun destroying the homes of suspected guerrilla fighters in Iraq's Sunni Triangle, evacuating women and children, then leveling their houses with heavy weaponry.

At least 15 homes have been destroyed in Tikrit as part of what has been dubbed Operation Ivy Cyclone II, including four, leveled Sunday by tanks and Apache helicopters, that allegedly belonged to suspects in the Nov. 7 downing of a Black Hawk helicopter that killed six Americans.

Family members at one of the houses, in the village of al Haweda, said they were given five minutes to evacuate before soldiers opened fire.

The destruction of the homes is part of a sharp crackdown on insurgents in the so-called Sunni Triangle, where guerrillas have downed at least two U.S. helicopters—one a Chinook in Fallujah on Nov. 2, killing 16 U.S. soldiers, and the other the Nov. 7 downing of the Black Hawk. On Saturday, two more helicopters crashed, after one of them may have been fired upon, killing 17.

U.S. forces struck dozens of targets yesterday, killing six guerrillas and arresting 21 others, the military said. The operation is expected to continue through tomorrow, said Col. James Hickey, commander of the 1st Brigade of the 4th Infantry Division.

Hickey said the four homes were destroyed Sunday because enemy fighters lived and met there. Leveling the homes will force the fighters to find other meeting places, he said.

"Those four people used those houses as sanctuary, and we're not allowing them to have sanctuary," Hickey said.

"We're going to turn the heat up and complicate their battlefield," driving them into the desert, he said. "There they will be exposed and we will have them."

It was unclear whether the decision to destroy the houses was part of an overall strategy approved in Washington. White House spokesman Scott McClellan declined to comment specifically, referring questions about the razings to the Defense Department, but he praised the military's efforts to get tough with Iraqi insurgents.

"There are terrorists who are seeking to spread fear and chaos in Iraq, and we are on the offensive and taking the fight to the enemy," McClellan said. "Our coalition forces are doing an outstanding job working with Iraqis to bring these terrorists to justice."

Officials at the Department of Defense referred questions to Central Command in Tampa, which oversees all military operations in Iraq. Spokesmen there declined to comment.

Yesterday, angry residents of al Haweda, where three of the destroyed homes were, said the tactic will spawn more guerrilla fighters and perhaps spark an Iraqi uprising similar to the Palestinian intifada in the West Bank and Gaza.

"This is something Sharon would do," said 41-year-old farmer Jamel Shahab, referring to Israeli Prime Minister Ariel Sharon. "What's happening in Iraq is just like Palestine."

The Israeli military's practice of demolishing the homes of families of convicted or suspected terrorists has brought widespread condemnation from human rights and other governments—including the United States.

The State Department's 2002 human rights report, released in March, said such policies "left hundreds of Palestinians not involved in terror attacks homeless." In September, department spokesman Richard Boucher criticized Israel for destroying a seven-story apartment building in Gaza during a raid on a suspected Hamas militant.

There was no official reaction in Washington.

A State Department official, speaking on condition of anonymity, suggested yesterday that the tactic was not sanctioned in Washington. "I can't wait to see alJazeera's presentation of it," the official said, referring to a satellite TV network viewed widely throughout the Middle East.

The military had promised a tough crackdown in response to the recent surge in American military deaths and has launched two operations, Operation Iron Hammer around Baghdad and Ivy Cyclone in the heart of the Sunni Triangle.

Hickey said counterstrikes against fighters around Tikrit have been continuous, but that Ivy Cyclone II represents a higher level of coordination using more advanced weapons.

WAR FALLOUT REACHING BEYOND IRAQ'S BORDERS

G.A. Geyer, Universal Press Syndicate, 12/05/03

WASHINGTON—American war-planners believe they are managing a conflict that is largely contained within Iraq, one that will end when we have defeated a finite number of enemy combatants there. They also think we are drawing into Iraq foreign terrorists whose cause can be defeated there.

But more and more evidence indicates that instead the flow is going the other way—that occupied Iraq has become the exporter and inspiration of terrorism to neighboring countries and beyond.

Take the recent bombings in Istanbul of the Jewish synagogues and the British consulate general and bank. At first, it was reasonable to speculate that the acts were a continuation of the internal Kurdish terrorism that has so long rent Turkey. But the Turkish government has clearly said no; these violent truck bombings were indeed related to Al Qaeda, and most of the terrorists involved in the attacks had traveled at some time to Afghanistan, Pakistan or Iran for training.

Moreover, CNN just reported from Turkish intelligence agency sources that they considered the attacks "an extension of the war in Iraq into Turkey." Those sources also said there has been a proliferation of weapons being smuggled from Iraq into neighboring countries such as Jordan, Saudi Arabia and Turkey, including surface-to-air missiles that could be used against airliners in those countries.

The American position on the war has been that Iraq is "the front line in the war against terrorism," but the real configuration of the struggle is far more diffuse and complicated. A front line presupposes a traditional war in which enemies face one another and one side will eventually vanquish the other; but the war in Iraq takes on a more cellular structure, in which cells form, re-form, break up and then re-form again, often in protective coloring.

Even a bloody confrontation like the one this week in Samarra, where highly armed and mobilized American troops defeated an Iraqi enemy that came out into the open more than ever before, does not disprove these observations. In the aftermath of Samarra, journalists and other observers were told by Iraqis that the mission had only created more anti-Americanism.

The real danger is that Iraq, rather than being the cemetery for terrorism, has become, as those of us who know the area long predicted, the incubator of it. There had been no Al-Qaeda-linked terrorism in Turkey before these attacks; if you look around the world, you see either Islamic fundamentalist or Al Qaeda gains in political contests, whether in Pakistan, Malaysia, Jordan or Kuwait. Anti-Americanism is peaking in the Islamic world.

Meanwhile, inside Iraq, the political situation seems as far from solution as ever. Only last week, the Bush administration thought it had the answer—handing over power to the Iraqis through councils the American coalition would nominate and control. But the grand ayatollah Ali Sistani, the senior Shiite cleric in the country, bollixed the whole plan (occupied peoples seem to figure out quickly how to sabotage the confident occupiers) by issuing a "fatwa" saying that any new government must be the result of direct elections. This would give the majority Shiites the power they have long wanted.

In Iraq, the enemy combatants' patterns of attack are increasingly clear. They have moved, as if following a guerrilla warfare handbook, from attacks on coalition military targets, to attacks on coalition-friendly foreign governments such as Italy and Spain, to attacks on humanitarian institutions like the United Nations, to attacks on Iraqis who are working with the invaders to warn against "collaboration."

Each step tries to destroy another arm of the occupation. And the attacks are increasing, with American deaths this last month double those of previous months.

Some of our best analysts are becoming concerned that, no matter what the U.S. or anyone else does now, the Iraq state simply cannot be reconstituted. This has nothing to do with how awful Saddam Hussein's state was, but everything to do with the fact that we have broken down the structures that did exist (in a country of tortuous differences) and unleashed the destructive dogs of guerrilla war, often called "fourth-generation warfare."

"In Iraq," military historian William Lind says, "the two fatal early errors were outlawing the Baath Party and disbanding the Iraqi army. Outlawing the Baath deprived the Sunni community of its only political vehicle, which meant it had no choice but to fight us. Disbanding the Iraqi army left us with no native force that could maintain order, and also provided the resistance with a large pool of armed and trained fighters.

"We fought to destroy two regimes, but what we ended up doing was destroying two states. Neither in Afghanistan nor in Iraq are we able to re-create the state, which means that fourth-generation, non-state forces will come to dominate both places. And, he summed up, "neither we nor any other state knows how to defeat fourth-generation enemies."

PENTAGON MULLS SPECIAL UNITS FOR POSTWAR OPERATIONS

Bradley Graham, The Washington Post, 11/27/03

WASHINGTON—The Pentagon has begun to look seriously at creating military forces that would be dedicated to peacekeeping and reconstruction after conflicts, defense officials said.

The idea is to create brigades or whole divisions out of units of engineers, military police, civil affairs officers and other specialists critical to postwar operations.

The move marks a reversal for the Bush administration, which came into office strongly resistant to peacekeeping missions and intent on trying to get Europeans and other allies to shoulder more of that burden.

It also comes in the face of traditional Army opposition to the idea of establishing forces focused on peacekeeping. Army officials have argued that combat troops can be used for peacekeeping when necessary and that additional units with recovery-related skills can be added to combat divisions to meet postwar demands.

But in Iraq, U.S. forces have struggled to deal with insurgents and other postwar challenges, and help from other foreign countries has fallen far short of U.S. expectations.

Facing widespread criticism for poor postwar planning and concerned that peacekeeping may become more of a norm for the U.S. military, senior Pentagon officials are being driven to consider alternative ways of organizing troops for postwar operations.

"This mission is too important and too hard to rely on cobbling," said Arthur Cebrowski, director of the Office of Force Transformation, who has become a leading advocate of designing forces specifically for what the Pentagon calls postwar "stability operations."

Defense Secretary Donald Rumsfeld has taken an interest in the idea. In a memo to subordinates in August, Rumsfeld raised the question of whether the Pentagon should "try to fashion a… postcombat capability of some sort," according to a memo recipient.

As a further sign the issue is receiving high-level attention, language is being drafted for the Strategic Planning Guidance, the classified document that shapes Pentagon budgeting and programming—that would direct military authorities to explore setting up a stability operations force.

A September study by the Pentagon's Office of Stability Operations outlined how a force of about 5,000 troops could be organized. Another study, sponsored by Cebrowski and completed earlier this month by a National Defense University team, called for an even larger unit of two division-size forces—one active-duty, one reserve—totaling about 30,000 troops.

"It's an idea that has legs," said another senior defense official involved in the discussions. "If you have dedicated forces, you can ensure they will be better organized for postwar tasks and will know better what they're about."

The idea is likely to face stiff resistance in the Army.

Army authorities have argued that they do not have enough troops to maintain separate combat and peacekeeping forces. They also have worried that units focused on postwar policing would be viewed as stepchildren of the main Army, leading to morale and performance problems.

"I think many in the Army will contend that Iraq is temporary and that you can't forget the need to maintain forces for the big battles to come," said Andrew Krepinevich, director of the Washington-based Center for Strategic and Budgetary Assessments.

One alternative, short of a permanent new force, would involve earmarking certain troops for stability operations for a limited period of time—say, several years—after which they would return to combat status.

IRAQIS: SPECIAL MILITIA GETS OK LEADING PARTIES TO PICK TROOPS

Edward Wong, New York Times, 12/04/03

BAGHDAD—The U.S.-led administration in Iraq has agreed with leaders of the country's top political parties to create a militia group made up of troops picked in equal numbers by the parties, party officials and members of the Iraqi Governing Council said Wednesday.

The militia's responsibilities will include gathering intelligence on guerrilla activities and possibly conducting house raids, these officials said. It will have 700 to 1,000 members, they said, and will be split into groups that work under the command or guidance of U.S. soldiers.

"They will use this force for quick operations," said Nushirwan Mustafa, the deputy to Jalal Talabani, who represents the Patriotic Union of Kurdistan on the Governing Council. "Until now, there has been a vacuum of security. In June, sovereignty will be transferred from the Coalition Provisional Authority to an Iraqi government. They should start now to build some security groups to take responsibility and take over security in the country."

Mustafa's party would be one of seven contributing 100 soldiers each to the militia, he said. The seven parties are the ones recognized by coalition forces as the major political groups opposed to Saddam Hussein's government around the time of the U.S.-led invasion, he added.

Besides Mustafa's party, they are the Kurdistan Democratic Party, the Iraqi National Accord, the Iraqi National Congress, the Supreme Council for the Islamic Revolution in Iraq, the Dawa Party and the Iraqi Communist Party.

Mustafa and officials of other parties said that plans for the militia, details of which were first reported in The Washington Post on Wednesday, were still very much subject to change.

Dan Senor, a coalition spokesman, declined to comment, saying he would not talk about conversations between American officials and the Governing Council.

Iraqi political leaders from all factions have long argued that U.S. soldiers were ill-equipped to gather intelligence on resistance fighters.

The foreign administrators, though, were reluctant to form a large militia, the Iraqis said, largely because of their distrust of the Iranian-trained Badr Brigade, the armed wing of the Supreme Council for the Islamic Revolution in Iraq. But the country's deteriorating security situation seems to have swung the opinion of the occupiers, Iraqi officials said.

The make-up of the militia has raised concerns among some Governing Council members. Ghazi Yawer, a council member who does not represent any political parties, said forming a militia of soldiers from different parties could lead to violent factionalism. He added that the Governing Council was not consulted about the militia and that only council members representing the largest parties—ones that would contribute soldiers—took part in talks on the militia with Gen. John Abizaid, the senior U.S. commander in the Middle East.

"I am very outraged," he said. "How many people are running Iraq? I'm very upset. This can lead to warlords and civil war. Should I form my own militia? I can have 20,000 people or more here. But that is not what I want to do."

His understanding of the militia differed somewhat from Mustafa's. Yawer said only the five largest parties—rather than the seven largest—would contribute to the militia, with 160 to 200 people picked by each party.

Mustafa said that the militia's soldiers would leave their party affiliations behind once they joined the new outfit. They would operate under the auspices of the Interior Ministry, he said, and be concentrated in the Baghdad area.

He added that the militia would serve as an interim force while the coalition trains the Iraqi Civil Defense Corps, paramilitary troops that will be melded into a national army. What will happen to the militia after that is unclear, he said.

Military officials said on Wednesday that soldiers from the 173rd Airborne Brigade and Iraqi security forces had captured 23 people on Monday night believed to be paramilitary troops loyal to Hussein.

The operation took place west of Tikrit. Though rumors swirled in Baghdad on Tuesday that the operation had netted Izzat Ibrahim al-Douri, a top aide to Hussein, military officials later said they had not captured Ibrahim.

SECRECY TO CLOAK CLARK'S TESTIMONY FOR MILOSEVIC TRIAL

Tom Hundley, Tribune, 12/03/03

LONDON—The Bush administration has imposed heavy secrecy and censorship measures on the testimony of retired Gen. Wesley Clark, the former NATO commander seeking the Democratic presidential nomination, when he takes the stand later this month at the war crimes trial of Slobodan Milosevic.

The administration's action will blunt the drama of what many expected to be a crucial moment in Milosevic's lengthy trial and dim the international spotlight for Clark as he confronts the Yugoslav leader he defeated in the Kosovo campaign.

At the insistence of State Department's legal office, the courtroom's public gallery will be cleared when Clark is called to testify Dec. 15-16 in The Hague. Cameras that normally broadcast the proceedings on closed-circuit television and the Internet will be blacked out.

There also will be a 48-hour delay on the release of the trial transcript that will enable State Department lawyers to examine Clark's testimony and request the deletion of portions they deem harmful to national interests.

UN prosecutors expressed disappointment with the administration's terms, but Clark's campaign said he accepted them.

"Because there were serious national security and intelligence issues, it was agreed with the State Department that the testimony should be closed," said campaign spokeswoman Mary Jacoby.

The campaign emphasized that Clark had no qualms about testifying against Milosevic.

UN prosecutors said they had little choice but to accept the arrangement if they wanted Clark's testimony.

"It's always better when you have everything in public and out in the open, but this is the best we could get," said Florence Hartmann, spokeswoman for Carla Del Ponte, the chief prosecutor.

Under the rules that govern the International War Crimes Tribunal, secret testimony is allowable but it usually has been reserved for officials dealing with sensitive intelligence matters or actively engaged in intelligence gathering. There also are secrecy provisions to protect rape victims or witnesses who have reason to fear for their safety.

But for a high-profile public figure, the secrecy surrounding Clark's testimony is unprecedented, especially in light of the fact that Clark has written a lengthy book and numerous articles on NATO and the Kosovo war and has freely given his opinion on these subjects as a TV commentator and presidential candidate.

"We are concerned about the perception, especially in the countries that were involved [in the war]," Hartmann said. "If you do things in a closed session, people think you are hiding something, and that it is not a fair trial."

The State Department declined to answer specific questions about the clampdown on Clark's testimony but denied that it was trying to censor him.

The reason the department wants a 48-hour delay to vet Clark's testimony "is not to discourage or hinder reporting but to allow for the maximum provision of information by Gen. Clark to the tribunal while at the same time protecting against the inadvertent disclosure of sensitive information," said Lou Fintor, a State Department spokesman.

Other senior political and military figures have testified in open court against Milosevic, including Klaus Naumann, the German general who commanded the NATO war in Kosovo, and British envoys Paddy Ashdown and David Owen. American diplomat William Walker, whose outrage at the massacre of ethnic Albanians by Serb police in Kosovo galvanized U.S. opinion in support of military action, testified in open court.

Former Secretary of State Madeleine Albright has been the highest-ranking U.S. official to appear at The Hague. She gave her testimony in a public session during proceedings against Bosnian Serb leader Biljana Plavsic.

When high-ranking officials are called as witnesses, the normal procedure for dealing with sensitive testimony is to allow representatives of their government to be present in court and to intervene if they believe the official's testimony might harm national interests. The tribunal then goes into a temporary closed session to deal with that portion of the testimony.

"Closed sessions are for victims who might be harmed, not governments who might be embarrassed," a tribunal source said.

The refusal to allow Clark to testify in public underlines the Bush administration's hot-and-cold relationship with the war crimes tribunal. The U.S., which underwrites a large part of the tribunal's costs, continues to insist that all war criminals be brought to justice. At the same time, the Bush administration has balked at sharing intelligence that would aid tribunal investigators and has thwarted attempts to call senior U.S. officials as witnesses, according to tribunal sources.

Last year, Hague prosecutors wanted to call former U.S. envoy Richard Holbrooke, but apparently changed their minds when the Bush administration insisted on closed sessions. Holbrooke, who probably knows Milosevic better than any other Western official, may yet be called, sources said.

Milosevic, acting as his own lawyer, is defending himself against charges of genocide and other crimes against humanity in a decade of war in Croatia, Bosnia-Herzegovina and Kosovo. Over the course of the trial, now in its 21st month, Milosevic has bullied witnesses. The technique has been effective with ordinary citizens from Bosnia and Kosovo but generally has backfired when used against experienced public figures.

Clark knows Milosevic well, having served as Holbrooke's military adviser during many hours of negotiations with the Serbian leader in Belgrade, Yugoslavia, and during the Dayton peace talks. He later directed NATO's 78-day air campaign against Yugoslavia, forcing Milosevic to withdraw his troops from Kosovo. Political observers had viewed Clark's trial testimony as an opportunity for him to boost his stature in a crowded Democratic field.

On Tuesday at The Hague, former Bosnian Serb intelligence officer Momir Nikolic, who pleaded guilty in a massacre at Srebrenica, was sentenced to 27 years in prison. Also, the two highest-ranked Muslims charged with war crimes in Bosnia went on trial. Retired Gen. Enver Hadzihasanovic and Amir Kubura, a brigade commander, have pleaded innocent.

POWELL BACKS GEORGIAN LEADER

William Neikirk, Tribune, 12/03/03

MARRAKESH, Morocco—Secretary of State [SIR] Colin Powell launched a whirlwind foreign trip Tuesday by warning Russia not to interfere in the turbulent politics of Georgia and taking President Bush's message of democratic reform to Arab-dominated North Africa.

In each case, Powell alternated between diplomatic tough talk and conciliatory language as he plunged into a four-day, five-country trip that will wind up Thursday at a NATO meeting in Brussels, where he hopes to mend a few fences with Europeans over Iraq.

The secretary of state arrived in Morocco on Tuesday night after a quick visit to Tunis, Tunisia's capital, where he held wide-ranging talks with President Zine El Abidine Ben Ali, including political reform and the war on terrorism. On Wednesday, he will meet with Morocco's leaders, then move on to Algeria.

On the first leg of his trip at a meeting of the Organization for Security and Cooperation in Europe, held in the Dutch city of Maastricht, Powell met with Georgia's interim president, Nino Burdzhanadze, and said Washington would support the Jan. 4 elections she has called.

Eduard Shevardnadze quit the Georgian presidency during a bloodless revolt last week over allegations of vote-rigging in parliamentary elections.

"The international community should do everything possible to support Georgia's territorial integrity throughout and beyond the election process," Powell told the OSCE, which has 55 member nations.

"No support should be given to breakaway elements seeking to weaken Georgia's territorial integrity," he said in an apparent reference to leaders from separatist regions inside Georgia who met with Russian leaders last week.

The U.S. and other Western countries have a major interest in Georgia's stability, chiefly because of a $2.5 billion pipeline that would take Caspian Sea oil to the Mediterranean Sea. By contrast, Russia fears Georgian turmoil could help Chechen separatists....

December 3, 2003

This notice will be construed as a continuation of compliance with provisions necessary to establish presumed fact (Rule 301, Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, and attending State rules). All interested parties have failed to rebut any given allegation or matter of law addressed herein. The position will be construed as adequate to requirements of judicial notice, thus preserving fundamental law. A true and correct copy of this Public Notice is on file with and available for inspection at the newspaper CONTACT which is responsible for publishing the instrument as a legal notice.

This document is to notify interested parties of the intent of Global Alliance Investment Association (GAIA) to immediately render assistance to NATIONS desiring to stabilize the value of their currencies by basing them upon RESERVES of physical gold. This assistance will be comprised of one or more of the following: Calculating the amount of gold needed sufficient for its currency base; supplying the initial RESERVES to permit the Nation's purchase of the necessary initial supply of gold; sourcing the supply of gold for purchase; and stabilizing the purchase price at a level necessary to making the mining and processing of gold a profitable enterprise.

Since 1996 GAIA has contacted many nations to encourage them to consider the benefits of returning their currencies to a gold base. (Some of those benefits will be listed below.) The question inevitably arose, will there be enough gold? GAIA can now provide proof via court documents that an adequate supply not only exists but is available and under contract to GAIA. Those documents are readily available for viewing in the Executive Offices of GAIA in Manila.

While we can say with certainty that several large deposits of gold exist in the Philippines, the most accessible deposit, exceeding 100,000 metric tons, is warehoused in Metro Manila and is subject to court orders to be released to qualified buyers, any time after the year 2000. This gold will be sold only to nations whose currencies are, or are in the process of being, based upon gold.

To give them Public Notice, we will copy, very precisely, the last six paragraphs of a Certified Copy of FOURTH ALIAS WRIT OF EXECUTION, POSSESSION AND DEMOLITION received by GAIA November 25, 2003. The WRIT was ordered by Judge Sofronio C. Sayo of the Regional Trial Court in Pasay City on MARCH 7, 1995.

To fully understand the ramifications of this Order, one must also know that it was the Order of Judge Enrique A. Agana in 1976 that the Administrator establish a Foundation to administer the business of the Estate. That has been properly accomplished with a five-person Board of Directors responsible for the day-to-day operation of the Foundation. The documentation for the Foundation is on file with the Philippine Securities and Exchange Commission. The relevant agreements are between GAIA and the Foundation.

[QUOTING the WRIT:]

6) Ordering the Court sheriff, Atty. Jose E. Ortiz, and his Deputized Private Sheriffs to collect the sum of P3 Billion plus an interest of 7% Per Annum starting 1968 to present as damages sustained by the Tallano Estate implicated by the National Government and its agencies, the National Housing Authority, the Public Estate Authority, the Department of Public Works and Highways, the Philippine National Construction Corporation, the Manila International Airport Authority, the Land Registration Administration, The Philippine Port Authority, the Base Conversion Development Authority, the University of the Philippines while damages sustained by the landowner was determined by Sec. 101 and Sec. 102 of Land Registration Act 496. Likewise, the Court Sheriff and his Deputized Private Sheriffs are also commanded to recover and/or take over the following real properties land-grabbed by the private persons, by the Barangay officials and by the national Government and its aforestated government agencies as follows:

1. Land unlawfully occupied by Philippine Port Authority, the National Housing Authority, the Public Estate Authority, the Base Conversion Authority, the Manila International Airport Authority, the Philippine National Construction Corporation.

2. Land unlawfully occupied by squatters, homeowners association, and other private persons located in Quezon City, Antipolo, Marikina, Taguig, Paranaque, Pasay City and particularly from private persons, namely: Bonifacio Regalado of Fairview, Quezon City, Jose and Antonio Suzuaregi of Old Dalara, Quezon City, Mareial Fucundo and other persons found occupying the Tallano Estate;

7) Ordering also the Sheriffs to collect/withdraw/confiscate all Gold Bullion including its cash deposits which are in the account of the late President Ferdinand E. Marcos, who was a lawyer for the clan, and either presently deposited in Central Bank, any Philippine bank here in the country or any foreign bank outside the country, including the account of the then Reverend Jose Antonio Diaz or Col. Severino Garcia Sta. Romana, while all deposits either gold or currency found deposited in the account of Dr. Alejo Rizal Lopez has been re-conveyed to and in favor of the Tallano Estate, so the same, should be recovered in favor of the Tallano clan;

8) Ordering the Sheriff to deputize the NBI, PNP, and Philippine Army to assist the recovery assigned.

9) This FOURTH ALIAS WRIT OF EXECUTION, POSSESSION AND DEMOLITION has imprescriptibility [cannot be taken away] clause until the said P3 Billion pesos including its interest has been fully collected and until the reconstituted copies of the subject land titles has been issued accordingly in favor of the Tallano clan, in as much as both Department of Justice and the Land Registration Administration has no objection over the issuance of the Reconstituted owner's original and duplicate copies of Oct No. T-01-4, TCT No. T-408 and TCT No. T-498, Annex A, and remain enforceable until it has been fully complied with.

[END QUOTING]

As the Foundation withdraws and sells its gold, it can pay property and real estate taxes that have become in arrears due to the government's non-payment of the above fines and other compensation. Those taxes can flow into the municipalities where they can most quickly benefit the people. In addition, most of the "offshore deposits" made by President Marcos are dedicated to fund specific and identified projects and can be amicably released to the Foundation to be administered for their intended purpose.

The foremost, fundamental benefit offered by the Global Alliance Program and gold-based currency is: NATIONAL SOVEREIGNTY. Because gold-based currency IS "foreign exchange", and because the nation, with the assistance of GAIA, can increase its money supply to a level commensurate with its needs and abilities to build itself, there is no further need for Foreign Investors, Foreign Loans (including IMF/WB), Foreign exchange reserves, Globalization, Budget deficits, Balance of payments, Money from exports, or to "compete" with neighbor nations for the money of foreign investors, lenders, or tourists.

Nor is there any need for an Individual income tax, or a Value Added Tax, Currency fluctuations, Inflation, High interest rates, Foreclosures, Unemployment, or casino-type Stock and Bond markets.

Each nation will have plenty of money for: Schools, Homes, Hospitals, Libraries, and Public buildings and Sports facilities; well equipped and well-paid Fire and Police forces, Coast and Forest patrols, and a well-trained, well-equipped Military; Roads & Highways, 1st class Ports and Airports, fast-craft Ferries and Hovercraft, adequate Rapid Transit and Railroads; Waste management systems that recycle, utilize, and value-enhance waste; a complete Electricity grid and more non-polluting hydro generating facilities, Irrigation and Culinary Water Distribution and Recovery systems, a national Communications Network, Employment at adequate wages for everyone who can work (rebellion, corruption, crime, gambling and drugs are less "necessary" in a prosperous society), the return of overseas workers to even better jobs in their home nation, and Reforestation programs for those areas that have suffered deforestation (the remainder of pristine growth can be saved and the need for lumber can be supplied by plantations).

GAIA is an "alliance association", ready, willing and able to serve the global community without assistance from such institutions as the International Monetary Fund, the World Bank operations, or the Federal Reserve or U.S. Treasury.

IT IS HEREBY RESOLVED that a copy of the stamped document returned by the Recorder of Clark County, Nevada will be included as a part of each information package provided to DEEDholders.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, the undersigned have executed and sealed this authorization as of the date hereof.

For the Corporation, dated at Makati, Manila, the Philippines, this 3rd day of December 2003.

Notices will appear in three consecutive issues, in compliance with the terms of the Uniform Commercial Code regarding sufficient Legal Notice.

PUBLIC NOTICE
SEVERANCE AND WAIVER, FORFEITURE AND REJECTION OF BENEFITS OFFERED BY THE CROWN, THE UNITED STATES AND ASSOCIATED PERSONS

This notice shall be construed to comply with provisions necessary to establish presumed fact (Rule 301, Federal Rules of Evidence) should interested parties fail to rebut any given allegation or matter of law addressed herein. The position shall be construed as adequate to meet requirements of judicial notice, thus preserving fundamental law. Matters addressed herein, if not rebutted, will be construed to have general application. A true and correct copy of this Public Notice is on file with the CLARK COUNTY RECORDER in CLARK COUNTY, NEVADA.

I, the undersigned Ronald William: Kirzinger, a competent, full-liability individual, do hereby sever, waive, forfeit and reject any and all benefits offered to me or my child-son, Evan Christian: Kirzinger by the CROWN, the UNITED STATES or associated persons.

In accordance with the above severance, waiver, forfeiture and rejection of benefits, TAKE NOTICE that any contracts presumed to exist between the CROWN or the UNITED STATES and myself are void due to failure of consideration.

In addition, TAKE NOTICE that any contracts presumed to exist between the CROWN or the UNITED STATES and myself are void ab initio where the CROWN or the UNITED STATES or associated persons induced the contract through fraud (see definition, next paragraph). I do not accept the liability of the compelled benefit of any unrevealed contract or commercial agreement. I reserve my inherent right not to be compelled to perform under any contract or commercial agreement that I did not enter knowingly, voluntarily and intentionally.

Fraud: "An intentional perversion of the truth for the purpose of inducing another in reliance upon it to part with some valuable thing belonging to him or to surrender a legal right; a false representation of a matter of fact, whether by words or by conduct, by false or misleading allegations, or by concealment of that which should have been disclosed, which deceives and is intended to deceive another so that he shall act upon it to his legal injury." (Black's Law Dictionary)

Further, TAKE NOTICE that I hereby deny the existence of all corporations and all persons who cause or allow harm to my children or me. In so doing, I specifically reserve my and my children's God-given rights and responsibilities without limitation.

I declare under penalty of perjury that the foregoing is true and correct. In witness whereof I have affixed my signature this 10th day of October, 2003.

PUBLIC NOTICE
NOTICE OF BAILMENT CONTRACT AND CIVIL DEATH

This notice shall be construed to comply with provisions necessary to establish presumed fact (Rule 301, Federal Rules of Evidence) should interested parties fail to rebut any given allegation or matter of law addressed herein. The position shall be construed as adequate to meet requirements of judicial notice, thus preserving fundamental law. Matters addressed herein, if not rebutted, will be construed to have general application. A true and correct copy of this Public Notice is on file with the CLARK COUNTY RECORDER in CLARK COUNTY, NEVADA.

I, the undersigned Ronald William: Kirzinger, a competent, full-liability individual, do hereby declare as follows:

1. I am not involved in any scheme of personal commercial enrichment of any kind whatsoever. I am "about my Father's business", avoiding my trespass against any man or woman to the best of my ability in the full expectation that such others will similarly avoid trespassing against me.

2. The only assets I claim are the very personal properties of my own natural body and those of my children as gifted to me.

3. All that I may ever appear to have in the way of possessions, properties or commercial benefits are subject to a contract of bailment dating from September 30, 1993, which binds me as the bailee for as long as I live. Whenever practicable, bailments shall be registered in the name of a suitable agency of the Bailor in the first instance but it shall be presumed that any properties not able to be so registered for any reason are nevertheless properties of the Bailor and not my personal property.

4. Accordingly, for all equitable purposes I am civilly dead. Therefore, in any equitable controversy involving money or things in my possession, it shall be presumed that the appropriate party in interest for purposes of equitable recourse is the Bailor through His most proximate agency (by the Doctrine of Instrumentality) and that I, the bailee, may not properly be held as the surety for any such equitable claim.

5. It follows that if any individual man or woman claims any harm whatsoever done by me, adjudication of the issue must be at law—not equity—in a jurisdiction where proper and lawful due process can be effected.

I declare under penalty of perjury that the foregoing is true and correct. In witness whereof I have affixed my signature this 20th day of November, 2003.

PUBLIC NOTICE
SPECIFIC NEGATIVE AVERMENT OF CORPORATION EXISTENCE

This notice shall be construed to comply with provisions necessary to establish presumed fact (Rule 301, Federal Rules of Evidence) should interested parties fail to rebut any given allegation or matter of law addressed herein. The position shall be construed as adequate to meet requirements of judicial notice, thus preserving fundamental law. Matters addressed herein, if not rebutted, will be construed to have general application. A true and correct copy of this Public Notice is on file with the CLARK COUNTY RECORDER in CLARK COUNTY, NEVADA.

I, the undersigned Ronald William: Kirzinger, a competent, full-liability individual with rights inherent in Natural Law, do hereby declare as follows:

Whereas corporations are fictions of law and have no real, independent existence, I hereby deny the existence of all corporations and associated fiction-of-law "persons" who are or may be associated with any complaint against me, including but not limited to the following: the CROWN; the UNITED STATES; UNITED STATES COURTS; the STATE OF NEVADA; EIGHTH JUDICIAL DISTRICT COURT; all BAR ASSOCIATIONs; CLARK COUNTY; CLARK COUNTY DEPUTY SHERIFF BAILIFFS ASSOCIATION; CITY OF LAS VEGAS; LAS VEGAS JUSTICE COURT; LAS VEGAS METROPOLITAN POLICE DEPARTMENT; JUDGE CHERYL MOSS; CHARLES HOSKIN, Esquire; MARIA PEREZ, Esquire; FRANCES FINE, Esquire; ADELE RENEE DEWITT; and the fictitious "person", RONALD KIRZINGER, of 5344 IMAGES COURT.

Correspondence addressed to the fictitious "person", RONALD KIRZINGER, may be returned with a simple, handwritten notation, "That's not me," signed or initialed by myself, sui juris, which shall be construed as ongoing lawful denial of such a fiction and shall never properly give rise to a reason to cause or allow harm to me or my children.

If any man or woman has any complaint of trespass to bring against me, such complaint must be brought by the individual, sui juris, and not by a fiction-of-law "person" such as those listed above, for adjudication at Common Law, by true judgment and not at equity, by decree.

Whatever anyone may do with the fictitious RONALD KIRZINGER, I will not act as the surety for same and any individual who causes or allows harm to me or my children shall be subject to the penalties of the Common Law for any harm occasioned by their actions.

I declare under penalty of perjury that the foregoing is true and correct. In witness whereof I have affixed my signature this 8th day of December, 2003.
Ronald William: Kirzinger, Sui Juris, UCC 1-207

PUBLIC NOTICE
NOTICE OF FAILURE TO REBUT PRESUMPTIONS

This notice shall be construed to comply with provisions necessary to establish presumed fact (Rule 301, Federal Rules of Evidence), should interested parties fail to rebut any given allegation or matter of law addressed herein. The position shall be construed as adequate to meet requirements of judicial notice, thus preserving fundamental law. Matters addressed herein, if not rebutted, will be construed to have general application. A true and correct copy of this Public Notice is on file with the CLARK COUNTY RECORDER in CLARK COUNTY, NEVADA.

I, the undersigned Ronald William: Kirzinger, a competent, full-liability individual, do hereby declare as follows:

Whereas there has been no rebuttal to the Public Notice recorded October 10, 2003 (SEVERANCE AND WAIVER, FORFEITURE AND REJECTION OF BENEFITS OFFERED BY THE CROWN, THE UNITED STATES AND ASSOCIATED PERSONS) and whereas the quid pro quo of acceptance of benefits is an essential element of every valid contract, it is to be presumed that there is no valid contract in effect between myself and any such persons. This presumption can be rebutted by proof that I have knowingly, intentionally and voluntarily entered into a contract that provides me with benefits—but I declare that no such benefits have been accepted in such manner, so the presumption should stand until proven "on the record" otherwise.

Whereas there has been and truly can be no rebuttal to the Public Notice recorded December 3, 2003 (NOTICE OF BAILMENT CONTRACT AND CIVIL DEATH) and whereas any court at equity has a duty to respect, enforce and uphold such unchallenged contract, and whereas I claim no property other than my own natural body and the natural bodies of my children, and whereas I have no involvement in commerce not subject to the overriding bailment contract, and whereas I have had neither income nor assets not subject to the overriding bailment contract since September 1993, it is to be presumed that I am civilly dead and not a proper person to be involved in legal proceedings at equity.

Whereas I have caused to be recorded on this, the 9th day of December, 2003 a SPECIFIC NEGATIVE AVERMENT OF CORPORATION EXISTENCE, which is unrebuttable, and whereas parties to any controversy must be of equal status, it is to be presumed that proceedings against my person in courts at equity are a nullity and any orders that issue from such proceedings at equity are void.

Whereas ongoing efforts to involve me as the surety for the fiction-of-law RONALD KIRZINGER are fraudulent, extortionate artifices of color-of-law, de facto proceedings and appear to be intended to deprive me of my liberty and of my rightful property in the form of my child/son, to wit, Evan Christian: Kirzinger, TAKE NOTICE that any taking of said property without due process of law, at law and not at equity, constitutes the high crime of kidnapping, which is punishable according to the prescriptions of the Common Law.

I declare under penalty of perjury that the foregoing is true and correct. In witness whereof I have affixed my signature this 9th day of December, 2003.

NOTICE OF OBJECTIONS

This notice shall be construed to comply with provisions necessary to establish presumed fact (Rule 301, Federal Rules of Evidence), should interested parties fail to rebut any given allegation or matter of law addressed herein. The position shall be construed as adequate to meet requirements of judicial notice, thus preserving fundamental law. Matters addressed herein, if not rebutted, will be construed to have general application. A true and correct copy of this Public Notice is on file with the CLARK COUNTY RECORDER in CLARK COUNTY, NEVADA.

I, the undersigned Ronald William: Kirzinger, a competent, full-liability individual, do hereby declare as follows:

I OBJECT to being involved as the surety for the fiction of law, RONALD KIRZINGER.

I OBJECT to appearing in any de facto court of equity due to a complaint by any fictitious plaintiff.

I OBJECT to the inappropriate application of equitable powers in a rush to judgment that formed a contractual obligation where none previously existed, which resulted in deprivation of my liberty and caused me to become indebted despite my being quite civilly dead.

I OBJECT to all efforts to deprive me of my child/son, Evan Christian: Kirzinger.

I OBJECT to all court orders and to all statutes that cause harm to me or my children.

Specifically, I OBJECT to court orders drawn up by Maria Perez, Esquire in the matter of DEWITT V. KIRZINGER and signed by Judge Cheryl Moss, which inaccurately reflect the proceedings as adduced by video evidence or where "findings" of the court are otherwise objectionable:

—To wit, the orders from the 10/15/03 hearing fail to state that Nadine Dewitt was to do all the driving, while there is evidence that Adele Dewitt did most of the driving and thereby violated the court's order, which it is presumed is the reason for this omission;

—To wit, the orders from the 10/15/03 hearing state that Plaintiff was ordered to prepare a response for the 11/18/03 hearing, when there was no such order made;

—To wit, additional orders from the 10/15 hearing that were never ordered;

—To wit, the fact that Maria Perez, Esquire, did not date her Notice of Entry of Order for the 10/15/03 hearing—filed 11/20/03—until 11/26/03, more than a week after the next hearing date.

—To wit, the orders from the 11/18/03 hearing showing the court's "finding" of jurisdiction, whereas the record fails to overcome the presumption that Defendant experiences no benefit and that therefore no valid contract exists;

—To wit, the orders from the 11/18 hearing show that Plaintiff completed an alcohol assessment but fail to show that the result was negative, the Plaintiff did not pass the test;

—To wit, the orders from the 11/18/03 hearing showing the court's "finding" that Defendant should participate in a home study, when a home study has already been done and the home environment was found acceptable;

—To wit, the court's "finding" that "it is concerned about the child's safety due to Defendant's most recent filing and his non-appearance", when Defendant did appear, in writing, de bene esse, and that appearance in no way endangered the child's safety and probably did protect the child from unlawful taking;

—To wit, the inference that non-appearance by the Defendant at the scheduled 12/15/03 hearing may lead to a change of custody, when it is clear from the video evidence that only a failure to complete the psychological evaluation could lead to that consequence (which would still be plain wrong, given the contents of the Notice of Failure to Rebut Presumptions recorded this date), with the erroneous inference that an appearance in writing, de bene esse, would not qualify;

—To wit, an order from the 11/18 hearing that Defendant shall complete a psychological evaluation prior to the 12/15/03 hearing, when again it must be pointed out that any such contractual obligation is a fabrication, since the presumptions established in prior public notices have not been rebutted on the record;

—To wit, an order from the 11/18/03 hearing that spousal support arrearages be reduced to judgment, when nothing in the video evidence of the 11/18/03 hearing validates such an order;

—To wit, an order from the 11/18/03 hearing that Defendant owes a current obligation of $1,000 per month, when, again, it must be stated that any such purported contractual obligation was severed as of the public notice of 10/10/03, which has not been rebutted on the record, and no such order is able to be deduced from the video record of the proceedings.

Given the foregoing pattern of erroneous orders, it is to be presumed that Maria Perez, Esquire, should be sanctioned for abuse of process and that if she is not so sanctioned, that Judge Cheryl Moss conspired with Maria Perez in allowing said abuse of process and should also be sanctioned.

I declare under penalty of perjury that the foregoing is true and correct. In witness whereof I have affixed my signature this 8th day of December, 2003.

NEVADA CORPORATIONS:

Lawful Avoidance Of Key IRS Designations

Budget's "Tip of the Week" #8:

Avoiding the IRS Designations of:
"Personal Service Corporation", "Personal Holding Company" and "Controlled Group"

The tax advantages of properly operated Nevada corporate shelters may be secondary to the benefits of liability protection, asset protection and privacy but they are worth discussing all the same, especially since many tax professionals don't seem to "get it".

The IRS will tag a corporation as a "Personal Holding Company" and assess a surcharge of 39.6% on undistributed earnings in cases where more than 60% of the corporation's income is derived from "passive" sources such as dividends, interest and rental income. The IRS applies a designation of "Personal Services Corporation", assessing all income at a flat rate of 35%, in cases where a C corporation is engaged in the performance of personal services (consulting-type work) and where such services are performed by employee-owners. Yet another IRS designation is that of "Controlled Group", based on complicated rules for determining allowable cross-ownership of corporations, whereby the IRS seeks to lump all of the income into a single, consolidated return—resulting in the highest possible tax rate, of course.

Each of these designations is based on the corporation's OWNERSHIP. How very fortunate, then, that ownership of Nevada corporations is statutorily permitted to be very PRIVATE: It is not a matter of public record, only of the protected (by NRS 78.257) internal records of the corporation.

To be considered a "Personal Holding Company" a corporation must be owned by five or fewer stockholders. It is totally permissible for a corporation to earn 100% of its income from passive sources, as long as it is owned by six or more stockholders. It is similarly easy to avoid the designation of "Personal Services Corporation": Don't own the stock! "Controlled Group" status is also very easily avoided with Nevada corporations: Simply ensure that no entity owns 80% or more of any other entity and that in brother-sister corporate relationships there are six or more stockholders. As no liability is attached to stock ownership, surely you could find a trustworthy friend or six who wouldn't mind holding stock in the corporation? If not, give us a call—we know of hundreds of corporations in similar circumstances.

With regard to "Controlled Group" status, the IRS has from time to time invoked Section 482 of the Infernal Revenue Code, which lumps together income from corporations if they APPEAR to act out of a unity of interest. To our knowledge, however, even this blanketing regulation is relatively easily overcome, as long as the corporations act in their own, separate, well-documented self-interest.
