Underground Bases Honeycomb U.S.

3/5/92 #1 HATONN

Since speaking about the underground facilities around this California area, I am, as expected, deluged with inquiries regarding other placements. I will make a point of going through the various states and giving you some idea where the major installations are and where there are missiles. I don't have time to be totally specific nor give maps with specific tunnel runs, etc. Please don't expect more for it is dangerous for these writers here to present such a thing but I will share some information so that you can be alert and you who do have contacts might get the areas more specifically defined and updated. Revealing the secrets is the only defense you have.

Most places are covered with rumors and things like, "...well, I'm working on 'need to know' basis and I said I wouldn't tell." This means that number One: they are working on something they actually know very little about. Two: they are working underground on installations but have no idea of the broad picture. Three: They are threatened on the basis of "national security" and threat of punishment for treason and Four: They (with family) have been promised the reward of safeplacement IF they keep silent about the truth of the installations.

Already the "big boys", as industry is shut down, are moving into the safe shelters--you are that close to probable danger.

You will now find that you will get no help from your government in the building of shelters so you are on your "own", so to speak. You should continue to ask for public funding but do not expect it and do not base your security on the possibility.

In areas of these massive underground installations and nearby "bed-room" areas, such as Tehachapi, you have a situation of "vacant census"--which means that you have many houses which are now partially (occasionally) occupied but which will empty very soon now that the facilities are operational and the major "building" and construction are finished. Places such as Tehachapi will likely end up pretty much a ghost town but will be quite ideal for young industry in food-growing, dairy farming, etc. This is because the full underground cities will not become effective yet, for the Elite. Ones who are not invited within will have to move on to find work so much movement will need be back into the cities. IF YOU HAVE A JOB--HOLD ONTO IT FOR THERE IS NO PRIVILEGE OF SIMPLY "QUITTING" BECAUSE YOU DON'T LIKE YOUR BOSS OR WHAT YOU DO.

To ones in this group who await work in whatever is built here--don't. Stay employed because there is not work yet and as things move rapidly along there may not be--ever. I have repeatedly asked ones coming to this place to come only if prepared to attend your own needs. A place will be found for transfer if possible but at this point only "borrowed" funds which MUST BE REPAYED by one or two is all that there is available. We publish so rapidly that the books are but a burden and expense beyond belief to you readers.

SPREAD THE WORD OF TRUTH

It may well be perceived that many books are sold--many books are, but many more are simply passed around and therefore no balancing income is garnered against the next volume. It is, however, the word which must go forth so we are indeed pleased if you share, copy, spindle or mutilate--truth is for all and we need it spread anyway you can find a way--FOR YOU WILL NOT BE GIVEN HEARING ON ANY MEDIA OR PRESS OF THE ESTABLISHMENT--WHICH IS ALMOST 100% OF ALL PUBLICATIONS. LARGE PUBLICA-

Computer Views

3/5/92 #1 HATONN

First, let me remind my own crew to get the computers cleaned up so that you don't lose any documents to the insult spreading through the computer systems. This virus started as a quirk and whim to wipe out IRS documents but has now been turned to be used AGAINST you-the-people. If you lose documentation then the IRS will set its own estimates as to that which is "owed" to the "government banks". It is better to use the ounce of prevention in this instance and then stay on top of it because the full intent is for them to eventually have the ONLY computer records--the minute you go back to sleep. Especially you with inter-linkage systems are at great risk--this is why I deplore hooking into networks of any kind--you immediately lose all privacy as public air waves and phone lines are utilized.

I can only ask that you use continuing backup into safe placement--for it is intended that you WILL lose your data before the game ends. The major targets as the "plague" gets more specific is to all data exchange systems which hold forth legal foundation and all constitutional materials for the effort is to make unavailable case law prior to take-over by the changed judicial system.

Authors will also lose massive amounts of writing if not attended regularly--this current "virus" is only a start and as you move along the diseases will worsen without warning. This is only a forerunner to warn "their own" that the attack is ready to begin. I cannot warn you ones strongly enough--big stuff is coming down in the weeks ahead and it will be you who take precautions which will make it through intact. You must have separate back-up of all disk systems, preferably two or three in different placements and constantly updated. I, for one and for instance, will not ask that Dharma REDO anything because of this game in point for you have been warned sufficiently ahead of time.

Introduction to Hatonn

1/13/92 #1 HATONN

I am Gyeorgos Ceres Hatonn, Commander in Chief, Earth Project Transition, Pleiades Sector Flight Command, Intergalactic Federation Fleet. You may call me Hatonn. I am come in service unto the ONE GOD of Lighted Creation, and as "Host" unto His people who will be brought into His places long prepared for you. My own "Captain" is Sananda, the Christed Being you have called by many names--now one totally with Creator/Creation. [Sananda: simply meaning of/with God]. We are not "mystical" nor even "mysterious" aliens. We are the "Hosts" sent in preparation for His return, bringers of Truth according to His promise and to reveal the lies foisted upon you to claim your souls for the physical evil Elite controllers. We come in total love and without intent of force, coercion or judging. "Judging" is a state of evaluation of self in the presence of Creator in which actions in the physical experience are evaluated.

The information within the documents revealing Truth, THE PHOENIX JOURNALS and LIBERATOR, are the outlays of lies and hidden facts for which you can find confirmation. If you don't know the problems and the source of the problems, you can have no solutions.

I do not "channel"; I transmit on a frequency attuned to my "receiver" who is simply a translator of the pulses into English. This is true of all receivers who receive from any of this Command come forth with God for this transition of species and planet.

The receivers mostly have no reference for material given until after the giving and then, only for their own confirmation and yours. My petition is that you pay no attention to this resource if it is confusing and uncertain unto you--LET TRUTH STAND ALONE IN ITS PRESENTATION--THE REST WILL FOLLOW IN PROPER SEQUENCE.

No Fortune Telling

3/5/92 #1 HATONN

Dharma is deluged with petitions asking direction and instructions for personal actions. She is not given information of that nature any more than are you readers. The only advantage she has against any reader is that she has typed all the work and therefore has become privy to that which is written--exactly as you IF you read ALL the information. She has no need NOR RIGHT to interpret for YOU. She is not given from day to day to even know the subject upon which we will pen. I would never treat my co-workers with such dangerous input and I ask that you not do so either.

I will give you an example in the form of a letter received yesterday from a most beloved and loving being. I ask that you ones measure these questions against ones you might ask and then consider your education in the JOURNALS. If this person was informed, there would be no letter except to say "thank you" for sharing. We are not in the business of "readings" or "fortune-telling" and, until the books are indexed, our ones simply cannot remember which of 53 books contains specific information--but only generalization. In this instance, however, you will find the spiritual truth if you have read any of the JOURNALS--you will find the entire thought process and actions entirely adversarial in nature. Not that the techniques wouldn't work if the "healer" utilized God-power--but the person dishing out this garbage is USING people for his/her own ends--not the good of Godly passage and/or Godly healing.

Dharma, print the letter and we shall comment as we move along, but only very, very briefly for I cannot tell you often enough--if you don't find it worth the effort to read the material presented--then you will simply NOT have the answers you require for you will be left to the shysters such as in point. If you, precious writer M.R., spend as much time and energy on the JOURNALS as you do on the tricks and games, you would have the keys for which you seek. You already question and deny your resource of present--go again within and you will see that your inner truth is showing you the facts of the matter. It is good you write for in the seeing and thinking within the task of writing--the response has already come to you and what you actually ask is my confirmation of your perception.

Quote:

2/7/92

Dear Commander Hatonn,

First of all I would like to thank you for the knowledge, wisdom and understanding you bring. I enjoy reading and searching for higher spiritual knowledge. I know you are very busy so I will get straight to the point and try to keep it short.

I want to know if you can recommend one of your books I may read dealing with the subject of holy divine light transmitted from the PALM OF THE HAND, used to heal, cleanse, or purify spiritually. We do this in a organization called Mahikari. We're told Mahikari's teachings are revealed from the highest dimension--the 7th dimension. They were revealed to a Japanese man called Sukuinushisama. Anyway we're told that Jesus gave light. We must WEAR AN OBJECT CALLED OMITAMA (IT'S LIKE A LOCKET ON A CHAIN WORN INSIDE THE CLOTHING) [H: And I bet you have to purchase this locket in some manner either by simply purchase of it or payment for this wondrous "so-called" course in "palm healing"???) which intensifies the light, otherwise we cannot give light because of our spiritual impurities accumulated lifetime after lifetime we've lost the power to radiate God's light and heal like Jesus once did. I know the light really works because I've experienced it over and over. It even purifies food and keeps it fresh longer. It's not a matter of believing because I didn't at first. I agree with a lot of Mahikari teachings because they are the same as yours and they count years as you do. But some teachings I'm not sure about such as having an ancestor altar and serving your ancestor food because they need the spiritual essence of food to help them through some of the hard and sometimes severe trainings many go through in the astral world. Still I don't understand why would man need a physical object [H: Touché--YOU DON'T!] to radiate God's Light to various parts of the body and pineal gland or 3rd eye. Please recommend one of your books and/or comment.

I would also like to know should I be concerned about being on the Phoenix Liberator mailing list? A couple of people I have passed the paper along to said that the Gov't watches people who are on mailing lists receiving info like this. I don't want to give up reading the Liberator because I enjoy reading truth and searching for higher spiritual knowledge. But I still would like to know.

Thank you and Dharma so graciously for your service, Peace be unto you,

M.R.

P.S: Please help me because sometimes I feel trapped. If I'm no longer a member I can't use omitama to give light--SO WE'RE TOLD. I would like to be able to always give light (God's Light) for it really helps any condition. I no longer rely on Drs. or medicine for colds. END OF QUOTING

PHYSICAL OBJECTS DON'T HEAL

I can respond in one sentence: If a thing is caused to be utilized which is of the physical to do that which is of spirit (healing) then it is unworthy and taught falsely. If you are told by a physical being in the name of Spirit--that such and such is required and limited unto select few--it is a lie and so is the speaker. God is unlimited, equal for all, open with no secrets, requires no physical "objects" and would never limit his grace and Light to self-proclaimed gurus or speakers.

These ones often prey upon the Spiritual aspect of believers and seekers--to glean that which is physical, i.e., money, recognition, ego which

As I sit to write this portion regarding missile sites and underground facilities--please understand, I simply sets self above another, etc., etc. God is within each and when you heal you only connect that power within self with the power within another--awaken it and allow it to heal. No more and no less. Yes, I suggest that you continue to remain on the list for receiving information--God protects his people from the adversary if you deny HIM not. In seeking security you lose it for in the seeking within the physical you sever the protection of the shield of Light for which you serve. This is why the admonition of the Master Teacher/Messenger when he said: "To save your life, you must first give it."

I make no statement regarding the above person in point--for if you come into understanding of TRUTH, the question is answered. There may be methods of physical nature which assist individuals in focusing their thought energy--but it will be as individual as are you each unique. To, however, cause the wearing or using of ANYTHING PHYSICAL to focus or disperse GOD'S LIGHT is an impossibility for God utilizes nothing of the "physical"--if a device focuses in actuality--it can only focus that which is "physical" in nature or manufacture.

Yes, the method may "work"--but it is because the person receiving the focus--believes that it will work--no more and no less. Moreover, anyone who would tell another that to have a thing "work" that "you must be a member of the club" is purely fabricated to hold you bound to the physical. This is total carnage of Spirit and binding of ones into blindness to limit ability to "find truth elsewhere". I ask that you ponder it. All of you--ponder this. God is ALL--UNLIMITED, INFINITE--GOD IS ALL--LIGHT, LOVE, HARMONY AND TOTAL BALANCE. HE IS THE WORD AND THE TRUTH AND ONLY NEEDS SPEAKERS AND WRITERS IN THIS SHORT INTERVAL UNTIL YOU ONES REMEMBER THAT YOU, TOO, HEAR AND DWELL WITH AND cannot take time to do a run-down of the world. There are other Commanders in other parts of the globe and I, for time reasons, will only handle the United States. Keep in mind that what I am going to indicate does not have to WITHIN GOD. YOU ARE THE LIGHT.

Now, as to "getting on 'their' list" to be watched, etc. Dear ones, you are SAFE on this list of participants. The groups in which you are now tinkering are the most dangerous of all to be ON. They are considered "cults" and "occult" by the establishment and you ARE ALREADY ON 'THEIR' LIST. The interesting thing about the LIBERATOR and the PHOENIX JOURNALS is that accusations are made against them--but nothing can be found upon which to accuse of either false teachings or untruth and therefore, all accusations against them are simply "that"--accusations. It is well proven that we are none of the things of which accused and it is known throughout the world. We bring only truth of Spiritual reality, we come only to prepare a place for the next coming of the higher teachers (God if you will), we are not subversive--in fact our full thrust is to SAVE YOUR CONSTITUTIONAL FOUNDATION AS A NATION, we come in peace and even your adversary KNOWS OF OUR PRESENCE--IT IS ONLY YOU PRECIOUS "CITIZENS" FROM WHOM THEY HAVE HIDDEN TRUTH. GOD attends His own--you need no Mahikari, nor preacher, nor guru--no talisman or ritual for within the Great Spirit you are "whole". Even in the "Christian" "faith" you need not a "Jesus"--you only need your relationship within that "GOD" which he represents in truth and goodness--by whatever label you choose to call GOD. So be it and please think upon this lesson for it means the difference in your journey and destination. The physical thrust will always be to bind you into the physical aspect through fear. I ask that you release the fear and limits--YOU DON'T NEED THEM AND THEY ARE THAT WHICH SHALL BE YOUR DESTRUCTION--NOT SELF INTERACTION WITH GOD. SO BE IT.

do with simple military installations, etc. I am only going to deal with underground missiles and military installations underground. I will miss some for much is being enlarged daily--but now that most of the major construction is finished it will suffice for impact to allow you to recognize how truly uninformed you are as a nation. You in the other parts of the globe can consider that you are in equal or worse shape--especially any "colony" of Great Britain.

The logical inquiry regarding these massive underground installations is "how could they do that without having huge mountains of dirt to move and it would show!" No it would not--they have equipment now that will tunnel and melt the earth material into substance which can be utilized for the walling and shoring. This condenses the quantity of material into a small percentage of that with which the project begins. This tunneling equipment works with a diameter much larger than the average sized home so you can see how advanced is the technology.

I ask you not to write me about specifics nor locations--I welcome any information which any of you wish to share for either my private confirmation or for sharing but please do not expect me to give specifics or long dissertations on various locations for I shall not do so--I hesitate to even give this much information for I will have to increase the shielding for my own crew because of it. I am most pleased to handle any private correspondence but it will be one-way for a period of time, perhaps. Some of these areas will only represent having underground missiles.

I will effort to give nearby sites as reference, i.e.: Alabama: Maxwell A.F.B. north of Montgomery, south of Rattville.

ALABAMA:

Anniston Army Depot south into the Tallegeeda National Forest under Cheah Mtn., drawing water from the Coosu River.

Maxwell A.F.B. north of Montgomery, south of Rattville--drawing water from the Alabama River. Fort Rucker: MAJOR SITE--very large area. North to Brundidge, east incl. Arifton, southeast to Ozark, south almost to Hartford and west, almost to Elba. Drawing water from the Pea River Res., predominantly.

ALASKA:

Massive water tunnels and underground facilities and missile sites in an area running from Kotzebue to Ruby to and including all of Norton Bay.

In the Fairbanks area including all of the Harding Lake Rec. Area. Stoney Creek area, in the vicinity of the Redoubt Volcano. [H: You should pick up a great "clue" right here!]

ARIZONA:

Arizona is so sprinkled with installations housing missiles that it is hard to separate them from Nevada so I will include the south-east corner of Nevada also.

Small installation between Mesquite and Glendale.

Large installations between Searchlight and Boulder City.

Border of Nev./Ca. directly north of Needles, Ca. in line south from above installation.

East of Kingman some 35 miles east, past junction of 40 and 93. Right under and around I-40 directly in-line south of Peach Springs. Desolate territory with few landmarks.

Area under I-40 between (approx midway) Winona and Winslow.

West of Phoenix under I-10, approx. midway between Wintersburg and Quartzsite.

Between Yuma and Casa Grande on (under) I-8, approximately midway between Mohawk and Sentinel.

North of Yuma on H-95 approximately midway from intersection of H-95 and I-8 and Quartzsite.

Fort Huachuca near border with Mexico in general area of Huachuca City.

ARKANSAS:

In Arkansas there is a different situation wherein you have a lot of useful natural formations which allow for utilization. Most of the facility activity has been focused on the Ft. Smith area taking in the entire Ft. Chaffee military res.

CALIFORNIA:

California has so many installations that it is all but impossible to point to them all. The ones along the coast are set up so as to be open for massive underground moving of equipment in event of quake or coastal devastation. Underground tunnels are structured in order to move nuclear submarines from the Long Beach area to inland to tunnels to move ground equipment by surface to inland. We will not focus on any one area to great extent for as we list the area, say, of Lancaster, it will generally take in Lancaster, Palmdale, Mojave, Edwards and up to Tehachapi areas of Northrop, Lockheed, etc. Remember that in this particular listing I am giving you "general areas".

Starting at the north end of the state: a very large area including all of the Round Valley Indian Res.

Area all around Ball Mountain intersecting area of Red Bluff and including Red Bluff.

Massive area including just south of Alturas, including Likely and Madeline and east almost to Eagleville. Includes the entire origin of the South Fork which eventually makes its way to the Pit River.

Oroville

Downieville

Yuba City and overlapping:

Nevada City, overlapping south to Grass Valley (massive area).

Lake Tahoe-Tahoma-Emerald Bay Placerville area from Coloma to El Dorado to Kyburz

There is a NOTICEABLE absence of major facilities around San Francisco, but a MAJOR dual installation directly east in Nevada at Hawthorne and including (under) southern portion of Walker Lake. Coastal missile facility including Pacific Grove Monterey to Salinas--including Ft. Ord.

West of King City, including all of Hunter Liggett Mil. Res. south including Nacimiento Reservoir east to overlap facility which takes in a large area including Camp Roberts and Paso Robles.

Major crucial sites at area of Camp Nelson northeast of Porterville and entire area of Tule River Indian Res. and on south almost to Woody--in the Sequoia Nat'l Forest.

China Lake--massive.

China Lake Naval Weapons Dep.--massive.

Fort Irwin--massive. On H-54 southwest of China Lake, northeast Tehachapi, approx. 50 mi. northeast Mojave--large facility. Lancaster/Palmdale and points east: MASSIVE, taking in areas from northwest of Barstow to east of Barstow to some 30 or so miles east of Barstow on I-15 (desolate area).

This area is in conjunction with the mammoth area of the Nellis bombing and gunnery range and the entire Las Vegas area.

In the Palmdale/Lancaster area must be included Edwards A.F.B., a facility on H-395 at Adalanto and a facility on I-15 between Victorville and Barstow (about mid-way). These sites located on major interstates and well traveled roads are to allow for checking stations as you move further into the controlled environment. These are located in areas wherein there are major connections with interstate facilities--some three to five just between L.A. and L.V.

The entire Twentynine Palms Marine Corps Base and area between and including Ludlow to Twentynine Palms.

Facility on I-40 about midway between Ludlow and Needles.

Long Beach is a massive underwater facility with water tunnels which connect all the way inland past San Bernardino with connecting travel tunnels to both Lancaster area and the Marine Base.

South to the Salton Sea--the entire area including Chocolate Mtn. Gunnery Range.

The entire area just east (into Ariz) of the Colorado River Indian Res. Starting at Capistrano and south through all of Camp Pendelton, including Oceanside.

Moving on south to southeast: Capitan Ind. Res., then on I-8, the Manzanita Ind. Res., east to Brawley to include the Parachute Test Range and Naval Air Facility near El Centro and on east to the entire Yuma Indian Res.

COLORADO:

Moving west to east on I-70: Parachute; Vail (large political facility); site of Eisenhower Mem. Tunnel. On I-25 south from Denver, all of the Air Force Academy, south to the area southeast of Colorado Springs (Ft. Carson).

All of the area east of I-25 at Fountain north of Pueblo; this is actually a place known as Peterson A.F.B. This is a major and important location.

CONNECTICUT, MASSACHUSETTS, RHODE ISLAND:
Chicopee/Springfield

Woodstock (large facility both Mass./Conn.)

New London

Worcester (Quinugamond)

Fitchburg (Ft. Devans)

All the Military Reservation and Nat'l Guard Facility east of Buzzard Bay.

FLORIDA:

Florida is a strange place in that major underground facilities are lacking but missile bases abound in clusters. This is because of the high water table and expectation that with planned earth activities the major part of Florida will be submerged. This requires that the underground bases be along the shoreline and house submarine-capable facilities.

Major installation including Foley, Ala. and the entire of Pensacola Naval Station and eastward all the way and including Freeport and De Funiak Springs and around north to Crestview.

Panama City: all of Tyndal A.F.B. (underwater and offshore)

Large area on west coast at Palmetta.

Interlocking pods all the way on east coast from Miami to the tip including Homestead A.F.B.

GEORGIA:

Major dual installation at Atlanta in an area taking in Decatur to Jonesboro.

Augusta: Total area including Fort Gordon and east to the Gov't area (massive) including the Savannah River Plant. This is a huge area. South to Savannah and including all of the Fort Stewart area.

Ft. Benning at Columbus.

IDAHO:

MAJOR INSTALLATIONS AT THE U.S. ATOMIC ENERGY COMM. RES. north-west of Idaho Falls. This is a most important facility and an extremely dangerous area.

Southeast of Boise on H-84 just northwest of Mountain Home--perhaps 10-15 miles.

All of Mountain Home military facility.

Large installation on H-84 at Malta. There is another facility just across the border in Montana about midway between Coeur D'Alene and Missoula on H-10 and one south into Nevada on H-193 south of Contact.

ILLINOIS:

There are only a couple of important bases in Illinois because it is expected that with great earth changes there will be no Illinois. There is an installation and missile sites at Chicago and facilities of both kinds at Chanute A.F.B. south of Rantoul. Ft. Massac at the Ky. border north of Paducah.

INDIANA:

Atterbury Reserve Forces Training Ground including Brown County State Park.

Crane Naval Weapons Support Center

Jefferson Proving Grounds

Vaconia and entire area connected to include Fort Knox and Federal Depository.

IOWA:

Iowa can sleep well but don't expect to have an unexpected place to run for shelter. You have some scattered missile sites but no major underground facilities or major missile pods.

Personal Log

3/6/92 #1 HATONN

As we finally sit to write this day I am reminded to warn all you computer users about this "virus" under point. You are actually caught between a rock and hard place because most of the "fix-it" virus eater programs are actually infected with a much worse program to hit you later. I suggest you check you equipment often and STORE YOUR MATERIAL DAILY IF POSSIBLE.

PICTURES ON BATHROOM WALL:

This is urgent to "Harry". Do not allow this mildew and mold to continue its growth--the whole experience is completely out of hand and you will find yourselves becoming unbalanced because of it. You focus too much on this "picture" formation and have not realized that you are allowing a very dangerously toxic situation to build on your walls. I not only see what it is that you "see" but I see many, many more which you did not point out to me. Please stop attending these outlined visions for none are of the Light and all are very negative to your mental peace. Have those walls scoured with and disinfected with a bleach solution which kills mold and mildew and paint the walls or whatever is necessary. I realize this may not be possible but surely there is someone in your area that could help you in the cleansing for that much mold and mildew hosts very toxic bacteria--you have allowed that to grow for over a year and it is not good.

Please see LOG, next page

The same with the spider webs--get them cleaned up for they are capturing the spores from the grime, molds and mildew and can create a most toxic environment. Please, I ask you to attend this as soon as is possible. Do not "wait" longer to see what develops for only disease will develop.

GLASSES FOR PETS

Dear one who writes about goggles for beloved pets, I have no real answer for you. To my knowledge there are no places to get such goggles but surely if you can rig them and they are available, you can utilize them. Animals tend, however, to take better precautions than do humans and will seek dark places for protection--with eyelids shut while depending on other senses to find safety. I'm sorry, chelas, I have no magic for you ones and I do not take your questions lightly for beloved pets become as family and God gives them into your care so certainly the concern is understood. I suggest that something can be adjusted to cover the eyes for vets do so in eye injuries where protection is mandatory. That will have to be up to you as individuals for there is no protection provided by us of the Command--just as you must attend your own protective covering.

REPTOIDS

To "Robert" in AZ. Thank you for information and suggestion regarding Reptoids. I would have to, unfortunately, remind you that the reptilian appearing humanoids are mostly fabrications of gene and DNA splicing right on your planet by very "human" hands and test-tubes with appropriate hosts. These are unstable, fragile and are "manufactured". These beings are created because of the Elite hierarchy who represented themselves as "Serpent people" and are most adversarial in intent. They are now proliferated to scare the daylight out of humanity because the human is now trained to hate and fear the snake. This is most unfortunate indeed. These beings who create this "species" of controlled entity are very much isolated to the area of Earth. If you are set-up by the adversary and move with adversarial (physical) intent you may very well be concerned. If you are within God's circle--you have nothing to fear and certainly not from "space".

I am working as fast as the scribe's hands will go to get that very information out to you--involving many of the projections. We must, however, take the most urgent in proper sequence. If you have no society left--then it matters little about those things. We must give you information first which can allow you ability to CHANGE.

As to those who claim that the government and workers are hostage to these aliens and little "grays", I have but this to say about it: if this be true why do those very ones keep the underground for their own use and YOU ARE NOT EVEN ALLOWED TO KNOW WHERE THEY ARE??? If the government and military were not the perpetrators and developers wouldn't they just turn them loose on YOU? These pale salamander people might well exist but it certainly seems that the government keeps them all to selves. For that matter what causes you to think that we won't usurp some of those safety tunnels for you-the people?

You know why you can tell who is doing what to whom--by the level of "evil" in every form of activity! God hides nothing in the secret places and HIS security is open as the Light of which it IS.

APOLOGY

I apologize to Mrs. "Biron" who contacted America East and sent 8 or 10 pages of material "setting me straight" on the Bible and offering to sign me up in some Bible Study classes in order to save my soul and those of our workers. I am most at peace directly with God and certainly do not believe that lessons on Canaan, etc. will improve my lot very much. I do, however, thank you for the time and effort in outlaying such a lot of information from the Bible as regards Noah, Ham, etc. I believe you have stated about every verse I have used and only our conclusions are at total opposition. I hope to find time to share with our readers for I appreciate your input. Please bear with me in patience until we can get into these other subjects, or, I shall hand it over to my Captain, Sananda, and you will get a far better response at any rate.

My plea to all of you is to withdraw from tedium on past subjects, get yourselves right with God--NOW and allow us to attend that which MUST BE TENDED to entend this experience into suitable evolution. To witness is wondrous indeed but to witness with incorrect conclusions is dangerous at best and without actions, simply witnessing does naught.

HOLOCAUST TATTOOS

To Mz. Goodman, the most ungracious and insulting person who wrote saying that she was tattling to the World Zionist Organization regarding our filth and lies, I thank you for your bothering to write. I do not take exception--I only demand that YOU GIVE ME FACTS TO DISPROVE THAT WHICH I SAY!! THE WORLD ZIONIST ORGANIZATION IS, BY THE WAY, A FINGER OF THE ANTI-DEFAMATION LEAGUE STRAIGHT OUT OF BRITISH INTELLIGENCE IN SERVICE TO THE CROWN OF ENGLAND--AND HAS NOTHING TO DO WITH "JEWS". IF YOU ARE SO SECURE IN YOUR BELIEF THAT A FEW TATTOOS PROVE ANYTHING--I SUGGEST YOU GO TO ANY NAVY PORT--A TATTOO PROVES NOTHING. I have never said there was no Holocaust--I SAID: THERE WAS NO HOLOCAUST AS PRESENTED TO THE WORLD TO BELIEVE. CERTAINLY ONES WERE DAMAGED--WAR DAMAGES AND KILLS--EVEN WARS PAID FOR BY YOUR OWN ELITE MONEY-MONGERS. IF THE HOLOCAUST IS AS YOU ONES PROJECT IT TO BE--FACTS WILL PROVE YOUR POINT AND DISPROVE MINE--FAIRLY BY FACT--NOT UNDER LEGAL COVER DENYING DISCUSSION AND FREEDOM TO INQUIRE.

I personally have no interest in your Holocaust--MY MISSION IS TO BRING TRUTH AND I SHALL PRESENT IT AS IT IS--NOT AS SELECT GROUPS PREFER IT TO BE TOLD IN THE TOTAL ABSURD CHANGING OF HISTORY AND EVENTS OF HISTORICAL NATURE. You who wish to remain uninformed and cast stones upon the questioners--so be it for the ultimate "loss" will be yours!

I am not an anti-Semite, Ma'am, I AM (WAS) A SEMITE. I CAN PROMISE YOU, HOWEVER, THAT YOU ARE NOT. I was a Judean and

I was a Semite from the tribe of Shem and it is unlikely that I CAN BE an anti-Semite. It is you ones who have not your factual history and places straight. I do not understand the measure of your "racism" in that it seems unthinkable to question facts and mathematical numbers regarding an incident when the uninformed simply blast back in heinous insult and bigotry offering death to the speaker. Is THIS not racism? Is this not anti-Something? Fact is, ma'am, it is being anti-Semitic and you have your facts quite wrong. By your very intent and words you WERE NOT PRESENT IN THE HOLOCAUST--I WAS! I suggest you ponder this. I shall be happy to publish your letter for I am open and sharing. I do not, however, intend to pursue the matter a moment longer at this writing. You are ready to move into Holocaust beyond anything ever happening now or before on your planet--I think you had best be in preparation for this one and set the other to the side and refocus importance of survival. What do the "Jews" have to hide in that you are so unrelenting to thought? Why do you continue this hatred? I suggest you look into the reasons therefor--and you will find them in this information. You have been made the dupe and the fool--an you are most welcome to tell all the Jewish organizations you can find. I can not believe that anyone FORCED YOU TO READ THE PAPER NOR THE JOURNALS SO I SEE NOT YOUR PROBLEM. WHAT IS IT THAT YOU DESIRE TO HAVE "NOT QUESTIONED"? YES, I BELIEVE WE BOTH KNOW THE ANSWER TO THAT ONE. GOD TELLS YOU TO STUDY BOTH SIDES OF ALL AND THEN TRUTH CAN FLOW THROUGH INSIGHT AND KNOWLEDGE--NOT BY ENFORCEMENT OF THE SECRET. WHERE IS YOUR "PROOF" OF SUCH HAPPENINGS?

The worse atrocities happened in the Khazarian Zionists run camps hidden by the ones called "Soviet". The horror upon the "Jews" were thus inflicted--why does you American fellow-citizen stand responsible? Why do you come forth in America and deny Constitutional freedom to your brother who believes not as you? You must understand something quite important madam--I come for those who wish to receive me--I come not to thrust anything upon anyone--including you and if you do not believe me to be who I say I am--then should I turn you over to the Cosmic Council Organization (CCO)? Would that not be as appropriate as your informing the ADL and WZO? I see, racism is alright for you but not for your brother! So be it.

My subject in point is the CIA and I would like to return to that information. We have interrupted far too long with the other dictation of the day. It is late and the day has been hard and long, Dharma. Please let us just write for a while and then we will close for this day. I must remind you to disallow the slings and arrows, chela, for the adversary is always at his work through the ignorant and "trusting"--those who have "faith" in their leaders and political strong-arms. You should never have "faith" in politicians--only in God should there be "faith"--politicians and elite Man should always be considered with suspicion and NEVER ON FAITH.

Don't abuse the old term: "Learn from mistakes" as regards repeating errors. Your Elite Conspirators aren't doing this massive criminal activity through lack of learning--they learned perfectly and are doing exactly that which will destroy you--because they know how and have practiced the scenario over and over again. Global 2000 is at hand and you will hear ones in the political campaigns even referring to Bush's Plan 2000. I suggest you get informed for it is being brought into your attention now in preparation for the "boom" to fall.

anciers, several of the companies' operations were actually long in the hands of one rather singular man, George Doole, Jr. Until his retirement in 1971, Doole's official titles were president of the Pacific Corporation and chief executive officer of Air America and Air Asia; it was under his leadership that the CIA air proprietaries blossomed.

Doole was known to his colleagues in the agency as a superb businessman. He had a talent for expanding his airlines and for making them, functionally if not formally, into profit-making concerns. In fact, his proprietaries proved something of an embarrassment to the agency because of their profitability. While revenues never quite covered all the costs to the CIA of the original capital investment, the huge contracts with U.S. government agencies resulting from the war in Indochina made the Pacific Corporation's holding (CAT, Air America, and Air Asia) largely self-sufficient during the 1960s. Consequently, the CIA was largely spared having to pay in any new money for specific projects.

Some of the agency's top officials, such as the former Executive Director-Comptroller and the chief of Planning, Programming, and Budgeting, felt uncomfortable with the booming business Doole managed, but they did nothing to change it. The Executive Director once privately explained the inaction: "There are things here better left undisturbed. The point is that George Doole and CAT provide the agency with a great number of services, and the agency doesn't have to pay for them." Among the other services he provided was his ability as a straight-faced liar: asked by the New York Times in 1970 whether his airlines had any connection with the CIA, Doole said: "if 'someone out there' is behind all this, we don't know about it". At that time Doole had been working for the CIA for seventeen years, and for most of those years had held a CIA "supergrade" position.

Doole's empire was formally placed under the CIA's Directorate of Support on the agency's organization chart, although many of its operations were supervised by the Clandestine Services. But so little was known inside CIA headquarters about the air proprietaries which employed almost as many people as the agency itself (18,000) that in 1965 a CIA officer with extensive Clandestine Services experience was assigned to make a study of their operations for the agency's top officials.

This officer spent the better part of a year trying to assemble the relevant data, and he became increasingly frustrated as he proceeded. He found that the various proprietaries were constantly trading, leasing, and selling aircraft to each other, that the tail numbers of many of the planes were regularly changed; and that the mixture of profit-making and covert flight made accounting almost impossible. He finally put up a huge map of the world in a secure agency conference room and used flags and pins to try to designate what proprietaries were operating with what equipment in what countries. (The CAT jet that crashed on Taiwan in 1968 was on lease from Southern Air Transport.) This officer later compared his experience to trying to assemble a military order of battle, and his estimate was that his map was at best 90 percent accurate at any given time. Finally, Helms, then Deputy Director, was invited in to see the map and be briefed on the complexity of the airlines. A witness described Helms as being "aghast".

That same year the Executive committee for Air (Ex Comm Air) was formed in order to keep abreast of the various air proprietaries. Lawrence Houston, the agency's General Counsel, was appointed chairman, and representatives were appointed from the Clandestine Services, the Support Directorate, and the agency's executive suite. But the proceedings were considered so secret that Ex Comm Air's executive secretary was told not to keep minutes or even notes.

In 1968, Ex Comm Air met to deal with a request from George Doole for several million dollars to "modernize" Southern Air Transport. Doole's justification for the money was that every major airline in the world was using jets, and that Southern needed to follow suit if it were to continue to "live its cover". Additionally, Doole said that Southern could have equipment as effective as possible in the event the agency had to call on it for future contingencies in Latin America.

Previous to Doole's request, the agency's Board of National Estimates had prepared a long-range assessment of events in Latin America. This estimate had been approved by the Director and sent to the President as the official analysis of the intelligence community. The conclusions were generally that political, economic, and social conditions in Latin America had so deteriorated that a long period of instability was at hand; that existing American policy was feeding this instability; and that there was little the United States could do, outside of providing straight economic and humanitarian assistance, to improve the situation. The estimate strongly implied that continued open U.S. intervention in the internal affairs of Latin American nations would only make matters worse and further damage the American image in that region. This estimate came much closer to recommending future American policy than almost any other paper previously prepared by the Board of National Estimates. The board member in charge of its preparation was a former division chief and chief of station in the Clandestine Services. He and his colleagues apparently hoped that the estimate would have a direct bearing on future agency covert operations in Latin America.

At the meeting on Southern Air Transport's modernization request, Doole was asked if he thought expanding Southern's capabilities for future interventions in Latin America conformed with the conclusions of the estimate. Doole remained silent, but a Clandestine Service officer working in paramilitary affairs replied that the estimate might well have been a correct appraisal of the Latin American situation and that the White House might accept it as fact, but that non-intervention would not necessarily become official American. The Clandestine Services man pointed out that over the years there had been other developments in Latin America--in countries such as Guatemala and the Dominican Republic--where the agency had been called on by the White House to take action against existing political trends; that the CIA's Director had a responsibility to prepare estimates for the White House as accurately as possible; but that the Director (and the Clandestine Services and Doole) also had a responsibility to be ready for the worst possible contingencies.

In working to strengthen Southern Air Transport and his other proprietaries, Doole and the Clandestine Services were following one of the basic maxims of covert action: Build assets now for future contingencies. It proved to be persuasive strategy, as the Director personally approved Doole's request and Southern received its several million dollars for jets. When the CIA tried to sell off Southern in 1973, only three propeller-driven planes were listed in its inventory. It is not known what happened to the jets, but it is a safe bet that somehow they have been transferred to a better-hidden CIA proprietary.

The meeting ended inconclusively. Afterward the CIA officer who had been questioning Doole and the Clandestine Services man was told that he had picked the wrong time to make a stand.

So if the U.S. government decides to intervene covertly in the internal affairs of a Latin American country--or elsewhere, for that matter--Doole's planes will be available to support the operation. These CIA airlines stand ready to drop their legitimate charter business quietly and assume the role they were established for: the transport of arms and mercenaries for the agency's "special operation". The guns will come from the CIA's own stockpiles and from the warehouses of Interarmco and other international arms dealers. The mercenaries will be furnished by the agency's Special Operations Division, and, like the air proprietaries, their connection with the agency will be "plausibly deniable" to the American public and the rest of the world.

Doole and his colleagues in the Clandestine Services have worked hard over the years to build up the airlines and the other assets for paramilitary action. Their successors will fight hard to retain this capability--both because they want to preserve their own secret empire and because they believe in the rightness of CIA clandestine intervention in other countries' internal affairs. They know all too well that if the CIA never intervened, there would be little justification for their existence.

We shall take up the subject, next, of propaganda and disinformation. This seems to be what these secret services are the very best at doing.

I would like to comment before leaving, on the recent interviews and debates in which Col. Gritz is participating. As patriotic Americans--I cannot imagine that your heart is not beating a bit more strongly with that kind of a devoted person at the helm of your ship. Of all the ones "debating" in his circles--HE IS THE ONLY ONE STICKING SOLELY TO THE CONSTITUTION AS WRITTEN WITHOUT ASSUMING "RIGHTS" NOT CONSTITUTIONAL TO A MAN WHO MIGHT HEAD THE GOVERNMENT. AH, BUT WOULD THAT IT BE POSSIBLE TO UNITE AND WITH THAT LEADERSHIP YOU COULD TURN THIS "SHIP" (OF STATE) ABOUT IN REVOLUTION BACK TO THAT WHICH WAS FREEDOM AND SOVEREIGNTY. MAY THE MASSES BE GIVEN INSIGHT INTO UNDERSTANDING AND THEN INTO ACTION. HOLD STRONG, SON, FOR THE WORST AND THE BEST IS YET TO BE. I SALUTE YOU COMMANDER.

Hatonn to clear. Peace be thine partner. Good evening.

Underground Facilities, Part II.

3/6/92 #2 HATONN

TAPE 1 SIDE A: MIS-SILE SITES

H: Good morning, Dharma. Thank you for attending my needs this day. I would prefer that we put these military bases with installations on them and sites of missiles and underground facilities onto a tape. It is too time consuming the way we were working with it yesterday. All we need are general locations but I find that everyone is getting very tedious about it, wanting extremely large amounts of information and I'm not going to go into that. So I feel that the best approach to this is for you just to sit here and you're going to have to learn to deal with this situation of looking. I will effort at giving you the locations and I believe that spelling these proper names will be your biggest problem so, please bear with me if I forget. All you've got to do is go and look upon a road map of some kind but I will endeavor to spell things as we go along and then whether Dharma or someone else takes it off of the tape to list it, it will save us a great deal of time.

We have made it to Kentucky and as our treasure maps are laid forth, Kentucky and Tennessee are adjacent and also on the same pages. Again, I am stressing that I am utilizing installations big enough that they were started in construction many years past and have been continually in development. There will be one or two that we will list, as in California in the area of facilities, as with Angeles Crest National Forest, where those missile sites were put in and since removed, as far as you know. However, those silos have been utilized and the tearing down of those bases and the vandalism which ensued was all very purposeful and other facilities have been built on top of those areas which you would recognize as something else--either a youth camp, some surface governmental installation or private incarceration facility--so that you are not curious about it. I can tell you now that every vacated missile silo is attached to something underground. I cannot possibly list all of those places.

You in local areas put out your grapevine. You'll find out. It's like our friend, Mr. Quade, said, "Well, that's not a conspiracy and that can't be a conspiracy because everyone knows." No, everyone doesn't know and a conspiracy is two, three or more working together to secretly plan an illegal act--as a result, these are conspiracies. It's very hard to keep total silence but you will note in the area of Tehachapi most of the ones who work and live in the area work in those underground facilities, or have in the past as they are ending their construction phase, so you will find almost a vacated city. There are reasons why ones remain quiet. For one thing, they don't know what they're doing, they just simply work at one of those facilities but that's neither here nor there. Let us move on now. I believe we're ready to begin. We're going to start with Kentucky.

KENTUCKY & TENNESSEE

There is an extremely large base and facility that runs north of Hopkinsville, down south inclusive to the west of Fort Campbell Military Reservation. This one will receive water from the great reservoir there, the lake to the east, Lake Barkley and it will also pull from the underground of the Cumberland River. This is an extremely large installation with silos with a lot of stuff going on underground. This is the major Tennessee installation. It's difficult to leave out the installations which cross borders, so we'll move over to Kentucky and to the north at Madison, Indiana. Just across the border close to Carrollton, you will find the Jefferson Proving Ground. There is a very large experimental installation in that area, mostly on the side of Indiana.

Moving downward to Louisville and on west, you will find Fort Knox. We've spoken of that before. I won't go into it. It's a military reservation with installation.

Moving eastward to Danville inclusive of Perryville, there is a large installation.

Those are the major points of importance as far as defense or research in both Kentucky and Tennessee.

KANSAS

We will go to the east of the state to Manhattan Military Base with installation at Fort Riley Military Reservation that includes Ogden and it runs under Interstate 70.

Then eastward to Leavenworth. There is a Fort Leavenworth, this is an extremely, extremely important installation with large facilities underground. There is a federal prison and there is a massive installation beneath that prison.

Anywhere where you have major prison facilities such as you do in Tehachapi, California, you're going to have installations beneath that prison and they use prison labor and especially ones who are put into isolation for any period of time and ones that you would recognize as being on death row, they are utilized for labor for these underground installations.

LOUISIANA

Move southward from Shreveport to Leesville and you will find Fort Polk Military Reservation. That is a reservation and an installation. That is the only important site in LOUISIANA even though there are many other bases.

You will have to understand that areas along the Mississippi River are not utilized for underground facilities, there are other plans for that river and it doesn't protect those underground facilities.

While we are here, however, I feel that we should mention Mississippi because in conjunction with LOUISIANA, you see, the federal government divides your nation into districts, it does not divide them into states and we have a little problem for your understanding and there's going to be overlapping of states so if I mention them twice, please, understand.

Moving to the east along I-10, you will come to Biloxi, passing Gulfport, to the Beauvoir Jefferson Davis Home which is a park setting. Again, pay attention to where they have these parks. That is Keesler Air Force Installation. That is a very, very important area with a massive underwater installation.

MAINE

At the very upper part of the state, at Caribou, just to the north of it including a place called Limestone, is a rather large inland facility.

Moving all the way to the south of the state to the area of Brunswick, you will find the entire area under Popham Beach is a water facility with submarine capability and underwater missiles. By the way, some of the missiles are Russian or Soviet missiles and have been in the area for a long time and this is part of the reason for the installation as a defense mechanism against those Soviet missiles out there offshore.

MICHIGAN

Michigan is clean. That is not good news. That is because there is full expectation when the New Madrid Fault goes, it is expected to take Michigan with it or at least the northern part of the state of Michigan.

MINNESOTA

Minnesota is clean. You have a lot of area above the ground but no major, major sites where great research is going on. There are some missile sites in and around Minnesota but no installations or research.

MISSISSIPPI

The only one of notable worth is the one at Biloxi.

MISSOURI

You have two major experimental facilities with missiles.

Whiteman Air Force Base at Knob Noster. It will take in the entire area between Knob Noster and south to Windsor. This will encircle to the east of Sedalia.

Southeast to Waynesville, you will find Leonardwood Military Reservation. This is a very large installation.

MONTANA

A large area around Kalispell, south and including Marion and it takes in all of the Bitterroot Lake Recreation area.

Moving south to Missoula, encircling an area from Frenchtown to Milltown including Potomac and including all of the area under the Forest Service Fire Department buildings and that part of the forest. It's a National Forest. It is the Lolo National Forest. A lot of the work is performed through the University of Montana. Much genetic development, DNA replication studies have been performed in that area.

Great Falls and to the west of the city taking in the area of a place, not necessarily a military reservation, but a place called Fort Shaw.

South of Dillon just north of a little place called Dell on I-15, under it, there is an installation and there are underground missiles.

Please note that in many of these descriptions I'm giving you, they actually are on or under major transportation routes.

Now north and east find Glasgow. This is Fort Peck Recreational Area. This is a very large area. It is just north of Fort Peck Lake and uses a lot of water from that lake.

NEBRASKA

One of the most important of installations, Norad, is located very near and north of Omaha. This runs approximately to Blair, west almost to Winslow and the Elkhorn River runs directly through it.

Moving southward to a very, very important place where a lot of the monkeys meet and it would seem a totally unreasonable place for them to meet until you consider Norad and then you have to realize there are massive underground facilities.

Just south of Omaha at Offutt Air Force Base is a major, critical, crucial installation.

NEVADA

Nevada district will take some doing, so bear with me. There are some extremely important major, major facilities. They are so important that I hesitate to even... I should just take Nevada as an entire state and call it dangerous.

Beginning at the north almost mid-section of HWY 95 at a place close to, well it would be identified as Granite Peak on mapping, just north of Oroville, is a major missile underground site.

Moving down HWY 95, just south of Imlay, is an underground missile site very close to Ryepatch Reservoir. The important landmark is Star Pk.

Moving back up HWY 95 to where it changes into Interstate 80, southeast of Golconda, on I-80 is an underground missile site.

Move on across I-80, when you get to HWY 93, go north and just north of Wilkins is a small installation right under that HWY.

Moving on to the east on I-80 about midway between Oasis and Wendover with a landmark of Pilot Peak. By the way, Pilot Peak is quite a way from that road but that is the siting landmark. There is a pretty good sized underground missile installation and it probably is referred to in the circles as Silver Zone Pass.

Go back to the western part of the state. North of Reno and Sparks on a road 445, you will find the Reno Naval Air Station. That's an extremely important one.

Traveling along I-80, west of Lovelock, you will find two landmarks. These are catacombed with missiles. One is the Humboldt Sink and the other Carson Sink. These are both areas which are closed to the public. One extends under I-80. You will find practically no reference to these two most important missile sites.

South near the western border

with California near Hawthorne is a massive Department of Defense Depot. It actually is a disposal site. This is a massive, very, very important installation and from this area comes a lot of the contamination that is surfacing in the Mono Lake area in California.

There is massive activity of every kind in the Toiyabe National Forest.

Just north of Gabbs on 361 is an underground missile pod. These missile pods or sites are big enough for underground offices and living facilities.

East of Lida, under the intersection of 266 and 95 is an underground missile complex.

Under 95 at the intersection of 374 at a place just northeast of Beatty is a large installation of underground missiles. This is directly connected to the California installation which includes an underground missile facility under road 395 attached to the U.S. Naval Ordnance Test Station and, of course, is attached to the China Lake Military Reservation. This is an extremely important, critical facility.

In California to the southeast you'll find the China Lake Naval Weapons Center and Fort Irwin Military Reservation and then between Yermo, on I-15, and Baker is a major underground missile facility.

At the California/Nevada border is another underground missile facility, quite small, but these ones on these highways are set for surfacing and the installation will be brought above ground and these will be your ways of stopping interstate travel. Most especially, it will be important to stop travel from California, for many reasons, into Nevada.

In Nevada, of course, and surrounding the entire area of the Nellis Air Force Range, all the way from Warm Springs, west to Tonopah, circling down to the facility and Lida, through and including Scottys Jct., on down to Beatty, including Lathrop Wells, Indian Springs, circling back up in a wide circle to Alamo, you will find in that area a large underground missile base. It's hard to identify. Its HQ is on Hwy 93, just south of Alamo.

Moving up through Hiko and then making a swinging easterly circle back to Warm Springs, that includes all of the Nellis Air Force Range. It includes Papas Lake which is dry and at that point you find the Nevada Test

Site. You are going to refer to it as Yucca Flats, I believe, and within that you're going to find Yucca Mountain and you're going to find it interesting to realize that it is not even attached to Nellis Air Force Base except by tunnel.

Moving southward to Las Vegas, you will, of course, find Nellis Air Force Base just barely to the NE of the city.

You will find a major missile base midway between the junction of 168, 317 and I-15 near Mesquite.

Two underground missile sites, one on I-15 near the border of Calif. just a little west of Jean and then, moving south to Searchlight on Hwy 95, another just north of the intersection of 163.

NEW HAMPSHIRE/VERMONT

These are only separated by the river. These have to be extremely general. They are military installations but they are unmarked and for all practical purposes would never be known.

In the northwest upper corner of New Hampshire, under the area of the Jay Peak Ski Area, then to the Cochran Ski Area, including the Bolton Valley Ski Area and south including the Mad River Glen Ski Area, near Woodstock is the Killington Ski Area, then the Magic Mountain Ski Area and the Mt. Snow Ski Area.

Now to Vermont: to the east of Franconia are large underground installations with missiles at Cannon Mountain, circling down into the area called Old Man of the Mountains.

West of Conway is Waterville Valley Ski Area.

Then Sanbornville Moose Mountain Ski Area and then, of course, you get to Portsmouth, all of the area under Rye Harbor. These are rather sophisticated living facilities included along with the missile and defensive installations. A lot of research takes place in these areas but, as much as anything, this is a facility for Elite housing with a protection of these sophisticated missile systems.

NEW JERSEY

New Jersey is basically a forfeit state with most installations being quite public. There is a large installation with missiles in place at Fort Dix Military Reservation. That is near Wrightstown.

South to Browns Mills and just south along a little road of 539, almost including Whiting, is a large Air Force missile installation and facility.

NEW YORK

On HWY 11 from just south of Watertown to just north of Pulaski, a very long distance that includes underneath the town of Adams, is a large missile installation and facility.

Northeast of that area on HWY 11, under HWY 11 at the intersection which would enter Fort Drum Military Reservation, there is a missile installation under that road at that intersection attached to Fort Drum. A very large military reservation with missile and facility.

West Point is a very critical underground facility.

I have very little to say about Long Island Sound, it is forfeit.

New York is forfeit, by that I mean New York City.

This is Side 2 regarding military installations with underground and major security facilities and missiles and also missile sites with small facilities.

NEW MEXICO

You will find only a couple of underground facilities but, of course, they are absolutely, incredibly huge.

The entire area of White Sands Missile Range around Alamogordo, all the way south into Texas at El Paso, crossing the river and taking in a little bit of borderland of Mexico, underground. You've got massive facilities above the ground. You have incredible, incredible multi-level underground facilities. Beneath the ground, you have alien alternates; that will be where your shuttles have been stored--this is the biggest lie on your planet.

Now, as you consider New Mexico, you will find every major freeway and roadway has multiple, multiple missile and facility sites for blocking all incoming traffic from every direction. These will rarely be at cities or towns. They will always be out in the open between places so I can only give you the general mid-location.

We'll start with the one to farthest west on I-40, that is also Route 66.

There is one very near the border east of Lupton, midway to Gallup.

There is one at a little place called Blue Water, almost in the little town running under the little town.

As you get to Albuquerque, of course, you have a large military installation with facilities at Kirtland Air Force Base.

On I-40 between Clines Corners and Santa Rosa.

North on I-25 there is an installation with missiles at approximately Pecos.

Further north on 25 is a regular size installation with missiles at Fort Union National Monument, approximately. That is midway between Watrous and Wagon Mound.

Up I-25 is a small one midway between Maxwell and Raton.

Then outside Raton at the border at Raton Pass is another very large one, missiles with facility.

In Colorado, north of Trinidad, also on I-25 is another.

Let us move now on down through the state.

At Clovis, you have a large facility with missiles under Cannon Air Force Base and there is an oasis there that is just northwest of Portales.

Back to I-25, a missile base and large facility to the west of White Sands, under I-25.

On I-10 midway between Lordsburg and Deming is a large missile underground facility.

Along the border and overlapping into Texas, I think you would call it almost a four corners, east of Malaga, is just a large facility and there is very little in that area. It is well hidden. It is almost unknown. It is a large facility underground, secret.

NORTH CAROLINA

Fort Bragg Military Reservation.

In the area of Jacksonville, unlisted, but is a military installation.

At the ocean where the New River empties, you will find Camp LeJune and around Cherry Point is another military installation with missiles.

SOUTH CAROLINA

Of course, you have the entire area around the Savannah River Plant, which we've already spoken about, with lap-over or underground connections to Fort Gordon in Georgia.

Now realize that is the Savannah River Plant I just spoke of because there are other major installations at Fort Stewart at the city of Savannah.

OHIO

A unique state with very little secret underground activity. Note that none of these installations are for public utilization under any circumstances. They are for Elite survival only or they are major defense and/or Elite research facilities, very advanced research facilities.

OKLAHOMA

There are four major military installations.

One at Enid, at Vance Air

Base.

Then toward the south, Fort Sill Military Reservation at Lawton.

West to Altus. At Altus, you have also Altus Air Force Base.

Then to the south on I-44 you will come to Sheppard Air Force Base and that is at the border or close to the border of Texas near Wichita Falls.

OREGON

Large installation across the border into Washington at Richland and Kennewick, in that area, not well defined.

South into Oregon on I-84 between Boardman and Echo is a missile facility. This will be a major disposal station for travellers.

There are so many and so much going on in the area from, approximately, Le Grande, all the way to Ontario, at the border of Idaho, east into Idaho and west to almost HWY 395 that I cannot isolate them for you. That entire area is catacombed.

On HWY 84 at Biggs is a missile installation, military controlled, of course.

The coastal important one to note, and this would include great underground water capability tunneling is around Coos Bay. There is a naval air station and this, of course, is controlled by Naval Intelligence.

East across the state to Burns, in that general area, mostly in the forest area or what you would call the Ochoco National Forest, there's a large conglomerate type of installation.

At the intersection of 78 and 95 there are two, one being at that intersection more critical than the other and then a regular missile silo facility. But at that intersection is a major, important missile station.

Now let us move back to the west and there are some military underground installations in these general areas: Jacksonville, Applegate, around Medford all the way to Butte Falls and then south of Klamath Falls at Keno, on and under road 66.

Around the general area of Lakeview there are some winter sports areas and some geysers. There would be some thermal activity utilized by that particular installation.

PENNSYLVANIA

At Erie, great underwater facilities.

On I-79 south of Meadville, midway to the intersection of I-80, missile installation.

On I-80 at regular intervals, midway between intersection I-53 and Moshannon, and midway between intersection of 880 and intersection of 15, missile facility.

SOUTH DAKOTA

Major underground facility in the area of Buffalo.

Missile facility under HWY 281, south of Aberdeen.

To the east of Rapid City, almost at New Underwood on I-90, missile facility.

Reminding you that these are on heavily traveled thoroughfares for traffic control. They would also be targeted by any enemy for destruction of interstate travel facility or capability.

UTAH

I need two or three hours on Utah but I'm not going to be able to have it, obviously. Let's just start in the upper northwest.

The entire area of Hill Air Force Base and Hill Air Force Range. These are near the Great Salt Lake and include all of Ogden and Brigham City.

The Wendover Range, Desert Test Center, and Dugway Proving Grounds. No (unauthorized) body is allowed into these areas under any circumstances.

Then the Desert Range Experimental Station down west of Milford on 122.

On I-15, north of Beaver, is a missile guard installation.

On HWY 89, between Kanab and Glen Canyon, is a small missile installation.

Now let us move back up to I-70. I don't know how to explain this area to you. There is at least 180 miles of area in that barren desert including what is called the San Rafael Swell. This is to the west of Green River. There is an extremely large, important missile facility underneath I-70. There was a missile site at Green River; that was a diversion. It was a testing missile launch site; everybody knew about it but the important one was this area in point.

East of Green River near the Colorado border is another major missile installation under I-70, including a portion of the Colorado River as it runs through that area. In this particular part of Utah are massive, massive research, technology and UFO bases. Some are legitimate UFO bases. These are not necessarily your friends. I don't want to get into aliens at this time. I'm just telling you where these facilities are and these are military, United States of America

Military, so don't confuse it with aliens. In this particular area enough research has been going on that it has been monitored continually by "alien" craft--many, many sightings, legitimate sightings--in that area because we've really had our eye on what has been going on there. In this given area, all around in this area, it's divided off into districts and in some of those cliffs, buttes, mountainous areas, you have a lot of things going on including cattle mutilations, etc. I'm not going to get into all of things and ramifications of that statement here, either. Utah is a hotbed of advanced technology.

TEXAS

Texas is another area that I'll have to by-pass. I will mention as we go through in some of the cities. There are so many in Texas that I cannot, by any means, begin to label them all.

VIRGINIA/WEST VIRGINIA

The same is true of Virginia and West Virginia but I would tell you to keep your eye on the area of the U.S. Marine Corp. Reserve in the area of Triangle and at Port Royal, Camp A. P. Hill.

WASHINGTON STATE

Large facility at Winthrop.

Another at Snoqualmie Summit Area on I-90. It's a winter sports area.

Area of Tacoma, including Olympia, are large underwater experimental facilities.

Between Grand Mound and Lacey is a missile installation on I-5.

To the east, all of the U.S. Military Reserve at Yakima. It's called the Yakima U.S. Military Reserve.

Further east, of course, most important is Hanford, north of Richland, and it takes in quite a bit of the Columbia River.

Set up to guard that place is an installation on I-82.

Down the Columbia River on I-84, just over into the Oregon side, between approximately the junction of HWY 74 and the intersection of 730, under the Columbia River and I-84 is a missile facility.

When I get to the area of discussions of specific cities, I'll be a little more specific.

WISCONSIN

The only one I see of any importance really is the one at New Glarus.

WYOMING

Southern border in Wyoming. I will only give you the major locations of the missile sites.

On I-90, southeast of the intersection with I-95, midway to Gillette is a missile installation underground.

South on I-25, midway between Buffalo and Casper, just north of HWY 378 intersection is an underground missile installation.

I-80 is pock-marked with these things all the way across your nation.

Midway between Fort Bridger and Little America is a large underground missile facility.

At the Continental Divide is a large underground facility with missiles.

East of Walcott, then past McFadden, northwest of Laramie.

ALBERTA, CANADA

I have to tell you about Alberta, Canada. There is a massive underground installation, extremely important in the area of the Primrose Lake Air Weapons Range. This is an incredibly important joint venture with the United States and I might add, a little Soviet and, of course, Great Britain.

PUERTO RICO

In Puerto Rico, all around the San Juan Naval Air Station.

NOW FOR THE CITY AREAS

ATLANTA, GEORGIA

To the northwest, in the area of Smyrna, you will find an Air Force Base.

To the east, in the area of North Decatur, you'll find a Veterans Hospital. A lot of research takes place in that Veterans Hospital and in some underground laboratories located there.

In Atlanta, Fort McPherson and, of course, the Federal Prison. Then south to William Hartsfield International Airport. There are facilities there, military controlled.

CHICAGO, ILLINOIS

Chicago is riddled, even though it is not expected to survive a shift because of other problems in and around the Chicago area and the Lake Michigan area. You will find many small facilities, military facilities that do not show publicly as military installations. This means that most of the installations involved will be underground, many of them housing missiles.

MIAMI, FLORIDA

Swarms with them. All surface ones are almost in alignment, inland from the coast. I say surface because these are going to house missiles in the guise of other things, but you have to understand that you're working at the Atlantic Ocean sea-coast and a lot of these will also be tunnelled to that coastline, again I remind you that most of Florida is expected to be lost.

WASHINGTON, D.C.

Absolutely all of Washington, D.C. in the downtown area is one gigantic facility. All around that area every airport from little ones like Bower Airport to Andrews Air Force Base which, of course, is a large facility, to the Goddard Space Flight Center which is NASA--all of these areas have facilities underneath. They are rather large facilities, as a matter of fact, and everything under Washington, D.C. is catacombed with tunnels and, of course, there is missile capability. There are defensive missile silos that will open up and the surface of the area of Washington, D.C. will not be worth even experiencing. It is, of course, made for interim facilities for workers in and around the Capital who have their free tickets to security. That will only be

Is President Bush In Trouble?

3/7/92 #1 HATONN

This remains to be unraveled. Remember that Bush doesn't really care about the Presidency other than that someone be put on the throne that can be totally controlled by the throne of the U.N. (the new government of the world). Those slots may be filled in part by some wary Israelis but they will be Communist Khazarian Zionists under the monarchy/dictatorship of the Head of the Committee of 300.

You still have to have a big upset in order for Bush to TAKE TOTAL

ones attached to the Elite guard and the political hierarchy who are left in Washington, D.C. for unexpected raids. The major luxurious facilities for the high Elite, depending on the state of war that is occurring, will be shifting to Australia and other places for longer-term survival depending on the type of encounter that you have. If it is nuclear, the moment that it is realized that it will be nuclear, ones will be taken out of the Northern Hemisphere. There will be even a more select group removed at that time, but there are facilities under Washington, D.C. for your honorable Congressmen--some of them. There are not facilities enough for all to survive for a very long period of time. There will be the facilities where you can get, for instance, underground to places like Andrews Air Force Base for your royal family, the Bushes.

I believe that concludes sufficiently a breakdown of where these underground facilities are that were started some years ago against this day and are now in full operation and basically finished in construction.

I'm sorry that it has taken so long. I hope you can brief it up. I think everybody needs the information or wants the information. If you don't already have your ticket, I can assure you that you are not included. You are not going to be welcome into any of these facilities. These are not general facilities. Some families of workers and scientists who have been guaranteed security will be allowed in, but they will only allow these people in with credentials. I don't suggest that you stop building your own underground shelter. Salu.

CONTROL of your government--war is always the best plan according to the lessons of history. So let us now look to the next probability: Cuba (we wrote about this several months ago). I remind you that Jeb Bush runs the faction for war and will spring it to assist "Daddy" for he is also the one in charge of Florida's Bush campaign. Isn't it nice that they will have these few days to make final plans?

JEB BUSH AND CUBA GRAB

Tremendous amounts of money can be made by pulling Castro down and toppling the Cuban government--and highest on the list for intake are the

Middle East Events

3/7/92 #1 HATONN

Three things to watch very closely daily:

Note that in a select "poll" the Wall Street Journal stated that 33% of voters would maintain sanctions on Saddam Hussein, 27% favor assassinating him and 10% want to use ground troops and wipe out Saddam and the military.

What happened to the "good old American way?"--GET OUT OF THE COUNTRY AND LEAVE THOSE GOVERNMENTS ALONE AS YOU EXPECT OTHER NATIONS TO LEAVE YOU ALONE? WHAT WOULD YOU DO IF IRAQ OR SYRIA OR IRAN INVADED YOU?

By the way--watch those "SCUD"s waiting to be off-loaded in the Gulf--they are headed to places such as Syria and Iran and it bodes bad-news for Israel.

$10 BILLION TO ISRAEL

Watch the "hot mush" over this one--again. New "anti-Semite" ravings are now out against ones testifying in the U.S. congressional hearings. Now Economists are saying to not only deny the $10 billion but also end all subsidies to ISRAEL. This is a last ditch effort to put off the would-be King of Israel in favor of the already King of Banks.

Bushes. This has been in the offing since they murdered Kennedy.

Jeb Bush, George's second son, is in a business partnership with Cuban-American entrepreneur Armando Codina Jr.--how else do you think Miami remains the number one import area for drugs? This Codina is known as a wealthy real estate speculator but we know that is a cover, don't we? What is the plan? "To bring real capitalism to Cuba after Castro falls"--says this Codina.

Bush and Codina are not the only promoters planning to clean up after the collapse of "Communism's last bastion" in the Caribbean. "It will be like the gold fever all over again," predicts Cesar Garcia, who owns the Bonanza Auto Center in South Miami (CIA proprietary?). "Anybody can make a mint down there."

The thrust and push is on right now on Wall Street to set the operation into smooth running order. The New York Times is dutifully setting forth the details for the money-mongers as usually and as so-ordered. They think a "liberated" Cuba should possibly have the same crippling debts along the same line as the United States. They are already taking "bets" on the outstanding Cuban bonds of thirty years ago, says the Times--"AS THE FALL IS EXPECTED VERY SOON IF MILITARY ACTION IS REQUIRED!"

Those worthless bonds have been selling, if at all, for less than a nickle on the dollar. Now, suddenly, the price has tripled. This is always a sure sign the financial markets are getting ready for dinner.

But look who will benefit the most and holds most of those bonds--ones around the Bush consortium. Part of the inner circle is Jorge Mas Canosa, chairman of the Cuban American National Foundation, who has eclipsed other exile leaders in the late 1980's by becoming known as President Ronald Reagan's favorite Cuban politician.

Mas Canosa is a multi millionaire by many trades, and fully intends (no secret) to take charge of Cuba with the full support and backup of the Bush administration after some OTHER FORCE--economic ruin or resistance fighters (aided and abetted fully by the CIA)--overthrows Castro.

The interesting thing is that they do not need to use either of the above plans if Bush (George) can squeak by without a war. All they have to do--and they already have set up as their first desirable plan of action--is to use debt.

The plan is already worked out and authority "assumed" by Canosa, and negotiated to have huge debt "deals" for post-Castro Cuba.

A part of the deal, however, (already finalized) is to have ARMED SUPPORT IF NECESSARY (AND IT WILL BE) BY THE BUSH ADMINISTRATION. THEY WILL UTILIZE THE EXACT TYPE OF

NEW BOOK RELEASE

INVASION WAS CARRIED OUT IN PANAMA--THIS WILL ASSURE FULL "COOPERATION" AND CONTINUATION WITHOUT INTERRUPTION, OF THE DRUG-DEALING.

Bush and Codina are already active in several joint ventures which are established and ready for the big payoff after Castro's ouster. The most profitable promotion is a company registered as Oriental Imports Inc. It brings in cheap goods from Communist China--cheaply enough as to be made by prison labor (ouch)--for distribution in the United States and Latin America. This is all nicely fronted by the nice guys in the CIA--YOUR CIA.

This kind of shady trafficking in Communist slave-labor (or yours) products proves these so-called exile "leaders" have nothing but money on their pin-head sized brains. These are common criminals by any description and would seem to fit your description of "carpetbaggers" of old--among the most repulsive figures in any community.

Well, chelas, there is one hope for Cuba, but it becomes a long-shot that he can stay alive--one called "Rivero". Rivero (no, not Geraldo--it is Felipe) is the more popular person for the people and would free Cuba. If this happens you will have to have war or Bush will lose a bundle. You shouldn't have to wait much longer to see what works out in this little tricky deal.

DISTANCING FROM ISRAEL

I think you can see the GAME at play herein whereby the efforts are to bring distance between the U.S. administration and Israel. Don't let this fool you--every time there is war ready to be played--the distancing always comes first to protect the Israelis. The new assault against Baker and "anti-Semitic" nasties--is public show of intent to fool you--the people and hide Israel from the REAL PLANS. Bush and Baker are both on the "endangered species" list with contracts out on Bush under which Baker is dealing--so I think you will be seeing a lot of dancing and growling and then a major incident.

Gritz: "Take Capitol Hill"

3/7/92 #1 HATONN

The only prayer of pulling your government back into Constitutional order is to get Gritz elected or at least second on that administration team. You MUST UNIFY TO GET IT DONE. I see no other one with intent to restore, fully, the Constitution and sweep clean the multitudes of criminals. NOT ONE OTHER. ALL the others desire band-aids and bailing wire and PLAY POLITICS--WITH YOUR NATION AND YOUR EXISTENCE AS A NATION.

Gritz plans to put your killing debt back where it belongs--WITH THE BANKS WHO CREATED THE DEATH MACHINE AND SET YOU--THE PEOPLE FREE OF THE BURDEN. I remind you--ALL of your taxes go ONLY to pay the banks--NOT RUN YOUR GOVERNMENT. TO INSURE THIS CRIME'S SUCCESS--THE PRESIDENT HAS SOME 11,000 APPOINTED POSITIONS--AT YOUR EXPENSE. MR. GRITZ INTENDS TO CAN THEM ALL--A FEW WITH PRISON DETENTION, I SUSPECT.

WITHOUT THAT DEBT, FRIENDS, YOU CAN GET THIS NATION STARTED AGAIN--FOR YOU CAN HAVE FREE ENTERPRISE BUILT ON HONEST EXCHANGE--NOT ON NEW RULES WHICH PREVENT BUSINESS FOR OTHER THAN THE FAVORED ELITE. YOU can grow. BUT YOU MUST SEIZE THE MOMENT, DAY AND OPPORTUNITY AND BRING THIS NATION BACK AGAIN AS ONE NATION, UNDER GOD, INDIVISIBLE WITH LIBERTY AND JUSTICE FOR ALL.

You have been forced by the gross minority of people to accept and act in aberrant and deviant behavior and your nation is ready to destruct from the impact--as the entire world--but YOU MUST START WITH AMERICA AND THE WORLD CAN FOLLOW.

I marvel at your attitudes--even the New York St. Patrick's Day Parade--Irish yet! What are you doing? Why would you have a "gay group" to march?? Do you label the Irish already marching in honor of St. Patrick as "heterosexuals"? If a man or woman is homosexual, wouldn't it be more reasonable that they simply march as an Irishman in the Parade? If they are not honoring St. Patrick and the Irish--WHAT WOULD THEY BE DOING IN THE PARADE AT ANY RATE??

Why do you cower and allow the so-called Jews (or anyone) to call you bigot or anti-Semite as if you bear the plague of death? The ones who bear the plague of death are defended and forced to spread the disease among you--by LAW. WHY ARE THESE DEVIANTS ALLOWED TO DEFAME YOU FOR YOUR OPINIONS AND YET YOU MAY NOT EVEN VOICE AN OPINION REGARDING THEIR BEHAVIOR? BECAUSE YOU HAVE BEEN BRAINWASHED TO FIT WITHIN THE GUIDELINES OF THE GLOBAL PLAN 2000--ACCORDING TO THE PROTOCOLS OF THE ZIONISTS UNDER THE DIRECTION OF THE ELITE ADVERSARY TO GOD--THE GLOBAL RULERS OF THE PLANET.

Why are allowed to be labeled an insulting title if you say you don't want to send any more housing money to a foreign nation or if you say you prefer it go to Mexico across your own border? Are you a "jew-hater" because you want to feed and clothe your own child? THEN STOP THIS SICK NONSENSE. YOU ARE PROTECTED UNDER THE CONSTITUTION TO FREEDOM OF SPEECH AND BELIEF.

I DENOUNCE THESE COUNTERFEIT KHAZARIAN ZIONISTS WHO PROCLAIM THEMSELVES "JEWS" TO FOOL YOU--THEY ARE NOT!! The Holocaust of World War II COULD NOT HAVE PHYSICALLY HAPPENED AS THE ORTHODOX PRESENTATION IS PRESENTED BY THE "JEWS"--THE NUMBERS DO NOT BALANCE!!! Now, what is WRONG with my stating as much?? If their numbers can prove otherwise--then I shall stand corrected! This does not mean that I either hate, slander nor appease a group or nation which has stolen from another of God's people, the Palestinians.

And the Blacks? What about the blacks?? They are God's people--ALL, unless they deny that relationship. The British enslaved the blacks of Africa and still do so. There is NO COLOR, CREED NOR RACE IN THE HEAVENLY REALMS OF GOD--ONLY LIGHT!

I can only suggest that every one of you go STUDY THE CONSTITUTION AND THEN, STUDY MOST CAREFULLY THE PROTOCOLS OF THE ZIONISTS (AKA: COMMITTEE OF 300 GLOBALISTS). And may God give you insight as you do so. You as a mass of wondrous creations--have given away your inheritance of perfection and wealth--even in the physical experience. You have GIVEN away your POWER gifted by GOD UNTO YOU. SHALL YOU PERISH OR RECLAIM IT?? YOU CAN DO IT BY "VOTING". If you turn back unto God of Light and Truth--you shall not even need "fight" for it but until you are worthy in intent--you shall struggle and if you refuse to see and act back within those Holy Rules of Balance--so shall you ultimately fall. You do not need to depopulate the planet--God has prepared placement for all who will hear and come. There are other wondrous places to experience in physical form and we can take you there--there is no need to perish in the darkness of evil tradition. Ponder it.

CIA Propaganda And Disinformation

3/7/92 #1 HATONN

In psychological warfare . . . the intelligence agencies of the democratic countries suffer from the grave disadvantage that in attempting to damage the adversary they must also deceive their own public. Victor Zorza, Washington Post, Nov. 15, 1965. By the mid 1960's most of the professionals in the CIA's Clandestine Services thought that the day of the balloon as an effective delivery vehicle in propaganda operations had long since passed. Years before, in the early rough-and-tumble era of the Cold War, agency operators in West Germany had often used balloons to carry anti-communist literature into the denied areas behind the Iron Curtain. These operations, although lacking in plausible deniability, normally a prerequisite in covert propaganda efforts, had scored high--judging from the numerous angry protests issued by the Soviet Union and its East European satellites. Since then the propaganda game had evolved into a subtle contest of wits, and the agency's Covert Action Staff had developed far more sophisticated methods for spreading ideological messages. Thus, there was a sense of "deja vu" among the covert-action staffers when officers of the Far East Division suggested in 1967 that a new balloon operation be undertaken. The target this time was to be mainland China.

The People's Republic was at that time in the midst of the cultural revolution. Youthful Red Guards were rampaging throughout the country, shattering customs and laws alike; confusion, near chaos, engulfed the nation. But the CIA's China watchers in Hong Kong and elsewhere on the periphery of the mainland had detected that a reaction was settling in, especially in southern China around Canton and Foochow in the provinces of Kwangtung and Judien. They believed that a kind of backlash to the excesses of the Red Guards was building for, increasingly, groups within the military and among the workers were beginning to resist the Red Guards and to call for a return to traditional law and order.

To the agency's operators, these were conditions worth exploiting. No one really believed that Communism could be eliminated from the mainland, but the short-term political objectives which might be achieved through covert propaganda were too tempting to pass up. China was an avowed enemy of the United States and the CIA felt that each bit of additional domestic turmoil that could be stirred up made the world's most populous country--already experimenting with long-range ballistic missiles--that much less of a threat to American national security. Furthermore, if Peking could be kept preoccupied with internal problems, then the likelihood of Chinese military intervention in the Vietnamese war, in a manner similar to that so effectively employed years earlier in Korea, could be diminished. Perhaps, too, China could be forced to reduce its material support to North Vietnam and to cut back on its export of revolution to other areas of the developing world.

The operation was accordingly approved by the 303 Committee (now the 40 Committee) and the agency took its balloons out of storage, shipping them to a secret base on Taiwan. There they were loaded with a variety of carefully prepared propaganda materials--leaflets, pamphlets, newspapers--and, when the winds were right, launched to float over the mainland provinces due west of the island. The literature dropped by the balloons had been designed by the agency's propagandists to appear as similar as possible in substance and style to the few publications then being furtively distributed on a small scale by conservative groups inside China. Names of genuine anti-revolutionary organizations were not used; fictitious associations, some identified with the army, others with agricultural communes or urban industrial unions, were invented.

The main thrust of all the propaganda was essentially the same, criticizing the activities (both real and imaginary) of the Red Guards and, by implication, those leaders who inspired or permitted such excesses. It was hoped that the propaganda and its attendant disinformation would create further reactions to the cultural revolution, on one hand adding to the growing domestic confusion and on the other disrupting the internal balance of power among the leadership in Peking. The CIA calculated that when the Chinese realized they were being propagandized, the U.S. government could confidently disclaim any responsibility. The assumed culprit would most likely be Chiang Kai-shek's Taiwan regime, the agency's witting and cooperative host for the operation.

Almost immediately after it began, the balloon project was a success. The CIA's China watchers soon saw evidence of increased resistance to the Red Guards in the southern provinces. Peking, apparently believing the reaction to the cultural revolution to be greater than it actually was, displayed strong concern over developments in the south. And within weeks, refugees and travelers from the mainland began arriving in Hong Kong with copies of the leaflets and pamphlets that the agency's propagandists had manufactured--a clear indication of the credence being given the false literature by the Chinese masses. It was not long, therefore, before the Clandestine Services were searching for other ways to expand their propaganda effort against the new target.

A decision was therefore made to install on Taiwan a pair of clandestine radio transmitters which would broadcast propaganda--and disinformation--of the same nature as that disseminated by the balloon drops. If the Chinese people accepted the radio broadcasts as genuine, the CIA reasoned, then they might be convinced that the counter-movement to the cultural revolution was gaining strength and perhaps think that the time had come to resist the Red Guards and their supporters still more openly.

Against a closed-society target, simply providing information and news that the government wishes to keep from its people can have a significant effect. If, in addition, some clever disinformation can be inserted, then so much the better. The listeners, realizing that much of what they are hearing is true, tend to believe that ALL they are told is accurate.

One source of news used by agency propagandists was the CIA's own Foreign Broadcast Information Service (FBIS), which daily monitors open radio broadcasting around the world from more than a dozen listening posts located in such varied places as Hong Kong, Panama, Nigeria, Cyprus, even San Francisco. The product of FBIS was also utilized to determine whether the broadcasts of the clandestine transmitters were reaching their target in China and creating the anticipated effect.

There was a third (and deleterious) way, however, in which the monitoring service played a role in the operation, and the Clandestine Services were slow to correct it. Unlike most of the intelligence collected by the agency, the programs monitored by the FBIS are widely disseminated within the U.S. government and to certain subscribers among the press corps and the academic community. These daily reports, verbatim transcripts translated into English, are packaged and color-coded according to major geographical area--Far East (yellow), Middle East/Africa (blue), Latin America (pink), and so on. But even though the FBIS editors are members of the CIA's Intelligence Directorate, the operators in the Clandestine Services are reluctant to reveal their propaganda operations to them. As a result, for its Far East daily report the FBIS frequently monitored and distributed the texts of programs actually originating from the agency's secret stations on Taiwan along with the transcripts of broadcasts from real counter-revolutionary organizations on the mainland.

CIA operators seemed untroubled by this development and the accompanying fact that the agency's own China analysts back at headquarters in Washington (along with their colleagues in the State and Defense departments) were being somewhat misled. Nor did they appear to mind that unwitting scholars and newsmen were publishing articles based to some extent on the phony information being reported by the FBIS. Eventually the CIA analysts at home were informed of the existence of the clandestine radios, but no steps were taken to rectify the false data passed on to the other U.S. government agencies or to the press and academia; operational security precluded such revelations. Besides, Communist China was an enemy, and the writings of recognized journalists and professors publicizing its state of near chaos and potential rebellion helped to discredit Peking in the eyes of the world--which was, after all, in keeping with the CIA's interpretation of American foreign policy at the time. The CIA's secret radios thus proved to be highly successful, even after the Chinese government discovered their origin and announced to its people that the broadcasts were false.

Meanwhile, the agency's operatives turned to outright disinformation in their effort to exploit China's internal difficulties. For example, began to show results. The Red Guards turned their fury on the Ministry of Foreign Affairs, demanding that Chinese diplomats, too, be cleansed of Western ways and rededicated to Mao's principles of communism.

I hope that you readers are now getting the realization of how the system works to give disinformation and, actually, how easy it is to brainwash people into accepting information from "supposed" valid and honest sources. Let us consider CNN a minute--this IS the authorized CIA and Administration disinformation network. From this releasing of information all other networks (ABC, NBC, etc.) follow suit with the disinformation. There is enough "nothing" sprinkled among the disinformation to stop your "thinking" and insure your acceptance of "everything"--true or false. As example, say, Mr. Umpty Ump says he is "tired of paying for Israel's debt". By the time the ADL and other Elite organizations call Umpty names and bash him about and CNN takes up the cry and hue and Larry King interviews the opposition--let me assure you that you will think "Umpty" is not only a bigot but a citizen unworthy of less punishment than death or life incarceration for felony hate crime. Before the barrage is over there will be thrust forth something such as "...and Umpty, in high school, struck a (minority person) in a bigoted fist fight over a girl who reported he raped her. The (minority person) was only defending the girl." Now, you see, they have set up a past history of "bigoted and violent" behavior against which no person can respond for the "defendant" (Umpty) is NEVER GIVEN TIME FOR REBUTTAL IN ANY FORM WHATSOEVER. FURTHER, LET US SAY UMPY IS FOUND "INNOCENT"--THAT WILL NEVER HIT THE FRONT PAGE OF ANY PAPER--PROBABLY NOT EVEN THE BACK PAGES.

YOU MUST COME TO SEE HOW IT WORKS TO ENSLAVE YOU TO IDEAS AND LIES OR YOU WILL PERISH IN THE LIES.

Let us please take rest. Thank you.

LOOKING BACK TO THE PAST

Looking back has but one purpose of value: To garner lessons against the day at hand.

Good habits do not form easily and belief structures come even more slowly and with difficulty. Therefore, one must always search for that which is hidden within the complex presentations of that which is presented in the intent and purpose of gain of another.

It is true that if one is to habitually speak well, read well and discern in wisdom--one needs to form habits including these practices. However, if one waits to "think" until he is proficient in all graces--he shall never "think" for self. One has to grow up with good talk and good habits to form such a habit, but you can learn and change in wisdom as information and light is brought unto you--each day is a new gift for you to be anything that you wish to be. You can grow up again amidst the good habits of other--and it becomes self.

To look backward for a while is to refresh the eye, to restore it, and to render it the more fit for its prime function of looking forward in full vision. This is what we are offering you. We offer you an opportunity to see that which has been the habit and practice of the adversary to pull you down and render you helpless in the tentacles of the ever-strengthen- ing octopus of power while your own power is drained and taken from you. If you learn to witness unto the power-monger's actions, laws and hidden agendas--you can counter with your own power to stop them in the present--FOR THEY NEVER CHANGE THEIR PATTERNS OF ACTION.

On any journey, you must find out WHERE YOU ARE before you can plan the first step. You are now finding out where you are--and then, you must seek and isolate the goal of the journey. That which is in between on the journey itself will be laid forth as a blueprint as ye maintain the goal in view--BUT YE MUST KNOW WHERE YE HAVE BEEN AND WHERE IT IS YOU ARE GOING. IF YOU GO UNTO AND WITH GOD YE SHALL BE GIVEN THE WAY, THE NEEDS AND THE PATH FOR YE SHALL BE GIVEN TO SEE AND HEAR AND KNOW. IF YE GO WITHOUT GOD YE SHALL FALL PREY TO THE SCAVENGERS AND THIEVES FOR THEIR SOLE PURPOSE IS TO DESTROY YOU THAT THEY MIGHT GAIN ALL IN THE PHYSICAL REALM. GOD WAITS TO SEE WHAT SHALL BE YOUR CHOICE.

CONSPIRATORS RUNNING FOR PRESIDENT

Dharma, since we are again facing the possibility of you being in court for some ten days to two weeks, I suggest we write as much on the CIA as we can print.

I ask that you who desire to know the Conspirators' Hierarchy and organizations, etc., get John Coleman's book by that title. I shall offer listings as we move along but you need to know the players now, before you make more errors in discernment in placement of leaders. Know that in the political world, the ones in the Republican Party and Democratic Party who have no difficulty--are placed there in full intent. However, also know that the ones who are against the staid principles and action of the "fixed" parties--CAN BECOME INDEPENDENT CANDIDATES. YOU CAN CHANGE YOUR GOVERNMENT IF YOU BUT RESPOND WITH WISDOM--IT IS NO VALUE TO SIMPLY REPLACE ONE CONSPIRATOR WITH ANOTHER--AND THAT IS WHAT WILL HAPPEN IF YOU KNOW NOT WHO ARE THE CONSPIRATORS.

GATES IN CIA AND THORNBURGH IN U.N.

If you watch you can see. Gates was put into the "head" position of the CIA by Bush--to ensure continuation of all the black operations of that secret presidential army of corruption--to make sure crime remains unchecked.

Thornburgh was head of your U.S. Judicial System--Attorney General. Yet he was devastated by a major drug scandal involving his top Justice Department staffers and even a member of his own family--this was the man in charge of "fighting crime" and "stopping drugs". He became, further, quite unelectable as you people saw through his own criminal behavior. This did not stop him, however, for Bush simply got him placed into a top level post in the United Nations, Under-Secretary General for Administration and Management. This places Thornburgh in CHARGE OF ALL PERSONNEL AND BUDGET DECISIONS.

This is total insult to the so-called Third World. Under his Attorney Generalship, the U.S. codified its self-proclaimed right to intervene militarily into the internal affairs of any state it wishes. Under the pretext of "arresting" government officials accused of breaking U.S. laws (a crime in point was Manuel Noriega), the U.S. killed thousand of Panamanians in order to "arrest" him.

In a trip to the Soviet Union back in 1989, Thornburgh lauded the so-called "new" KGB as a "model" police agency with which the United States could readily collaborate--and you have done so. This was prior to the "clean-up" of the KGB for public viewing, chelas.

This is simply a planned positioning of Bush to take over the United Nations for the New World Empire in service to the Committee of 300--Global Dictatorship.

MOSQUITO-BORNE ENCEPHALITIS

The Center for Disease Control in Atlanta has warned of the presence in the United States of a mosquito-borne encephalitis virus which kills a third or more of its victims. Toward the end of February the "tiger" mosquito ("accidentally" imported from Asia), was found in tests to be the prime carrier of this deadly encephalitis virus. How interesting. Funny that you "...can't get the HIV virus from mosquito bites but deadly encephalitis virus is primarily distributed in that manner!" I wonder if "safe sex" prevents mosquito bites?

Please see CIA, next page

I'm sorry, chelas, the next step planned for you is the next barrage and epidemic of a "deadly virus". Please take care and pay attention.

REMEMBER GORBACHEV? AND THE IMF

Funny that you don't hear much about Gorbachev any more, other than he isn't "...getting all that was promised to him in rewards for stepping down". However, they fail to mention that he is a high-ranking and highly paid officer of the Kissinger and Associates Corporation in Moscow. In that capacity he continues to pass out his wisdom and control in a far more powerful way that he could as a "defeated" state leader. A widely viewed German TV channel showed Gorbachev urging that the monetary affairs of Russia and other former Soviet republics should be put under tight International Monetary Fund control. (The Committee of 300's money committee.)

He asked for full convertibility of the ruble, which he said would ease the full integration of the Eastern economies into the World Bank and Market. He called for a ruble stabilization fund based on HARD CURRENCY AND ADMINISTERED BY THE IMF!

CHELAS--CONTINUE IN YOUR ACCEPTED BLINDNESS AND YOU SHALL GO DOWN FOR IT IS SO INTENDED BY THESE MONGRELS IN SERVICE TO THE ELITE CONTROLLERS.

BAR ASSOCIATION AND ANTI-SEMITISM

As these ones return to court, they do so with the new mark having been established of "anti-Semites". Yes indeed, the opposition actually has entered Phoenix material into the case to "prove" anti-Semitism--whatever that might have to do with Santa Barbara Savings and Loan and the Resolution Trust Corporation failure to follow legal procedures and thereby stealing the Ekker's home and property. I would remind you all of something when it comes to so-called

"Jews", "anti-Semitism" and such in the profession of "Law". Remember the Protocols wherein "...send your sons forth to be lawyers and doctors. . ." Do you not remember that when Dan Quayle, your Vice President, spoke before the American Bar Association and said it appeared to him that there were too many lawyers, etc, etc? THE LAWYERS AND THE BAR ASSOCIATION AT THAT MOMENT CALLED QUAYLE AN "ANTI-SEMITES"! I ask YOU, what would that mean? It obviously means that the Bar Association is an instrument of the Khazarian Zionists who pronounce themselves "Jews" and anyone who speaks against the association in any manner whatsoever, true or false--is labeled an anti-Semite and is pronounced guilty of "hate" crime. This is exactly the way the disinformation network works. Lies are planted with no ability for recourse--and whamo--you have a totally new perception introduced unto and into the masses--"hear a thing often enough, repeat it again and again--and you will believe it."

Can't the Constitutional Law Center do something? Perhaps in time--but not now while the case is stalled for the fourth year. Further, while the Ekkers are basically the only supporters of the Law Center it becomes tedious to utilize the facility to its full intent. The Center is focusing on far more urgent cases. Some have supported the Center but it has been only a tiny few and it is difficult to continue under these burdens of responsibility. It becomes appalling to realize that people say they want justice and representation but they also want "another" to do the giving and the work while they wait to reap the rewards of the actions. It simply does not work in that manner. We have even set up a plan whereby a "donation" can be fully backed and still, the investment is only made by a few counted on one hand.

It is fine, chelas--but when the hordes of evil are upon you and your Constitution is dead and gone and you are wondering what hit you--these are things to ponder. You want Gritz to clean out your government houses for you--and yet the group supporting him with all expenses cannot even pay the phone bill and, again, my crew is asked to pick up the burden. If you cannot assist, surely you can write a letter to Ross Perot (who could help) and ask him to support this man. If you expect your voice to be heard then you must speak out in any manner you can be heard. Since the controlled press will not allow public address nor will the media--then you will have to utilize the only method remaining at your disposal--MAIL and spreading the word any way you can.

You ones ask and ask and petition again and again: "Give me a 'safe' place and when should I go there?!" There are not going to be ANY SAFE PLACES if you fail to turn about this steamroller in the process of squashing you. God only sends the instructions and tells you "how"--you must do the task. What have YOU done this day toward saving your nation, your family and your neighbor--or do you wring your hands in disbelief and trauma and finally announce that these ones are simply "anti-Semite" bigots?

You have been told since the beginning that God would return and that he would send his Hosts to give you "THE WORD" and announce the return. You have been told since the beginning that there would be places prepared for you who follow HIS laws and ask HIS sanction. How did you think HE would come? How did you think HE would speak to be heard? Ah so--could it be - - -??? Salu.

Now, let us move back into discussion of the President's private hit-squad, the CIA.

CIA, CONTINUED

We were speaking on the subject of Propaganda and Disinformation, we shall pick up the document at midway, page 169. Thank you.

To be sure, propaganda and disinformation are not new phenomena. Nations and factions within nations have long employed such techniques to enhance their own images while at the same time attempting to discredit their enemies and rivals. Yet the great advances in communications during the twentieth century have vastly changed the potential of propagandistic effort, making possible rapid, widespread distribution of propaganda material. Nazi Germany refined and made enormous use of the "big lie". The Soviet Union and other communist countries have used many of the methods invented by the Germans and have added new twists of their own. Although the United States did not actively enter the field until World War II, when the OSS and the Office of War Information (OWI) started their psychological-warfare programs, its propaganda effort has grown--under the eyes of the Covert Action Staff of the CIA's Clandestine Services--to be thoroughly expert.

Working on the CIA Staff are sociologists, psychologists, historians, and media specialists--all skilled at selecting "reachable" targets, such as the youth or intellectuals of a particular country, and at getting a message through to them. In planning and carrying out its activities, the branch often works closely with other agency officers in the area division. The idea for an operation may be initiated by a field component--say, a station in Africa or Latin America--that sees a special need or a target of opportunity within its area of responsibility; it may originate at headquarters in Langley, either in the propaganda branch or in one of the area divisions; or it may come from the White House, the State Department, the Pentagon, or any member of the U.S. intelligence community in the form of a requirement for the CIA to take action. If it is considered to be a program of major political significance or entailing an inherent high-risk factor--that is, if its exposure would cause substantial embarrassment for the U.S. government--a project proposal developed in the Clandestine Services is submitted to the Director's office for review. Subsequently, the plan will be sent to the 40 Committee for final approval. Thenceforth, control of any propaganda operation and responsibility for its coordination within the Clandestine Services and the government may rest with either the Covert Action Staff or an area division. Certain long-standing operations, such as Radio Free Europe and Radio Liberty, were traditionally under the control of the CA Staff. But responsibility for the newer and smaller operations usually is determined on an ad hoc basis, with the CA Staff serving in either an advisory or controlling capacity, depending on the circumstances of the particular undertaking.

A propaganda operation might not be anything more sinister than broadcasting straight news reports or rock music to the countries of Eastern Europe. Others are far more devious.

11 LINES DELETED

The CIA also makes considerable use of forged documents. Watergate burglar E. Howard Hunt [H: Same one who shot John Kennedy.] was questioned in 1973 about his forgery of a State Department cable directly linking the Kennedy Administration to the assassination of South Vietnamese President Ngo Dinh Diem. "After all," Hunt told the federal prosecutor, "I had been given some training in my past CIA career to do just this sort of thing . . . floating forged newspaper accounts, telegrams, that sort of thing." During the mid-1960's, for instance, the agency learned that a certain West African country was about to recognize the People's Republic of China, and that the local government intended to force the withdrawal of the diplomatic representatives of Nationalist China. This was considered to be contrary to American foreign-policy aims, so the CIA went into action.

6 LINES DELETED

The Pentagon Papers have revealed some other examples of CIA propaganda and disinformation activities. One top-secret document written in 1954 by Colonel Edward Lansdale, then an agency operator, describes an effort involving North Vietnamese astrologers hired to write predictions about the coming disasters which would befall certain Vietminh leaders and their undertakings, and the success and unity which awaited the South.

Lansdale also mentioned that personnel under his control had engineered a black psywar strike in Hanoi: leaflets signed by the Vietminh instructing Tonkinese on how to behave for the Vietminh takeover of the Hanoi region in early October, including items about property, money reform, and a three-day holiday of workers upon takeover. The day following the distribution of these leaflets, refugee registration tripled. Two days later Vietminh took to the radio to denounce the leaflets; the leaflets were so authentic in appearance that even most of the rank and file Vietminh were sure that the radio denunciations were a French trick.

Lansdale's black propaganda also had an effect on the American press. One of these bogus leaflets came to the attention of syndicated columnist Joseph Alsop, who was then touring South Vietnam. The leaflet, indicating that many South Vietnamese were to be sent to China to work on the railroads, seemed to have been written by the Communists. Alsop naively accepted the leaflet at face value and, according to Lansdale, this "led to his sensational, gloomy articles later.... Alsop was never told this story." Nor, of course, was the false impression left with Alsop's readers ever corrected.

CIA propaganda activities also entail the publication of books and periodicals. Over the years, the agency has provided direct subsidies to a number of magazines and publishing houses, ranging from Eastern European emigré organs to such reputable firms as Frederick A. Praeger, of New York--which admitted in 1967 that it had published "fifteen or sixteen books" at the CIA's request.

11 LINES DELETED

Many other anti-communist publishing concerns in Germany, Italy, and France were also supported and encouraged by the agency during the post-World War II years, ( DELETED ) According to a former high-ranking agency official, and the Parisian newspaper, Le Combat. This same ex-official also recalls with an ironic smile that for several years the agency subsidized the New York communist paper, The Daily Worker. In fairness to the Worker's staff, it must be noted that they were unaware of the CIA's assistance, which came in the form of several thousand secretly purchased prepaid subscriptions. The CIA apparently hoped to demonstrate by this means to the American public that the threat of Communism in this country was indeed real.

2 LINES DELETED

* * *

Although the CIA inherited from the OSS responsibility for covert propaganda operations, the agency has no specific authority in the open law to engage in such operations--other than the vague charge to carry out "such other functions and duties related to intelligence affecting the national security as the National Security Council may from time to time direct." [H: This is a most important point for in all the "new" laws which would come forth from the New World Order--the interpretations are just as vague and solely at the discretion of the one in authority. This is the theme throughout all new laws and legal rulings--so that you can't have any way to "fight back", for the ones in power will interpret the laws in any manner serving their purpose.] Yet, since its founding in 1947, the CIA has spent over one billion dollars for propaganda [H: This was only 1974 at this document writing. The amount is into the multi-billions today.] (mainly foreign but also domestic) to further what it perceived to be the national interests of the United States.

Sometimes this means simply telling the truth to an audience (called "white" propaganda); other times a mixture of truths, half-truths, and slight distortions is used to slant the views of the audience ("gray" propaganda); and, on occasion, outright lies ("black" propaganda) are used, although usually accompanied for credibility's sake by some truths and a few half-truths.

"Black" propaganda on the one hand and "disinformation" on the other are virtually indistinguishable. Both refer to the spreading of false information in order to influence people's opinions or actions. Disinformation actually is a special type of "black" propaganda which hinges on absolute secrecy and which is usually supported by false documents; originally, it was something of a Soviet specialty, and the Russian word for it, dezinformatsiya, is virtually a direct analogue of our own. Within the KGB there is even a "Department of Disinformation".

On June 2, 1961 (less than two months after the CIA's humiliating failure at the Bay of Pigs), Richard Helms, then Deputy Director of the Clandestine Services, briefed the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee on Communist forgeries. Helms discussed thirty-two fraudulent documents "packaged to look like communications to or from American officials". Twenty-two were meant to demonstrate imperialist American plans and ambitions; seventeen of these asserted U.S. interference in the affairs of several free-world countries. Of the seventeen, eleven charged U.S. intervention in private business of Asian nations. One was a fake secret agreement between the Secretary of State and Japanese Premier Kishi permitting use of Japanese troops anywhere in Asia. Another alleged that American policy in Southeast Asia called for U.S. control of the armed forces of all S.E.A.T.O. nations. Two forgeries offered proof that the Americans were plotting the overthrow of Indonesia's Sukarno; the remaining two were merely meant to demonstrate that the U.S. government, despite official disclaimers, was secretly supplying the anti-Sukarno rebels with military aid.

These last examples concerning Indonesia are especially interesting. A cursory examination of the documents, as submitted by Helms, indicates that they were indeed rather crude forgeries, but their message was accurate. Not only did the CIA in 1958 support efforts to overthrow the Sukarno government, but Helms himself, as second-ranking official in Clandestine Services, knew it well. And he knew that the "official disclaimers" to which he referred were deceptions and outright lies issued by U.S. government spokesmen. Helms' testimony was released to the public with the approval of the CIA, which was, in effect, targeting a propaganda operation against the American people. Not only did he lie about the Communists' lying (which is not to say that they are not indeed culpable), but Helms in the process quite ably managed to avoid discussion of the pervasive lying the CIA commits in the name of the United States.

CIA: PROPAGANDA & DISINFORMATION THE RADIOS

Until 1971, the CIA's largest propaganda operations by far were Radio Free Europe (RFE) and Radio Liberty (RL). RFE broadcast to Poland, Hungary, Czechoslovakia, Romania, and Bulgaria, while RL was aimed at the Soviet Union. These ostensibly private stations had been started by the agency in the early 1950's at the height of the Cold War. They operated under the cover provided by their New York-based boards of directors, which were made up principally of distinguished statesmen, retired military leaders, and corporate executives. With studios in Munich and transmitters in West Germany, Spain, Portugal, and Taiwan, the two stations broadcast thousands of hours of programs a year into the Communist countries. Their combined annual budgets ranged from $30 to $35 million, and the CIA financed over 95 percent of the costs. A particularly deceptive aspect of the RFE operation was, and is, the annual fund-raising drive carried out in the United States. Under the auspices of the Advertising Council, RFE solicits funds with the clear implication that if money is not donated by the American public the station will no longer be able to function and the "truth" will not get through to Eastern Europe. Although between $12 and $20 million in free advertising time was made available in 1969, for example, less than $100,000 was raised from a not terribly alarmed public.

In their early years, both RFE and RL quite stridently promoted the "rolling back" of the Iron Curtain. (Radio Liberty was originally named Radio Liberation.) The tone of their broadcasts softened considerably in the aftermath of the 1956 Hungarian revolt, when RFE was subjected to severe criticism for its role in seeming to incite continued, but inevitably futile, resistance by implying that American assistance would be forthcoming. During and after the Hungarian events, it became quite clear that the United States would not actively participate in freeing the captive nations, and the emphasis at both RFE and RL was changed to promote liberalization within the Communist system through peaceful change. The CIA continued, however, to finance both stations, to provide them with key personnel and to control program content.

The ostensible mission of RFE and RL was to provide accurate information to the people of Eastern Europe. In this aim they were largely successful and their programs reached millions of listeners. While RFE and RL broadcasts contained a certain amount of distortion, they were, especially in the early years, considerably more accurate than the Eastern European media. But to many in the CIA the primary value of the radios was to sow discontent in Eastern Europe and, in the process, to weaken the Communist governments. Hard-liners in the agency pointed to the social agitation in Poland which brought Wladyslaw Gomulka to power in 1959, the Hungarian uprising in 1956, and the fall of Czech Stalinist Antonin Novotny in 1967 as events which RFE helped to bring about. Others in the CIA did not specifically connect RFE or RL to such dramatic occurrences but instead stressed the role of the two stations in the more gradual de-Stalinization and liberalization of Eastern Europe.

Like most propaganda operations, RFE's and RL's principal effect had been to contribute to existing trends in their target areas and sometimes to accentuate those trends. Even when events in Eastern Europe have worked out to the agency's satisfaction, any direct contribution by the radios would be nearly impossible to prove. In any case, whatever the success of the two stations, the CIA intended from the beginning that they play an activist role in the affairs of Eastern Europe--well beyond being simply sources of accurate news. For, in addition to transmitting information to Eastern Europe and harassing the Communist governments, RFE and RL have also provided the Clandestine Services with covert assets which could be used against the Soviet Union and Eastern Europe.

The two radio stations, with their large staffs of Eastern European refugees, are a ready-made source of agents, contacts, information, and cover for operations. Among further radio-derived sources of intelligence was the comparatively large number of letters RFE and RL received from their listeners in Eastern Europe. Delivered by mail and by travelers coming to the West, these letters were considered by the agency's clandestine operators to be an intelligence-collection resource. RFE and RL emigre' personnel used the letters and other information available to the stations to prepare written analyses of what was happening in the East. Much of this analysis, however, was thought to be of doubtful value back at CIA headquarters, and was held in low esteem throughout the U.S. intelligence community.

However debatable the direct effect of RFE and RL on events in Eastern Europe, the governments of the Communist countries obviously were quite disturbed by the stations. Extensive efforts were made to jam their signals, and by the late 1950's the Communist intelligence services were actively trying to discredit the stations and to infiltrate the radios' staffs. In many cases, they succeeded, and by the mid-1960's the general view at CIA headquarters was that the two facilities were widely penetrated by communist agents and that much of the analysis coming out of Munich was based on false information planted by opposition agents. During this same time the spirit of East-West detente was growing, and many officers in the CIA thought that RFE and RL had outlived their usefulness. Supporters of the stations were finding it increasingly difficult at budget time to justify their yearly costs. Even the Eastern European governments were showing a declining interest in the stations, and the jamming efforts fell off considerably.

CNN REPLACES RFE & RL

The agency carried out several internal studies on the utility of RFE and RL, and the results in each case favored phasing out CIA funding. But after each study a few old-timers in the CIA, whose connections with the stations went back to their beginnings, would come up with new and dubious reasons why the radios should be continued. The emotional attachment of these veteran operators to RFE and RL was extremely strong. Also defending the stations were those influential personalities, like former N.A.T.O. chief Lucius Clay, CBS president Frank Stanton, and General Motors chairman James Roche, who made up the radios' boards of directors. All of these efforts ran counter to attempts of the CIA's own Planning, Programming and Budgeting Staff to end agency support. Additionally, the CIA's top management appeared reluctant to part with the stations because of a fear that if the $30 to $35 million in annual payments were ended, that money would be irrevocably lost to the CIA. Each internal agency study which called for the end of the CIA's involvement invariably led to nothing more than yet another study being made. [H: CNN and Ted Turner have simply replaced the "radio" with "TV" and is the CIA/Elite representative in all of the world. Note that in the "Gulf War" CNN was the only station allowed on site to any extent and the only one allowed around the clock war news. The world was sucked in and didn't even notice that there was no choice--worse, there was no "news" allowed to reach you--just scripted speeches and rerun file pictures day after dreary day--except for those things which could show your imperialism and atrocities.]

Thus, bureaucratic inertia, the unwillingness of the USIA to take over the radios' functions, and well-placed lobbying efforts by RFE and RL boards of directors combined to keep CIA funds flowing into both stations through the 1960's. Even when agency financing of the stations became widely known during the 1967 scandal surrounding the CIA's penetration and manipulation of the National Student Association, the agency did not reduce its support. In the aftermath of that scandal, President Johnson's special review group, the Katzenbach Committee, recommended that the CIA not be allowed to finance "any of the nation's educational or private voluntary organizations". Still, with the approval of the White House, the agency did not let go of RFE or RL. [H: The "Katzenbach Committee" reminds me of the same set of "fixed" circumstances that you had with the "Warren" Commission investigation of JFK's death--Warren is "one of 'em!". If you will bother to look it up, Earl Warren in a prominent meml. of the Committee of 300 just as is Richard Helms and Gerald Ford.

Do you actually think the ones who orchestrated the murder would find themselves "guilty"? By the way, now you can go to the list in the "300" book and note that so too was the Watergate Committee a direct institution of the Committee of 300. This is WHY YOU MUST HAVE INFORMATION AND KNOWLEDGE UPON WHICH TO BASE YOUR CONCLUSIONS OR YOU SHALL HAVE INCORRECT CONCLUSIONS.]

No change occurred until January 1971, when Senator Clifford Case of New Jersey spoke out against the CIA subsidies to the radios and proposed legislation for open funding.

Case's move attracted quite a bit of attention in the media and it became obvious that the Senator was not going to back down in the face of administration pressure. When the Senate Foreign Relations Committee scheduled hearings on Case's bill and the Senator threatened to call former RFE employees as witnesses, the CIA decided that the time had come to divest itself of the two stations (at least publicly). Open congressional funding became a reality, and by the end of 1971 CIA financial involvement in RFE and RL was officially ended. Whether the agency has also dropped all its covert assets connected with them is not known, but, given past experience, that is not likely. For the time being, the largest threat to the future of RFE and RL would seem to be not Congress, which will probably vote money indefinitely, but the West German government of Willy Brandt. Now that the stations are in the open, Bonn faces pressure from the Eastern European countries to forbid them to broadcast on German soil.

but he still might at some point accept the argument, as part of an effort to further the East-West detente, that RFE and RL represent unnecessary obstacles to improved relations.

OTHER PROPAGANDA OPERATIONS

The CIA has always been interested in reaching and encouraging dissidents in Eastern Europe and the Soviet Union. In the early days of the Cold War, the agency sent its own agents and substantial amounts of money behind the Iron Curtain to keep things stirred up, mostly with disastrous results. In more recent times, operations against Eastern Europe and the U.S.S.R. have become less frequent and less crude. The agency, however, has continued to maintain its contacts with emigre' groups in Western Europe and the United States. These groups are sometimes well informed on what is happening in their home countries and they often provide a conduit for the CIA in its dealings with dissidents in those countries.

has found the emigre' group to be of only marginal usefulness.

Another organization heavily subsidized by the CIA was the Asia Foundation. Established by the agency in 1956, with a carefully chosen board of directors, the foundation was designed to promote academic and public interest in the East. It sponsored scholarly research, supported conferences and symposia, and ran academic exchange programs, with a CIA subsidy that reached $8 million dollars a year. While most of the foundation's activities were legitimate, the CIA also used it, through penetrations among the officers and members, to fund anti-Communist academicians in various Asian countries, to disseminate throughout Asia a negative vision of mainland China, North Vietnam, and North Korea, and to recruit foreign agents and new case officers. Although the foundation often served as a cover for clandestine operations, its main purpose was to promote the spread of ideas which were anti-communist and pro-American--sometimes subtly and sometimes stridently. [H: I am immediately asked if this "Asia Foundation" is directly connected with the Committee of 300. Indeed--if it is CIA it MUST be directly connected because the CIA is a major operating force for the Committee. There is not room to list and re-list, change and reinstate names in the listings--for change is the illusion and confusion. A shock will be when you realize that the major environmental movements and organizations are in direct service to the "300". More money will be made by these money-mongers by the so-called "cleaning up" of the environment than could ever have been made by polluting it in the first place. Environmental controls are placed in such a manner as to disallow "business" to flourish as the major bankster corporations take their business and industry to nations in free-trade status which offer slave-labor wages and no pollution laws with which to contend--while keeping America's industry at stand-still through restrictions.]

PROPAGANDIZING AMERICA

The focus of the Asia Foundation's activities was overseas, but the organization's impact tended to be greater in the American academic community than in the Far East. Large numbers of American intellectuals participated in foundation programs, and they--usually unwittingly--contributed to the popularizing of CIA ideas about the Far East. Designed--and justified at budget time--as an overseas propaganda operation, the Asia Foundation also was regularly guilty of propagandizing the American people with agency views on Asia.

The agency's connection with the Asia Foundation came to light just after the 1967 exposure of CIA subsidies to the National Student Association. The foundation clearly was one of the organizations which the CIA was banned from financing and, under the recommendations of the Katzenbach Committee, the decision was made to end CIA funding. A complete cut-off after 1967, however, would have forced the foundation to shut down, so the agency made it the beneficiary of a large "severance payment" in order to give it a couple of years to develop alternative sources of funding. Assuming the CIA has not resumed covert financing, the Asia Foundation has apparently made itself self-sufficient by now (1974).

During the 1960's the CIA developed proprietary companies of a new type for use in propaganda operations. These proprietaries are more compact and more covert than relatively unwieldy and now exposed fronts like the Asia Foundation and Radio Free Europe.

27 LINES DELETED

More and more, as the United States cuts back its overt aid programs and withdraws from direct involvement in foreign countries, the agency probably will be called upon to carry out similar missions in other nations.

USING DEFECTORS FOR PROPAGANDA

The CIA has also used defectors from Communist governments for propaganda purposes--a practice which has had more impact in this country than overseas. These defectors, without any prodding by the CIA, would have interesting stories to tell of politics and events in their homelands, but almost all are immediately taken under the CIA's control and subjected to extensive secret debriefings at a special defector reception center near Frankfurt, West Germany, or, in the cases of particularly knowledgeable ones, at agency "safe houses" in the United States. In return for the intelligence supplied about the defector's former life and work, the CIA usually takes care of his resettlement in the West, even providing a new identity if necessary. Sometimes, after the lengthy debriefing has been finished, the agency will encourage--and will help--the defector to write articles or books about his past life. As he may still be living at a CIA facility or be dependent on the agency for his livelihood, the defector would be extremely reluctant to jeopardize his future by not cooperating. The CIA does not try to alter the defector's writings drastically; it simply influences him to leave out certain information because of security considerations, or because the thrust of the information runs counter to existing American policy. The inclusion of information justifying U.S. or CIA practices is, of course, encouraged, and the CIA will provide whatever literary assistance is needed by the defector. While such books tend to show the Communist intelligence services as diabolical and unprincipled organs (which they are), almost never do these books describe triumphs by the opposition services over the CIA. Although the other side does indeed win on occasion, the agency would prefer that the world did not know that. And the defector dependent on the CIA will hardly act counter to its interests.

In helping the defector with his writing, the agency often steers him toward a publisher. Even some of the public-relations aspect of promoting his book may be aided by the CIA, as in the case of Major Ladislav Bittman, a Czech intelligence officer who defected in 1968. Prior to the 1972 publication of his book, THE DECEPTION GAME, Bittman was interviewed by the Wall Street Journal, which quoted him on U.S. intelligence's use of the disinformation techniques. "It was our opinion," the former Czech operative said, "that the Americans had more effective means than this sort of trickery--things such as economic-aid programs--that were more influential than any black propaganda operation."

While Bittman may well have been reflecting attitudes held by his former colleagues in Czech intelligence, his words must be considered suspect. The Czechs almost certainly know something about the CIA's propaganda and disinformation programs, just as the CIA knows of theirs. But Bittman's statement, taken along with his extensive descriptions of Czech and Russian disinformation programs, reflects exactly the image the CIA wants to promote to the American public--that the communists are always out to defraud the West, while the CIA, skillfully uncovering these deceptions, eschews such unprincipled tactics.

CIA BOOK PUBLISHING

To the CIA, propaganda through book publishing has long been a successful technique. In 1953 the agency backed the publication of a book called THE DYNAMICS OF SOVIET SOCIETY, which was written by Walt Rostow, later President Johnson's Assistant for National Security Affairs, and other members of the staff of the Center for International Studies at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. The center had been set up with CIA money in 1950 and this book was published in two versions, one classified (for the CIA and government policy-makers) and the other unclassified (for the public). Both versions, except in some minor details, promoted the thesis that the Soviet Union is an imperialistic power bent on world conquest, and that it is the responsibility of the United States to blunt the Communist menace.

Most CIA book operations, however, are more subtle and clandestine. A former CIA official who specialized in Soviet affairs recalls how one day in 1967 a CIA operator on the Covert Action Staff showed him a book called THE FOREIGN AID PROGRAMS OF THE SOVIET BLOC AND COMMUNIST CHINA by a German named Kurt Muller. The book looked interesting to the Soviet expert, and he asked to borrow it. The Covert Action man replied, "Keep it. We've got hundreds more downstairs." Muller's book was something less than an unbiased treatment of the subject; it was highly critical of Communist foreign assistance to the Third World. The Soviet specialist is convinced that the agency had found out Muller was interested in Communist foreign-aid programs, encouraged him to write a book which would have a strong anti-communist slant, provided him with information, and then helped to get the book published and distributed.

Financing books is a standard technique used by all intelligence services. [H: Our books must certainly be a thorn in the backsides because we sure could use a bit of "help" in publication of all our information. We get a lot in input and destruction from these groups but surely NO HELP!] Many writers are glad to write on subjects which will further their own careers, and with a slant that will contribute to the propaganda objectives of a friendly agency. Books of this sort, however, add only a false aura of respectability and authority to the information the intelligence agency would like to see spread--even when that information is perfectly accurate--because they are by definition restricted from presenting an objective analysis of the subject under consideration. And once exposed, both the writer and his data become suspect. [H: I'm sure any of you readers could name many such writers and their books--memoirs are the most nauseating in my opinion, and all the "big boys" write them. As with Oliver North, the book was written and ready before he knew there was a book "he" was writing.]

Spies, however, do not keep journals. They simply do not take that kind of risk, nor do they have the time to do so while they are leading double lives. [H: Notes are different and also, when it is known a "fall" is going to come down--they start taking a lot of notes.]

THE PENKOVSKY PAPERS

Allen Dulles [H: Member of the Committee of 300] seemed to be rubbing salt in their wounds when he wrote in THE CRAFT OF INTELLIGENCE that the Penkovsky defection had shaken the Soviet intelligence services with the knowledge that the

West had located Russian officials willing to work "in place for long periods of time" and others who "have never been 'surfaced' and (who) for their own protection must remain unknown to the public."

And, of course, the publication of THE PENKOVSKY PAPERS opened the Soviets up to the embarrassment of having the world learn that the top level of their government had been penetrated by a Western spy. Furthermore, Penkovsky's success as an agent made the CIA look good, both to the American people and to the rest of the world. Failures such as the Bay of Pigs might be forgiven and forgotten if the agency could recruit agents like Penkovsky to accomplish the one task the CIA is weakest at—gathering intelligence from inside the Soviet Union or China.

The facts were otherwise, however. In the beginning, Penkovsky was not a CIA spy. He worked for British Intelligence. He had tried to join the CIA in Turkey, but he had been turned down, in large part because the Soviet Bloc Division of the Clandestine Services was overly careful not to be taken in by the KGB provocateurs and double agents. To the skittish CIA operators, Penkovsky seemed too good to be true, especially in the period following the Burgess-McLean catastrophe. The CIA had also suffered several recent defeats at the hands of the KGB in Europe, and it was understandably reluctant to be duped again.

Penkovsky, however, was determined to spy for the West, and in 1960 he made contact with British intelligence, which eventually recruited him. The British informed the CIA of Penkovsky's availability and offered to conduct the operation as a joint project. CIA operators in Moscow and elsewhere participated in the elaborated clandestine techniques used to receive information from Penkovsky and to debrief the Soviet spy on his visits to Western Europe.

3 LINES DELETED

The Penkovsky Papers was a best-seller round the world, and especially in the United States. Its publication certainly caused discomfort in the Soviet Union.

9½ LINES DELETED

Richard Helms years later again referred to Penkovsky in this vein, although not by name, when he claimed in a speech before the American Society of Newspaper Editors that "a number of well-placed and courageous Russians . . . helped us" in uncovering the Soviet move. One person taken in by this deceit was Senator Milton Young of North Dakota, who serves on the CIA oversight subcommittee. In a 1971 Senate debate on cutting the intelligence budget, the Senator said, "And if you want to read something very interesting and authoritative where intelligence is concerned, read the Penkovsky Papers . . . this is a very interesting story, on why the intelligence we had in Cuba was so important to us, and on what the Russians were thinking and just how far they would go."

CUBAN MISSILES

Yet the CIA intelligence analysts who were working on the Cuban problem at the time of the missile crisis and preparing the agency's intelligence reports for the President up to and after the discovery of the Soviet missiles saw no such information from Penkovsky or any other Soviet spy. The key intelligence that led to the discovery of the missiles came from the analysis of satellite photography of the U.S.S.R., Soviet ship movements, U-2 photographs of Cuba, and information supplied by Cuban refugees. Penkovsky's technical background information, provided well before the crisis, was of some use—but not of major or critical importance.

Several scholars of the Soviet Union have independently characterized The Penkovsky Papers as being partly bogus and as not having come from Penkovsky's "journal". The respected Soviet expert and columnist for the Manchester Guardian and the Washington Post, Victor Zorza, wrote that "the book could have been compiled only by the Central Intelligence Agency." Zorza pointed out that Penkovsky had neither the time nor the opportunity to have produced such a manuscript; that the book's publisher (Doubleday and Company) and translator (Peter Deriabin, himself a KGB defector to the CIA) both refused to produce the original Russian manuscript for inspection; and that The Penkovsky Papers contained errors of style, technique, and fact that Penkovsky would not have made. [H: This is exactly the same situation that you have with the so-called "Holocaust" books and specifically one in point is THE DIARY OF ANNE FRANK. This was proven to be written by someone—but not Anne Frank! So, who had the most to gain by offering false information regarding something like the "Holocaust"? When you answer these kinds of questions you are beginning to gain insight.]

British intelligence also was not above scoring a propaganda victory of its own in the Penkovsky affair. Penkovsky's contact officer had been MI-6's Grenville Wynne, who, working under the cover of being a businessman, had been arrested at the same time as Penkovsky and later exchanged for the Soviet spy Gordon Lonsdale. When Wynne returned to Britain, MI-6 helped him write a book about his experiences, called CONTACT ON GORKY STREET. British intelligence wanted the book published in part to make some money for Wynne, who had gone through the ordeal of a year and a half in Soviet prisons, but the MI-6's main motive was to counteract the extremely unfavorable publicity that had been generated by the defection of its own senior officer, Harold "Kim" Philby, in 1963, and the subsequent publication of his memoirs prepared under the auspices of the KGB.

Interestingly, nowhere in CONTACT ON GORKY STREET does Wynne cite the help he received from the CIA. The reason for this omission could have been professional jealousy on the part of British intelligence, good British manners (i.e., not mentioning the clandestine activities of a friendly intelligence service), or most likely, an indication of the small role played by the CIA in the operation.

fort in which the CIA may or may not have been involved--to some degree--was KRUSHCHEV REMEMBERS, and the second volume of Krushchev memoirs scheduled for publication this year (1974). While these autobiographical and somewhat self-serving works unquestionably originated with the former Soviet premier himself, there are a number of curious circumstances connected with their transmission from Moscow to Time Inc. in New York, and to its book-publishing division, Little, Brown and Company. Time Inc. has been less than forthcoming about how it gained access to the 180 hours of taped reminiscences upon which the books are based, and how the tapes were taken out of the U.S.S.R. without the knowledge of the Soviet government or the ubiquitous and proficient KGB. The whole operation--especially its political implication--was simply too important to have been permitted without at least tacit approval by Soviet authorities. Unlike Alexander Solzhenitsyn, Krushchev was subsequently neither denounced nor exiled by Moscow's all-powerful party chiefs.

Most of the explanations offered by Time Inc. to clarify the various mysteries involved in this episode have a slightly disingenuous air. They may be true, but a number of highly regarded American and British scholars and intelligence officers dealing with Soviet affairs find them difficult to accept in toto. Why, for example, did Time Inc. find it necessary to take the risky step of sending a copy of the bound galleys of the book to its Moscow bureau--secretly via Helsinki--before it was published? The complete story of the Krushchev memoirs, in short, may never be publicly known. And if it is, it may turn out to be another example of secret U.S.-Soviet cooperation, of two hostile powers giving wide circulation to information that each wants to see published, while collaborating to keep their operations away from the eyes of the general public on both sides. After all, the publication of the first volume in 1971 had a relatively happy effect-- it supported Moscow's anti-Stalinists, and in turn increased the prospects for detente.

OUR ENEMY REVEALED

If you are still among the living, breathing, walking and "thinking" masses--do you not begin to believe that there has been much collusion against you-the-people? Remember that Krushchev is the one who hammered his shoe upon the table and said "we will bury you"! Wait, and they shall! You just didn't know who your enemy was and that it was mainly your own government. Pogo said it best: "I have found my enemy and he is me."

Further, in this event of subterfuge and planned extortion and lies, hidden agendas and secret clandestine plottings--do you still believe that NO-ONE HAS TAMPERED WITH THE BOOKS YOU CALL DIVINE? HOW SO? WHY WOULD THE MOST IMPORTANT TOOLS AGAINST THE ADVERSARY BE LEFT UNTAMPERED WHILE YOU ALLOWED ALL THE REST TO BECOME THE TOTAL LIE? PONDER IT WELL, FOR YOU HAVE BEEN "HAD".

Dharma, I recognize that you have worked beyond that which will allow your arms to heal but we shall probably have some hours of inability to write so we needed to work this extra while. Ones ask why these ones give and give without reward and/or ceasing or complaint. Dharma responds by saying it is all she can do in behalf of this nation and "my human species" and somewhere in here--this load is not heavy for these "are my brothers and the only physical world I have; so, anything less than all I have is simply not enough."

If each would only effort to leave the legacy of truth and freedom unto your children and this planet which has given you life--what a wondrous world you would become--if only each would take his own load and walk together. Salu.

In reverence and respect I greet Bea, Trish, Paul, Dan, Ron and Al in the land of God's wondrous gift of beauty unto man. I thank you for writing; I can bow unto your confusion and I want you to know that I dislike any participation in anything as sticky and ugly as "man's politics".

I must, however, separate that which is distasteful and vulgar and that which is given within the laws of God. As we move into that which falls into definition of political leadership, the definitions become even more cellular for Man has conjured his own laws to suit his lustful desires and greedy egos.

ALWAYS JUDGE THE ACTIONS AND THE WORDS--NEVER THE MAN! Right here you are relieved of much of your burden and confusion. One day you will be correct about the "man" and the next you shall be wrong for he can change as quickly as his heartbeat. Realizing this truth, let us look at that which is known and a tid-bit or two that remains hidden. If you are current with the LIBERATORS you will have received this information from Bo.

Often in the zeal to become a servant unto God, Man rushes headlong into that which is not actually his to do--that is "judgment" and "discernment FOR another". Because all men are gifted with "sin" (error), there will be many.

GEN. MOHR'S LETTER

Let us look at this letter sent to "Roy and Jo" which has given great pain and consternation unto you in Hawaii. I do not judge Jack Mohr--I admire and respect him and am pleased to serve in the same intent. However, I have had opportunity to rise from the drudge of the physical confinement and can see with more "light". You are destined to "guess" and "assume"--I have the wondrous growth of being able to "know".

Let us analyze, a bit too minutely perhaps, the outlay of Jack's presentation so that you might know "how" to look at other material which will flow past your eyes as ones assent and dissent to your task--no matter what the task.

Jack says he is "deeply hurt by 'Bo' Gritz' about face". Are you and/or Jack sure that Bo has made an

"about face"? Further, this judgment came regarding a statement in the public, as a candidate for leadership, directed as such to an audience of decision makers.

The statement as stated is "that although he did not approve of homosexuality he would 'fight to the death for their right to decide what they wanted to do with their life'". Now, supposing this had been: "Although I do not approve of Hawaiians I will fight to the death for their right to decide where they want to live in their life." This would appear to be a ridiculous statement--BUT, is it? Remember, precious travelers, it is not the homosexuality that is in point--it is the actions of the homosexual. Misuse and breaking of God's commandments are as wrong as are the abuse by the homosexual. To confuse the issues, the adversary has dumped upon you the misuse and disinformation specifically to cause you to JUDGE without knowledge of the whole.

For instance, might God not have more grace and allowance in acceptance of one who "prefers" his own sex in company and disallows all physical activities with that other? YOU MUST NOT JUDGE ANOTHER EXCEPT BY THE ACTIONS THEREOF. The point in reference is that a man who is to uphold the Constitutional Laws of a Nation, even as written along the guidelines of the Commandments of God--must put aside his "opinions" and follow the letter of those Laws as given. WHEN YOU HAVE GODLY MEN IN LEADERSHIP AND MOVE AGAIN WITHIN THE ABSOLUTE LAWS OF THE CONSTITUTION--THE PEOPLE WILL FOLLOW FOR THE THRUST OF LIES UPON YOUR BEHAVIOR PATTERNS WILL STOP.

If Commander Gritz were unwilling to fight for the "rights" of these ones to exist in America, then he would not be worthy to stand as leader for he would be immediately casting aside the rights of individuals in sovereignty under your Constitutional Bill of Rights. Just because YOU "believe" a certain way--is proven to be most often "incorrect belief" and ones become narrow unto losing their very souls to defend that incorrect perception.

First the "Hill must be taken", in military jargon--then the LAWS can be reviewed and actions can be defined according to those laws--within the guidelines set forth in the Constitution garnered from the Laws of God and Nature.

God presents laws unto humans who are given thought processes above those of the natural creatures--to maintain natural balance and love, with harmony, within the gardens given for experience and sustainment of physical life.

THE CHRISTED TEACHER AND THE ESSENES

Remember, dear ones, that the Christed Teacher was pulled this way and that way and even unto the Essenes; he had to leave them for they taught "their" opinions and they were not of those given forth from God. The Essenes continued to thrust forth the lie of that encounter unto this day. Does this make the Essenes "bad"? No, it only shows that they know not that which they do or espouse for they have listened to the opinions of other men and upon those earthly opinions have made their judgment. You must understand that you can make discernments and act upon them--judgment is a final decision allowing very little "face" to change of ones opinions--and I discern that Jack has fallen into this latter category. "Christ" does NOT mean "Jesus"--Christ is a state of Godly "being". "Jesus" was a man first called Esu Immanuel and many various other labels. "Christ" is without form, absolute and without change. In teachings of any group or "camp" as referred to as a "Bible Camp", the authority is already "suspect" because someone has pronounced "judgment" on another if the "other" differs in opinion. Does "speaking to Pete's Camp for two years" mean that a man may not become insightful and enlightened unto higher truth and knowledge? What else should serve the purpose of the Camp in the first place unless it is to serve the ones who run the Camp and the opinions of the ones who make the laws?

Do the runners of a "Camp" have a right to make the rules? Absolutely! Moreover, can not the ones who "hear" glean the value, truth and light from a speaker without accepting all the opinions of the speaker? Suppose you have a person who speaks all truth until his last sentence and then he says that the sky is actually black in Hawaii? It may well mean the person is only color-blind--it certainly does not negate the "truth" spoken. The discernment comes, as with political candidates, in choosing those with intent unto God and Country. You can only do this by hearing "all" in open minded love and TOTALLY FULL KNOWLEDGE OF THE GUIDELINES SET FOR THAT MAN IN THAT POSITION FOR WHICH HE IS RUNNING FOR OFFICE. A PRESIDENT IS TO UPHOLD AND ACT ONLY WITHIN AND ACCORDING TO THE LAWS OF THE CONSTITUTION AS CONSTRUCTED. THOSE LAWS ARE TO BE INTERPRETED BY THE SUPREME COURT OF A NATION (NOT MADE) AND THIS IS SET FORTH TO PROTECT THE SOVEREIGN RIGHTS OF CITIZENS. AS A MAN RUNNING FOR PRESIDENT, HE HAS NO RIGHT TO DENOUNCE ANYONE OTHER THAN AS BO DID, "I DO NOT APPROVE--BUT I WILL DEFEND THIS CITIZEN WHO IS AFFLICTED WITH THIS DISEASE."

As to Bo and David Duke, has not Jack judged Bo exactly as Bo "judged" David? See the note attached in response to my harsh rebuttal to same.

We compare the situation to Peter in the Garden. Again, man has judged Peter on the say-so of other men long since dead, gone and evil in the first place. I see that Gen. Mohr has made judgments far more harshly than has Bo against brother. Who shall lead your government? God cares not what WAS a man--GOD CARES WHAT IS A MAN. It is spoken of Peter denying Jesus. "Jesus" was not his name at the time--Paul gave the label to Jesus "AFTER", so who, in fact, did Peter deny? Who said so? Is Gen. Mohr offering his life to his country? Is that not in itself perhaps denial? He declined to go to a meeting in West Virginia from Mississippi because his "Doris" did not like him to be gone more than two or three days. I honor this man--he has done as much good in bringing truth of the government and political system as anyone I have met and yet, he denies ME also. HOW WILL GOD RETURN? WHO WILL ATTEND YOU AT "RAPTURE"? WHAT WILL THE PHYSICAL BLOOD SPILLAGE OF A MAN MERIT YOU IN THE SOUL REALMS? IS IT NOT THE TEACH-

INGS OF THIS WONDROUS BEING GIFTED UNTO YOUR PLACE AND NOT THE BLOOD FROM A MURDERED PERSON? HOW AND TO WHERE DID YOU THINK GOD WOULD COME AGAIN? AS YOU ANSWER THAT QUESTION HONESTLY--FROM WHERE DID YOU COME TO THINK SUCH A THING? IF GOD BE ALL WOULD HE NOT BE ABLE TO ATTEND ALL? SO BE IT.

Will Bo "tuck his tail and run"? THIS is perhaps the most judgmental of all--for this infers that the writer perceives and has judged as much and now wishes to influence all who listen to him. Will Bo "run"? No. Would he "tuck his tail"? Come now--if he changes his opinion he will shout it directly to your face and not behind the hand in whispers or he wouldn't be saying these perhaps foolish things on national television and radio. How is it that ye "judge" another by that which he says that agrees or disagrees with thine own opinion? Are you without error? Then if so, be the first to cast the stone--BUT, I REMIND YOU THAT THE FINAL JUDGMENT IS WITH GOD AND IF YE TOSS THAT STONE, NO MATTER HOW TINY--YE HAVE PROVED OF YOUR LACK OF WISDOM. PONDER IT.

The letter states: "While I have a great deal of admiration for physical bravery, and no doubt Bo is one of the best, as his war record shows. I have known many men during my 24 years in the Army, covering three wars, who would charge into the face of a machine gun, yet who were moral and spiritual cowards." Coward? Spiritual and moral coward? Do you actually believe this man to be a coward--this man who bases his thrust on God and the Constitution? Your nation was created as a goodly place UNDER GOD. It says nothing about Jesus. I note that those good "Jesus" Christians were most abusive of the natives in point in America. That was NOT "Christ"ian. Christ is a state of "being" and a mode of action--and yes, the nation was founded on the "Christ laws of God" and immediately torn asunder by the anti-Godly--by any religious label. To wear the word "Christ" across thine head speaks not of Christianity--only actions speak truth of that state of consciousness.

So, are ye out to reclaim your nation and restore your Constitution which is your best guideline for moving back toward the direction of Lighted Freedom? Or, are ye out to destroy the only man who can lead your nation into its sovereign status again?

"BO" CHOSEN MAN OF GOD

I shall tell you this, James "Bo" Gritz is a chosen man--of God--and he shall grow as needs be for the task at hand and it shall be left to God to discern when that point is reached for service and the tool honed for the needed surgery. I stand within the circle of the God of Light and so shall it be. YOU will not choose of GOD'S servants and if ye deny that which is sent to give you freedom--I pity your world. It is not for YE TO JUDGE and ye need not be confused--if not Bo--WHO?

Buchanan? Pat has just changed his stripes, it seems. Yesterday he said that he thought Bush would win the nomination of the Republican Party and that he "is a good man, an honorable man, with love and desire for that which is good for the nation--he just needed a bit of 're-directing'!" You see, Pat has judged this President to be one way and publicly stated this. If he meant it not--then HE lied to you prior to yesterday! George Bush, by all evidence now proven, is one of the most deadly criminals ever to grace your throne in the kingdom of America and/or the world. This is in full "judgment" of the actions of the Man--the Man is only to be judged by God and self. Pat also said, of the incident of the burial of soldiers in trenches, by your own military--"I think it was a brilliant move"! Brilliant? Were these careless words? Where has all your honor gone? War and killing IS NOT OF GOD! DOES THIS MEAN THAT THOSE WHO HAVE DONE SO IN HONEST THOUGHT THAT IT BE WORTHY AND RIGHTEOUS ARE DOOMED AND JUDGED TO HELL? NO--IT MEANS THAT WITH INSIGHT COMES WISDOM AND IN WISDOM IT BECOMES APPARENT THAT BREAKING GOD'S LAWS IS UNWORTHY AND WRONG. DEFENSE OF BROTHER AND SELF IS WORTHY. As wisdom is gained, wars cease and Man learns to "prove himself" in differing manner for in the ending the pen is truly mightier than is the sword. Further, the pen might well bring the WORD which enters you into the Kingdom whereas the sword may well enter you into the pits. When a man has learned the difference--he becomes the "rock" upon which a nation can be builded and soon there will be no need for guns for the killing of your babies. Spiritual and moral coward? Which might be showing the stripes of the coward--in fact?

I see that it is far more difficult to remain able to walk into the gates of heaven as a politician than ever it is or was for the rich man!

Who, might I ask, is "Jack" to support since he has withdrawn it from Bo? Do you believe those ones hold no errors in their conscience? Is discernment worthy of the speaker who usually sees so much farther??

Please, precious friends, I ask that you think on these things for I know that your way is troubled as the confusion falls about you--but, precious ones, in every location must come the leaders who will lead your sovereign states AFTER the recovery and placement of the Central Government into its proper place of service unto the sovereign States and in turn, unto the SOVEREIGN CITIZENS OF THESE UNITED STATES. Who, in this instance, will lead further, the State of Hawaii?? Who will lead this "born-again" nation with its united States again into the place as lamp-bearer unto the planet? Are ye worthy? Indeed--or ye would not be inquiring and petitioning for help in discernment of direction.

As for David Duke, I have the following suggestion and I know not if either person in point is big enough to join with the other--moreover, I would suggest that Jerry Brown be included in the political meeting--meet and you shall see that desire and direction are in harmony. You must save your nation--"FIRST"--for only through a change of direction can man find his spiritual truth for the adversary first

The tree however, when released, grows again toward the light and that portion unbounded grows straight and wondrous from the point of the bending. If the sapling is released it grows ever straight and tall unto the sun. So it is with Man if he will but cast away the bindings of disinformation and misperception--for thus comes the miracles. The mind which is unbound separated you from spiritual Truth in order to bring down your nation. You must regain the Power and then God will bring about the spiritual. But above all--YE SHALL NOT JUDGE AND FURTHER, I SUGGEST THAT YOU NOT EVEN MAKE "DISCERNMENT" UNTIL YE KNOW THE FACTS.

Blessed are ye who stand against the whirlwinds of this time of transition--but ye are worthy of the task. EVERY test will be thrown against you--SO ALWAYS TURN TO THE TRUTH OF THE LAWS (COMMANDMENTS) OF GOD (ALWAYS SEPARATING THROUGH THE PHYSICAL VS. SPIRITUAL OF THE POINT IN QUESTION) AND ABSOLUTELY USE THE GUIDELINES OF THE CONSTITUTION AND THE BILL OF RIGHTS--THROUGH THOSE GUIDELINES CAN YOU DECIDE EACH AND EVERY CONFRONTING QUESTION.

YE ARE BLESSED INDEED. THE LIGHT SHINES UPON YOU AND I AM HONORED TO BE ALLOWED SERVICE WITHIN THINE CIRCLE.

Thank you, Dharma, for we must meet that which is urgent in timely fashion. Please give this unto George also so that he can be aware that I have attended my portion. Perhaps there is some way to expedite the post. I also ask that a copy be sent directly, by fax, if possible to Commander Gritz. I love and appreciate you, chela. Good morning.

I had suggested to Bo that he consider moving into and with Pat and make a team thrust. However, I now withdraw the suggestion for you can no longer FIX America and save the Constitution by little "spot-sized" band-aids.

You can secure other people's approval, if you do right and effort diligently--but your own is worth a thousand of it.... To err is but to "live"--all that proves life unto experience is the experience itself and the growth therefrom. May you be willing to "do enough--TO PROVE LIFE". GOD AWAITS!

The news shouts: "It is reported that there was a ship possibly loaded with missiles which it was reportedly a possibility Bush would have boarded" and, "...the ship in the Gulf has made port--unseen by spying U.S. guard ships." What an insult to your intelligence. For three days you have been at stand-off war over the ships with the missiles headed for Iran. Now they tell you that with all your convoy of spy ships--"it made port unseen"? Then further insults you by telling you casually that your president "thought about having it boarded and seized"! Worse--you let them do this to you! While the U.S. continues to murder women and children in Iraq through a continuing embargo--you allow the lies to flow like water through the spillway. Evil In The All-American Cities

3/11/92 #1 HATONN

How can you tell that there is evil in the controllers of your cities, counties and states? Because they ARE THERE! If you could see the steamy side of every city you would vomit with disgust at the night-sleaze of spreading evil. In the "all-American" city of Bakersfield, as a for instance, there is a group which gathers regularly in the catacombs of some dank building. They have catered food, drink and drugs. They do ritualistic crime, they experience snuff pornography and writhe around in their own vomitus, excretions and sweat--moving from one slimy partner to another for open sexual rituals of every degrading kind. These groups are comprised of your top leaders, judges and lawyers--the political elite of the city and county. And YOU EXPECT GOD TO MAKE IT RIGHT FOR YOU NICE PEOPLE? YOU ALLOW THIS TO GO ON--FOR YOU REFUSE TO RECOGNIZE ITS EXISTENCE. SATANISM IS RAMPANT IN EVERY CITY AND TOWN--AND YOU REFUSE TO ACKNOWLEDGE IT. SO BE IT FOR UNTIL YOU--THE PEOPLE WAKE UP AND PARTICIPATE--SO SHALL IT WORSEN. IN THE ENDING TIMES IT IS WRITTEN--"THE EVIL SHALL BECOME MORE EVIL AND THE HOLY SHALL BE MORE HOLY--AND EVIL SHALL REIGN". WHERE ARE YOU, WORLD??

CIA: Espionage And Counterespionage

3/11/92 #1 HATONN

The soul of the spy is somehow the model of us all. Jacques Barzun.

Intelligence agencies, in the popular view, are organizations of glamorous master spies who, in the best tradition of James Bond, daringly uncover the evil intentions of a nation's enemies. In reality, however, the CIA has had comparatively little success in acquiring intelligence through secret agents. This classical form of espionage has for many years ranked considerably below space satellites, a source of important foreign information to the U.S. government. Even open sources (the press and other communications media) and official channels (diplomats, military attaches, and the like) provide more valuable information than the Clandestine Services of the CIA. Against its two principal targets, the Soviet Union and Communist China, the effectiveness of CIA spies is virtually nil. With their closed societies and powerful internal-security organizations, the Communist countries have proved practically impenetrable to the CIA.

To be sure, the agency has pulled off an occasional espionage coup, but these have generally involved "walk-in"—defectors who take the initiative in offering their services to the agency. Remember that in 1955, when Oleg Penkovsky first approached CIA operators in Ankara, Turkey, to discuss the possibility of becoming an agent, he was turned away because it was feared that he might be a double agent. Several years later he was recruited by bolder British intelligence officers. Nearly all of the other Soviets and Chinese who either spied for the CIA or defected to the West did so without being actively recruited by America's leading espionage agency.

Technically speaking, anyone who turns against his government is a defector. A successfully recruited agent or a walk-in who offers his services as a spy is known as a defector-in-place. He has not yet physically deserted his country, but has in fact defected politically in secret. Refugees and emigrés are also defectors, and the CIA often uses them as spies when they can be persuaded to risk return to their native lands. In general, a defector is a person who has recently bolted his country and is simply willing to trade his knowledge of his former government's activities for political asylum in another nation; that some defections are accompanied by a great deal of publicity is generally due to the CIA's desire to obtain public approbation of its work.

[H: I want to discuss some things at this point. Beware of defectors for often they come as "counter-spies". In other words as "set-ups" to infiltrate and take over as has the KGB within your CIA and police departments. The more important is the reference to "walk-ins". Beware of anyone who claims to be a walk-in of ANY KIND. God does NOT USE WALK-INS--IF GOD NEEDS REPRESENTATION--HE CREATES THE PRESENCE BY CHANGE OF DIRECTION. WALK-INS AS SUCH, ARE UTILIZED BEINGS OF EVIL INTENT FOR THE ADVERSARY (SATAN) HAS ABILITY TO UTILIZE THAT WHICH IS ALREADY IN CREATION AND WITHIN THE PHYSICAL--IN OTHER WORDS--HE MUST USE YOU. GOD OF CREATION HAS NO NEED OF SUCH MANUFACTURED SUBSTANCE

OR INTENT. So beware and use caution when determining the extent of truth to a person's projection and claim that "I am a walk-in". They are most often simply telling you that in ignorance THEY ARE TOOLS OF EVIL FOR THE EGO HAS FORGOTTEN TO CAST OUT THE EVIL PROJECTION. THE CLUES ARE NUMEROUS IF YOU HAVE "KNOWING" AND THE "WIGGLE AND SQUIRM" WILL ALWAYS BE TO GET YOU TO ABANDON YOUR GUIDELINES OF TRUTH FOR PHYSICAL PLANE EXPERIENCES WITHOUT THE LAWS OF GOD AND CREATION--MOST SUBTLE AND CORROSIVE--GRADUALLY ENTRAPPING YOU.]

Escapees from the U.S.S.R. and Eastern Europe are handled by the CIA's defector reception center at Camp King near Frankfurt, West Germany (1974). There they are subjected to extensive debriefing and interrogation by agency officers who are experts at draining from them their full informational potential. Some defectors are subjected to questioning that lasts for months; a few are interrogated for a year or more.

A former CIA chief of station in Germany remembers with great amusement his role in supervising the lengthy debriefing of a Soviet lieutenant, a tank-platoon commander, who fell in love with a Czech girl and fled with her to the West after the Soviet invasion of Czechoslovakia in 1968. The ex-agency senior officer relates how he had to play marriage counselor when the couple's relationship started to sour, causing the lieutenant to lose his willingness to talk. By saving the romance, the chief of station succeeded in keeping the information flowing from the Soviet lieutenant. Although a comparatively low-level Soviet defector of this sort would seem to have small potential providing useful intelligence, the CIA has had so little success in penetrating the Soviet military that the lieutenant underwent months of questioning. Through him, agency analysts were able to learn much about how Soviet armor units, and the ground forces in general, are organized, their training and tactical procedures, and the mechanics of their participation in the build-up that preceded the invasion of Czechoslovakia.

This was hardly intelligence of strategic importance, but the CIA's Clandestine Services have no choice but to pump each low-level Soviet defector for all he is worth.

The same former chief of station also recalls with pride the defection of Yevgeny Runge, a KGB illegal (or "deep cover" agent) in late 1967. Runge, like the more infamous Colonel Rudolf Abel from Brooklyn and Gordon Lonsdale of London, was a Soviet operator who lived for years under an assumed identity in West Germany. Unlike his colleagues, however, he was not exposed and arrested. Instead, Runge defected to the CIA when he lost interest in his clandestine work. According to the ex-agency official, Runge was of greater intelligence value to the U.S. government than Penkovsky. This assessment, however, is highly debatable because Runge provided no information which the CIA's intelligence analysts found to be useful in determining Soviet strategic capabilities or intentions. On the other hand, the KGB defector did reveal much concerning the methods and techniques of Soviet clandestine intelligence operations in Germany. To CIA operators who have been unsuccessful in penetrating the Soviet government and who have consequently become obsessed with the actions of the opposition, the defection of an undercover operator like Runge represents a tremendous emotional windfall, and they are inclined to publicize it as an intelligence coup.

Once the CIA is satisfied that a defector has told all that he knows, the resettlement team takes over. The team's objective is to find a place for the defector to live where he will be free from the fear of reprisal and happy enough neither to disclose his connections with the CIA nor, more important, to be tempted to return to his native country. Normally, the team works out a cover story for the defector, invents a new identity for him, and gives him enough money (often a lifetime pension) to make the transition to a new way of life. The most important defectors are brought to the United States (either before or after their debriefing), but the large majority are permanently settled in Western Europe, Canada, or Latin America. On occasion, a defector will be hired as a contract employee to do specialized work as a translator, interrogator, counterintelligence analyst, or the like, for the Clandestine Services.

The defector's adjustment to his new country is often quite difficult. For security reasons, he is usually cut off from any contact with his native land and, therefore, from his former friends and those members of his family who did not accompany him into exile. He may not even know the language of the country where he is living. Thus, a large percentage of defectors become psychologically depressed with their new lives once the initial excitement of resettlement wears off. A few have committed suicide. To try to keep the defector content, the CIA assigns a case officer to each one for as long as is thought necessary. The case officer stays in regular contact with the defector and helps solve any problems that may arise. With a particularly volatile defector, the agency maintains even closer surveillance, including telephone taps and mail intercepts, to guard against unwanted developments.

In some instances, case officers will watch over the defector for the rest of his life. More than anything else, the agency wants no defector to become so dissatisfied that he will be tempted to return to his native country. Of course, redefection usually results in a propaganda victory for the opposition; of greater consequence, however, is the fact that the redefector probably will reveal everything he knows about the CIA in order to ease his penalty for having defected in the first place. Moreover, when a defector does return home, the agency has to contend with the nagging fear that all along it has been dealing with a double agent and that all the intelligence he revealed was part of a plot to mislead the CIA. The possibilities for deception in the defector game are endless, and the Communist intelligence services have not failed to take advantage of them. [H: The infiltration of Mossad (Israeli) counter-agents is the most effective method utilized to gain control of the American Government through the use of Political Action Committees and shrewd management, bribery and blackmail. Remember chelas, the organizations representing Israel are birthed and conjured by the British Intelligence service.]

BUGS AND OTHER DEVICES

Strictly speaking, classical espionage uses human beings to gather information; technical espionage employs machines, such as photographic satellites, long-range electronic sensors, and communications-intercept stations. Technical collection systems were virtually unknown before World War II, but the same technological explosion which has affected nearly every other aspect of modern life over the last twenty-five years has also drastically changed the intelligence trade. Since the war, the United States has poured tens of billions of dollars into developing ever more advanced machines to keep track of what other countries--especially Communist countries--are doing. Where once the agent sought secret information with little support beyond his own wits, he now is provided with a dazzling assortment of audio devices, miniaturized cameras, and other exotic tools.

[H: Please note that today (March, 1992) the government is demanding that the telephone company institute a system allowing easier access to tapping into the lines to monitor all telephones! That means YOU, BROTHERS AND SISTERS--YOU! FURTHER, THE MOVE TO THIS MORE MASSIVELY EXPENSIVE SYSTEM IS VERY EXPENSIVE TO INSTITUTE--SO THE LAW WILL REQUIRE THAT THE TELEPHONE

USERS (YOU) PAY FOR THE SERVICE. NO, I JEST NOT--GO READ YOUR PAPERS! I mentioned this a few days ago in a "Today's Watch" and I have a dozen clippings regarding the matter. Is it not sort of like getting murdered by torture and paying the torturer AND the murderer to do the job on you?]

Within the CIA's Clandestine Services, the Technical Services Division (TSD) is responsible for developing most of the equipment used in the modern spying game. Some of the paraphernalia is unusual: a signal transmitter disguised as a false tooth, a pencil which looks and writes like an ordinary pencil but can also write invisibly on special paper, a bizarre automobile rear-view mirror that allows the driver to observe not the traffic behind but the occupants of the back seat instead. Except for audio devices, special photographic equipment and secret communications systems, there is in fact little applicability for even the most imaginative tools in real clandestine operations.

Secret intelligence services in past times were interested only in recruiting agents who had direct access to vital foreign information. Today the CIA and other services also search for the guard or janitor who is in a position to install a bug or a phone tap in a sensitive location. Even the telephone and telegraph companies of other countries have become targets for the agency. In addition to the foreign and defense ministries, the CIA operators usually try to penetrate the target nation's communications systems--a task which is on occasion aided by American companies, particularly the International Telephone and Telegraph Company. Postal services also are subverted for espionage purposes.

Most agency operators receive training in the installation and servicing of bugs and taps, but the actual planting of audio surveillance devices is usually carried out by TSD specialists brought in from headquarters or a regional operational support center, like (DELETED). The more complex the task, the more likely it is that headquarters specialists will be utilized to do the job. On some operations, however, agents will be specially trained by TSD experts, or even the responsible case officer, in the skills of installing such equipment.

Audio operations vary, of course, in complexity and sensitivity--that is, in risk potential. A classic, highly dangerous operation calls for a great deal of planning during which the site is surveyed in extensive detail. Building and floor plans must be acquired or developed from visual surveillance. The texture of the walls, the colors of interior paints, and the like must be determined. Activity in the building and in the room or office where the device is to be installed must be observed and recorded to ascertain when the area is accessible. The movements of the occupants and any security patrols must be also known. When all this has been accomplished, the decision is made as to where and when to plant the bug. Usually, the site will be entered at night or on a weekend and, in accordance with carefully pre-planned and tightly timed actions, the audio device will be installed. High-speed, silent drills may be used to cut into the wall and, after installation of the bug, the damage will be repaired with quick-drying plaster and covered by a paint exactly matching the original. The installation may also be accomplished from an adjoining room, or one above or below (if a ceiling or floor placement is called for).

The agency's successes with bugs and taps have usually been limited to the non-communist countries, where the relatively lax internal-security systems do not deny the CIA operations the freedom of movement necessary to install eavesdropping devices. A report on clandestine activities in Latin America during the 1960's by the CIA Inspector General, for example, revealed that a good part of the intelligence collected by the agency in that region came from audio devices. In quite a few of the Latin nations, the report noted, the CIA was regularly intercepting the telephone conversations of important officials and had managed to place bugs in the homes and offices of many key personnel, up to and including cabinet ministers. In some allied countries the agency shares in the information acquired from audio surveillance conducted by the host intelligence service, which often receives technical assistance from the CIA for this very purpose--and may be penetrated by the CIA in the process.

Audio devices are fickle. As often as not, they fail to work after they have been installed, or they function well for a few days, then suddenly fall silent. Sometimes they are quickly discovered by the local security services, or, suspecting that a room may be bugged, the opposition employs effective countermeasures. The Soviet KGB has the habit of renting homes and offices in foreign countries and then building new interior walls, floors, and ceilings covering the original ones in key rooms--thus completely baffling the effectiveness of any bugs that may have been installed. The simplest way to negate audio surveillance--and it is a method universally employed--is to raise the noise level in the room by constantly playing a radio or a hi-fi set. The music and other extraneous noises tend to mask the sounds of the voices that the bug is intended to capture; unlike the human ear, audio devices cannot distinguish among sounds.

CIA technicians are constantly working on new listening devices in the hope of improving the agency's ability to eavesdrop. Ordinary audio equipment, along with other clandestine devices, are developed by the Technical Services Division. In addition to espionage tools, the TSD devises gadgets for use in other covert activities, such as paramilitary operations. Plastic explosives, incapacitating and lethal drugs, and silent weapons--high-powered crossbows, for example--are designed and fabricated for special operations. The more complex or sophisticated instruments used by the CIA's secret operators are, however, produced by the agency's Directorate of Science and Technology. This component also assists other groups within the CIA engaging in clandestine research and development.

The D/S & T, furthermore, assists the Office of Communications in devising new and improved methods of communications intercept and security countermeasures.

Although the experts in the Science and Technology Directorate have done much outstanding work in some areas--for example, overhead reconnaissance--their performance in the audio field for clandestine application is often less than satisfactory. One such device long under development was a laser beam which could be aimed at a closed window from outside and used to pick up the vibrations of the sound waves caused by a conversation inside the room. This system was successfully tested in the field--in West Africa--but it never seemed to function properly elsewhere, except in the United States. [H: Now, eighteen years later--there are more sophisticated devices which go unaltered right through walls and don't even need windows to vibrate.] Another

When CIA operators are successful in planting a bug or making a tap, they send the information thus acquired back to the Clandestine Services at headquarters in Langley with the source clearly identified. However, when the Clandestine Services, in turn, pass the information on to the intelligence analysts in the agency and elsewhere in the federal government, the source is disguised or the information is buried in a report from a real agent. For example, the Clandestine Services might credit the information to "a source in the foreign ministry who has reported reliably in the past" or "a Western businessman with wide contacts in the local government". In the minds of the covert operators, it is more important to protect the source than to present the information straightforwardly. This may guarantee "safe" sources, but it also handicaps the analysts in making a confident judgment of the accuracy of the report's content.

This withholding of information within the government for security reasons is not a new phenomenon in the intelligence business. The joint congressional committee investigating the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor found that "the fact the Japanese codes had been broken was regarded as of more importance than the information obtained from decoded traffic. The result of this rather specious premise was to leave large numbers of policy-making and enforcement officials in Washington completely oblivious of the most pertinent information concerning Japan."

The fertile imagination of the S&T Directorate experts during the following years produced many more unique collection schemes aimed at solving the mysteries of China's strategic missile program. Most eventually proved to be unworkable, and at least one entailed a frighteningly high-risk potential. The silliest of all, however, called for the creation of a small one-man airplane that could theoretically be packaged in two large suitcases. In concept, an agent along with the suitcases would somehow be infiltrated into the denied area, where, after performing his espionage mission, he would assemble the aircraft and fly to safety over the nearest friendly border. Even the chief of the Clandestine Services refused to have anything to do with this scheme, and the project died [at that time] on the drawing boards and

The technical difficulties involved in the (DELETED) system and the (DELETED) device were too great and too time-consuming for either to be fully developed by their inventors before improvements in intelligence-satellite surveillance programs were achieved. Other clandestine collection devices--a few more sensibly contrived, but most of dubious value--were also developed by the agency's technicians and may now be in operation. The CIA's technical experts often feel compelled to build exotic systems only because of the mechanical challenge they pose. Such efforts might be justified by an intelligence requirement; unfortunately, too many intelligence requirements are not honestly based on the needs of the policymakers but are instead generated by and for the CIA and the other intelligence-community members alone.

THE TECHNICAL COLLECTION EXPLOSION

While technology has increasingly tended to mechanize classical espionage, its most important impact on the intelligence trade has been in large-scale collection--satellites, long-range sensors, and the interception of communications. These technical espionage systems have become far and away the most important sources of information on America's principal adversaries. Overhead-reconnaissance programs have provided much detailed information on Soviet and Chinese missile programs, troop movements, and other military developments. They have also produced valuable information regarding North Vietnamese infiltration of South Vietnam and North Korean military preparations against South Korea. And such collection has frequently contributed to the U.S. government's knowledge of events in the Middle East.

[H: You must keep uppermost in mind that this information was written before 1974 AND that it deals with the CIA. The fact that Soviet space technology so far surpasses that of the U.S. or any other nation as to make yours look like a game of cops and robbers. You have to come to realize that it no longer is nation against nation in the spying business for the Elite of the world are against YOU-THE-PEOPLE and it has nothing to do with nationality. The technological advances are far out front of anything available at the writing of this original document--but the important point is that now ALL THAT TECHNOLOGY IS TURNED AGAINST YOU-THE-PEOPLE FOR TOTAL SURVEILLANCE AND MONITORING OF EACH AND EVERY ONE OF YOU--CONSTANTLY.]

As technical collection becomes more refined, classical spies have, of course, become nearly obsolete in clandestine operations against the more important target countries. So, too, has the shift to technical espionage caused America's intelligence costs to skyrocket to more than $6 billion yearly. Not only are classical spies relatively cheap, but technical collection systems, producing incredible amounts of information, require huge numbers of people to process and analyze this mass of raw data.

In terms of money spent and personnel involved, the CIA is very much a junior partner to the Pentagon in the technical-espionage field. The Defense Department has an overall intelligence budget of about $5 billion a year, some 75 to 80 percent of which is spent on technical collection and processing. The CIA's technical programs, however, amount to no more than $150 million yearly. (This is exclusive of several hundred million in funds annually supplied by the Pentagon for certain community-wide programs, such as satellite development, in which the agency shares.) Similarly, there are tens of thousands of people--both military and civilian--working for the Defense Department in the technical fields, whereas the CIA only has about 1,500 such personnel.

Still, the agency has made a substantial contribution to research and development in technical espionage. Over the years, CIA scientists have scored major successes by developing the U-2 and SR-71 [and now even more sophisticated craft are

A good part of these research and operating costs have been funded by the Pentagon and in several instances the programs were ultimately converted into joint CIA-Pentagon operations or "captured" by the military services.

NSA: CODE BREAKING.

America's first experience in technical espionage came in the form of radio intercepts and code-breaking, an art known as communications intelligence (COMINT). Although Secretary of State Henry Stimson closed down the cryptanalytical section of the State Department in 1929 with the explanation that "Gentlemen do not read each other's mail," COMINT was revived, and played an important part in U.S. intelligence activities during World War II. In the immediate postwar period this activity was initially reduced, then expanded once again as the Cold War intensified. In 1952 the President, by secret executive order, established the National Security Agency (NSA) to intercept and decipher the communications of both the nation's enemies and friends and to ensure that U.S. codes were secure from similar eavesdropping. The NSA, though placed under the control of the Defense Department, soon established an independent bureaucratic identity of its own--and at present (1974) has a huge budget of well over a billion dollars per annum and a workforce of some 25,000 personnel.

Before the NSA can break into and read foreign codes and ciphers, it must first intercept the encoded and encrypted messages of the target country. To make these intercepts, it must have listening posts in locations where the signal waves of the transmitters that send the messages can be acquired. Radio traffic between foreign capitals and embassies in Washington can be easily picked off by listening equipment located in suburban Maryland and Virginia, but communications elsewhere in the world are not so easily intercepted. Thus, the NSA supports hundreds of listening posts around the globe; such posts usually being operated by other U.S. government agencies. Most commonly used to run the NSA's overseas facilities are the armed services' cryptological agencies: the Army Security Agency, the Navy Security Service, and the Air Force Security Agency. These three military organizations come under the NSA's policy coordination; the messages they intercept are sent back to NSA headquarters at Fort Meade, Maryland, near Washington.

Perhaps the most controversial NSA base (operated by the Army) is at (DELETED) in (DELETED). A Senate subcommittee investigating American commitments abroad, chaired by Stuart Symington, revealed in 1970 that this heretofore secret facility had been secured from the Haile Selassie regime in return for hundreds of millions of dollars in military and economic assistance--without most members of Congress ever being aware of its existence. [H: This is true of almost everything they do--including go to war.] The Symington subcommittee also discovered a similar NSA facility (operated by the Navy) at (DELETED) in (DELETED) which also had been kept secret from Congress. Both these bases have been used to intercept communications for the Middle East and Africa and both required the U.S. government to offer an implicit--but secret--commitment to the host government.

UNBREAKABLE CODES

Although the NSA engineered some successes against the Eastern European countries and Communist China in the early days, for at least the last fifteen years it has been completely unable to break into the high-grade cipher systems and codes of these nations. Against such major targets, the NSA has been reduced to reading comparatively unimportant communications between low-level military components and the equally inconsequential routine exchanges between low-grade bureaucrats and economic planners. This is far short of learning the Soviet Union's or China's most vital secrets.*

*David Kahn, author of the definitive work on modern cryptology, The Code Breakers, explained in the June 22, 1973, New York Times why NSA has had and will continue to have so little luck with reading advanced communications systems like the Soviets': "Cryptology has advanced, in the last decade or so, to systems that, though not unbreakable in the absolute, are unbreakable in practice. They consist essentially of mathematical programs for computer-like cipher machines. They engender so many possibilities that, even given torrents of intercepts and scores of computers to batter them with, cryptanalysts could not reach a solution for thousands of years. Moreover, the formulas are so constructed that even if the cryptanalyst has the ideal situation--the original plain text of one of the foreign cryptograms--he cannot recreate the formula by comparing the two and then use it to crack the next message that comes along."

... One such benefit is derived from traffic analysis, the technique by which the NSA gleans some useful information through the study of communication patterns. A principal assistant of the NSA Director observed at the same meeting that another justification for the agency's continuing programs against the Soviets and Chinese is the hope that "maybe we'll get a break sometime, like the Pueblo". He was, of course, referring to the capture in 1968 of the NSA spy ship by North Korea. Much of the Pueblo's cryptological machinery was seized intact by the North Koreans and probably turned over to the Soviets. While these machines were not associated with the highest-grade U.S. military or diplomatic systems, the Soviets would have been able to use them to read messages previously sent through certain American military channels and intercepted and stored by the Soviets. The NSA has for many years been recording and storing not-yet-"broken" Soviet and Chinese messages, and can presume the same has been done with American communications; for our part, there are literally boxcars and warehouses full of incomprehensible tapes of this sort at NSA's Fort Meade Headquarters.

MORE SUCCESSFUL AGAINST THIRD WORLD & ALLIES

As with so many other parts of the American intelligence apparatus, the NSA has had considerably more success operating against the Third World countries and even against some of our allies. With what is reportedly the largest bank of computers in the world and thousands of cryptanalysts, the NSA has had little trouble with the codes and ciphers of these nations.

Two of the highly secret agency's young officers, William Martin and Bernon Mitchell, who defected to the Soviet Union in 1960, mentioned thirty to forty nations whose systems the NSA could read. In addition, Martin and Mitchell told of a practice under which the NSA provided encoding and cryptographic machines to other nations, then used its knowledge of the machinery to read the intercepted messages of these countries. This practice still flourishes.

One of the countries that Martin and Mitchell specifically named as being read by the NSA at that time was Egypt--the United Arab Republic. After making their revelation at a Moscow press conference,

A "break", in the terminology of the cryptanalyst, is a success scored not through deciphering skill, but because of an error on the part of another country's communications clerks or, on rare occasions, a failure in the cipher equipment. A few years ago, a new code clerk arrived at a foreign embassy in Washington and promptly sent a message "in the clear" (i.e., unenciphered), to his Foreign Ministry. Realizing that he should have encrypted the transmission, he sent the same message again, but this time in cipher. With the "before and after" messages in hand, the NSA had little difficulty thereafter, of course, reading that country's secret communications. Malfunctioning or worn-out cryptographic equipment results in triumphs for the NSA by unintentionally establishing repetitious patterns which detract from the random selections that are vital to sophisticated ciphers. A rough analogy would be a roulette wheel which, because of poor construction or excessive wear, develops certain predictable characteristics discernible to a keen observer who is then able to take advantage because of his special knowledge.

Another type of break comes as a result of a physical (rather than cerebral) attack on another country's communications system. The attack may be a clandestine operation to steal a code book or cipher system, the suborning of a communications clerk, or the planting of an audio device in an embassy radio room. Within the CIA's Clandestine Services, a special unit of the Foreign Intelligence (i.e., espionage) Staff specializes in these attacks. This approach apparently appealed to President Nixon when he approved of the 1970 Houston plan for domestic espionage which surfaced during the Watergate scandal. The plan called for breaking into foreign embassies in Washington because it would be "possible by this technique to secure the material with which the NSA can crack foreign cryptographic codes. We spend millions of dollars attempting to break these codes by machines. One surreptitious entry can do the job successfully at no dollar cost." While the Houston plan might have been effective against Third World countries with unsophisticated cryptological systems, it was unlikely to score any significant gains against major powers--even if there had been any successful break-ins. David Kahn explains why: "Code-books could be photographed, because today's cipher secrets reside in electronic circuits, some of them integrated on a pinhead, some of them embodied in printed-circuit boards with up to fifteen layers." When it is successful, the information it acquires is sent to the NSA to help that agency with its COMINT efforts.

In 1970, NSA Director Admiral Noel Gayler and his top deputies admitted privately that a good part of the NSA's successes came from breaks, and they emphasized that the agency was extremely adept at exploiting these non-cryptanalytical windfalls. Nevertheless, breaks are never mentioned in the authorized U.S. government "leaks" concerning the NSA's activities that from time to time appear in the press. In its controlled revelations to the public, the NSA deliberately tries to create the impression that it is incredibly good at the art of deciphering secret foreign communications and that its triumphs are based purely on its technical skills.

MULTILATERAL SPYING

A side effect of the NSA's programs to intercept diplomatic and commercial messages is that rather frequently certain information is acquired about American citizens, including members of Congress and other federal officials, which can be highly embarrassing to those individuals. This type of intercepted message is handled with even greater care than the NSA's normal product, which itself is so highly classified that a special security clearance is needed to see it. Such information may, for example, derive from a Senator's conversation with a foreign ambassador in Washington who then cables a report of the talk to his Foreign Ministry.

A more serious embarrassment happened in 1970 during the course of delicate peace talks on the Middle East. A State Department official had a conversation about the negotiations with an Arab diplomat who promptly reported what he had been told to his government. His cable disclosed that the State Department man had either grossly misstated the American bargaining position or the diplomat had badly misunderstood what had been told him. In any case, high State Department officers were quite disturbed about the misrepresented position and the incident did not reflect well on the competence of the American official in the eyes of his superiors.

Not even the CIA is immune to such prying by the NSA. On one occasion the Director of Central Intelligence was supplied with an intercepted message concerning his deputy. According to this message, a transmission from a Western European ambassador to his Foreign Office, the CIA's number-two man had a few evenings earlier at a dinner party hosted by the ambassador indiscreetly opined on several sensitive U.S. policy positions. The ambassador's interpretation of the conversation was contradicted by the Deputy Director--to the apparent satisfaction of the DCI--and the matter was quietly dropped.

Some NSA-intercepted communications can cause surprising problems within the U.S. government if they are inadvertently distributed to the wrong parties. When particularly sensitive foreign-policy negotiations are under way which may be compromised internally by too much bureaucratic awareness, the White House's usual policy has been to issue special instructions to the NSA to distribute messages mentioning these negotiations only to HENRY KISSINGER and his immediate staff.

EMBASSIES TAPPED

The FBI operates a wiretap program against numerous foreign embassies in Washington which, like some of the NSA intercept operations, also provides information about Americans. In cooperation with the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company (a Bell subsidiary), FBI agents regularly monitor the phones in the offices of all Communist governments represented here; on occasion, the embassies of various non-Communist countries have their phones tapped, especially when their nations are engaged in negotiations with the U.S. government or when important developments are taking place in these countries.

17½ LINES DELETED

Wiretaps on foreign embassies, justified on the grounds of preserving national security, must be approved by the State Department before they are installed by the FBI. As it is often State which requests the FBI to activate the listening devices, approval is almost always given. The transcripts of such conversations are never marked as having come from wiretaps, but instead carry the description "from a source who had reported reliably in the past". Such reliable "sources" include State Department officials themselves--the CIA has, on occasion, intercepted communications between American ambassadorial officials and their colleagues in Washington.

In the way of background, it should be understood that CIA communications clerks handle nearly all classified cables between American embassies and Washington--for both the CIA and the State Department. To have a separate code room for each agency in every embassy would be a wasteful procedure, so a senior CIA communications expert is regularly assigned to the administrative part of the State Department in order to oversee CIA's communicators who work under State cover. In theory, CIA clerks are not supposed to read the messages they process for State, but any code clerk who wants to have a successful career quickly realizes that his promotions depend on the CIA and that he is well advised to show the CIA station chief copies of all important State messages. The State Department long ago implicitly recognized that its most secret cables are not secure from CIA inspection by setting up special communications channels which supposedly cannot be deciphered by the CIA.

When in 1968 Ambassador to Iran Armin Meyer ran into troubles with the CIA station chief in Teheran, Meyer switched his communications with State in Washington to one of these "secure" channels, called "Roger". But the CIA had nonetheless figured out a way to intercept his cables and the replies he received from Washington; the CIA Director thus received a copy of each intercepted cable. Written on top of each cable was a warning that the contents of the cable should be kept especially confidential because State was unaware that the CIA had a copy.

SATELLITES AND OTHER SYSTEMS

The most important source of technical intelligence gathered by the U.S. is that collected by photographic and electronic reconnaissance satellites. Most are launched into north-south orbits designed to carry them over such targets as the U.S.S.R. and China with maximum frequency as they circle around the earth. Others are put into orbits synchronized with the rotation of the globe, giving the illusion that they are stationary. All satellite programs come under the operational authority of the National Reconnaissance Office (NRO), a component of the Secretary of the Air Force's office. The NRO spends well over a billion dollars every year for satellites and other reconnaissance systems. While the Defense Department provides all the money, policy decisions on how the funds will be allocated are made by the Executive Committee for Reconnaissance, consisting of the Assistant Secretary of Defense for Intelligence, the Director of Central Intelligence, and the Assistant to the President for National Security Affairs. Requirements for satellite collection are developed by the U.S. Intelligence Board (USIB), which is chaired by the Director of Central Intelligence agencies. A special committee of the USIB designates the specific targets each satellite will cover.

Employing high-resolution and wide-angle cameras, the photographic satellites have for years provided voluminous and detailed information on Soviet and Chinese military developments and other matters of strategic importance; conversely, except for special cases such as the Arab-Israeli situation, there has been little reason to apply satellite reconnaissance against other, less powerful countries.

Some photographic satellites are equipped with color cameras for special missions, and some even carry infrared sensing devices which measure heat emissions from ground targets to determine, for example, if a site is occupied or what the level of activity is at certain locations. There are satellites that have television cameras to speed up the delivery of their product to the photo interpreters who analyze, or read out, the film packages of the spies in the sky. But, good as they are, photographic satellites have inherent limitations. They cannot see through clouds, nor can they see into buildings or inside objects.

In addition to photographic satellites, U.S. intelligence possesses a wide array of other reconnaissance satellites which perform numerous electronic sensing tasks. These satellites collect data on missile testing, on radars and the emissions of other high-power electronic equipment, and on communications traffic. Electronic satellites are in some cases supported by elaborate ground stations, both in friendly foreign countries and in the United States, that feed targeting directions to the sensors, receive the collected data from the satellites, and transmit the processed data to the intelligence agencies in Washington.

U.S. USING OBSOLETE TECHNOLOGY

Until satellites became operational in the early 1960's, spy planes and ships were valuable sources of information, serving as supplements to the product of the NSA, then the best material available to U.S. intelligence. Air Force and CIA aircraft frequently flew along the perimeters of the Communist countries and even over their territory in search of badly needed electronic and photographic information. Spy ships operated by the Navy--like the Pueblo--sailed along the coasts listening in on communications and other electronic signals. Although these programs were considered to be great successes by the intelligence community, occasional blunders such as the 1959 U-2 Affair and the Tonkin Gulf incident in 1964 (the two U.S. destroyers "torpedoed" by North Vietnamese boats were on a clandestine spy mission) had a serious and detrimental effect on world politics. Aggressive technical intelligence collection efforts have also led to the capture of the Pueblo, the Israeli attack on the Liberty in 1967, and shoot-down of RB-47s by the Soviets, and of EC-121s and several U-2s by the Chinese.

Despite the risks incurred by such provocative collection actions in the name of intelligence, the Pentagon continues to sponsor these now obsolete programs. Satellites and long-range stand-off (i.e., non-penetrating) systems have deeply reduced, if not eliminated, the need for spy flights and cruises. [H: What this author is not telling here is that these obsolete means ARE necessary, for the U.S. satellite system for spying on Russia has been almost entirely taken-out by the Soviets thus negating most of your crucial spy network from space.] But the armed services have spent billions of dollars to develop the spy planes and ships (just as the CIA and the NSA have invested in outmoded listening posts ringing the U.S.S.R. and China); consequently, there has been a stubborn bureaucratic reluctance to take these collectors out of service. The "drone"--pilotless aircraft--flights over China, for example, were continued even after the Chinese started shooting them down on a regular and embarrassing basis, and after they had proven nearly useless. State Department reconnaissance intelligence experts insisted that the Air Force maintained the drone activity even though the information thus gathered was of marginal value because it had nowhere else to use such spy equipment. Similarly, Air Force SR-71s have continued to fly over North Korea despite that country's lack of meaningful intelligence targets. With the Soviet Union declared off-bounds for secret overflights since 1960, and China since 1971, the Air Force can devise no other way of justifying the operational need for these aircraft.

MORE DATA LESS
EFFICIENCY

Clearly, the prevailing theology in the U.S. intelligence community calls for the collection of as much information as possible. Little careful consideration is given to the utility of the huge amounts of material so acquired. The attitude of "collection for collection's sake" has resulted in mountains of information which can only overwhelm intelligence analysts charged with interpreting it. Further, such material contributes little to the national requirements though it may prove interesting to certain highly specialized analysts, particularly in the Pentagon. There has been little coordination between the managers of the various technical espionage programs, and even less between the collectors and the policy-makers. Each of the many agencies which carry out such programs has a vested bureaucratic interest in keeping its particular system in being, and the extreme compartmentalization of the operations has made it almost impossible for the programs to be evaluated as a whole. Former CIA Director Helms failed almost completely in his assigned mission of bringing a more rational and coordinated approach to the myriad technical espionage systems. It is not likely that his successors will do much better. No CIA Director has ever been able to manage the intelligence community.

Despite the roughly $5 billion already being spent each year on technical systems and on processing the great amounts of data collected, there remains significant pressure within the intelligence community to collect still more information.

ARMED FOR BLACKMAIL

This secrecy is unquestionably needed to protect the actual workings of the system, but then the operation of the ABM was no less classified, and the national security did not seem to be injured by the ABM debate in Congress. However, the very word "intelligence" seems to make our legislators bow and genuflect. [H: Could that be because there is so much "intelligence" gathered and useable against each one of the ones in Congress?] They have in the past bestowed virtual blank checks on the various intelligence agencies, allowing these organizations to do practically anything they desired. The Soviets have a fairly clear idea of the functions performed by American satellites and other collection systems; there would seem to be little practical reason why the Congress and the American people must be kept completely in the dark.

Furthermore, technical espionage of any kind has a limited value. It can identify and measure missile development and troop movements, but it cannot tell what foreign leaders are planning to do with those missiles and troops. In 1968 the U.S. intelligence community had a relatively clear picture of the Soviet preparations for military action against Czechoslovakia; it had no means whatever of knowing whether or not an actual attack would be made. That kind of information could have been provided only by a human spy inside the Kremlin, and the CIA had none of those, and small prospect for recruiting any. The United States knew what could happen, but intelligence consumers have an insatiable appetite for knowledge of what will happen. Their clamoring makes for more and bigger collections systems to attempt to satisfy their demands.

I note that altars unto every idol are springing up as ones search for peace and to calm their tattered nerves before a day begins (in order to strengthen) and after a day ends (in order to release). The idea is positive but all the little idols unto every resource is foolishness--God is there within--simply speak with HIM. I am asked if there are ANY untampered New Testaments? Yes, AND THEY CALLED HIS NAME IMMANUEL. Next in line of clarity would be THE JEFFERSON BIBLE. All other Bibles are written by Saul of Tarsus to control the people and focus them into the physical "controls". The "Christ" experienced as example. Ones wish to say that when the Christ said that "except through me shall ye enter into the Kingdom of God our Father" that he meant "I am THE WAY" and not come to "show the way". Nay, except through practicing that which was given and shown unto you by the Teacher--is the WAY, therefore, except through that Christed path of living would you enter into and within the gates of the Father's house. The "native Americans" call it walking the red road. The Teacher is NEVER the way--doing that which a great Teacher brings unto you IS THE WAY. KNOWING without ACTION is nothing and is "judged" as negative action. In KNOWING the heart will act in that KNOWING or the person condemns self to "refusal" to act according to that knowledge.

Espionage and Counterespionage. Part II

3/12/92 #1 HATONN

COUNTERESPIONAGE

Counterespionage, the clandestine warfare waged between rival intelligence agencies, is usually referred to more delicately in the spy business as counterintelligence. Essentially, it consists of preventing the opposition from penetrating your own secret service while at the same time working to penetrate the opposition's--to learn what he is planning against you. As practiced by the CIA and the Soviet KGB, counterespionage is a highly complex and devious activity. It depends on cunning entrapments, agents provocateurs, spies and counterspies, double and triple crosses. It is the stuff that spy novels are made of, with limitless possibilities for deception and turns of plot.

While foreign intelligence organizations with longer histories have traditionally emphasized counterespionage, U.S. intelligence was slow to develop such a capability. To Americans during World War II and immediately thereafter, counterespionage meant little more than defensive security measures such as electrified fences, watchdogs, and codes. The obscure subtleties and intricate conspiracies of counterespionage seemed alien to the American character and more suited to European back alleys and the Orient Express. But the demands of the Cold War and the successes scored by the KGB in infiltrating Western intelligence services gradually drew the CIA deeply into the counterespionage game.

CIA/FBI RELATIONSHIP

So today, it is claimed that the ship carrying missiles to Iran was not even followed. This, after they told you for days that the military was going to board and confiscate items on the ship.

In the next sentence, "Israel denies selling Patriots to China." Come, come--Israel's only product is arms. Moreover, the Patriots are so terrible in manufacture and usefulness that it would be nice if all enemies had such ineffective weaponry. That, however, is not the point--if you have open lies in one breath and possible lies in the next--which might you consider as a possibility?

UNITED NATIONS

Bush is coming down hard again on Iraq! The U.N. speakers from Great Britain are wielding the sword. You-the-people allowed the Gulf War to be popular and Bush needs "popular" so guess what is being set up in front of you! The military is at full alert and ready to finish Iraq. Nay, chelas, you are going to start Armageddon wherein the Holocaust will surpass anything ever known to man. In the confusion your President's children can take Cuba.

You should have compassion and pity the blind--but to refuse to see disallows such care. Ponder it. If you march to Satan's drummer then ye shall end up in Satan's camp--so be it.

cacies of counterespionage work. (The FBI, on the other hand, tends to see CIA counterintelligence operators as dilettantes who are too clever for their own good.) Although the CIA has had almost no success in penetrating the Soviet and other oppositional services, it nonetheless continues to press for additional operational opportunities in the United States, claiming that the FBI is not sophisticated enough to cope with the KGB.

Within the CIA, the routine functions of security--physical protection of buildings, background investigations of personnel, lie-detector tests--are assigned to the Office of Security, a component of the house-keeping part of the agency, the M&S Directorate. Counterespionage policy and some actual operations emanate from the Counterintelligence (CI) Staff of the Clandestine Services. As with the bulk of espionage activities, however, most operations are carried out by the area division (Far East, Western Hemisphere, etc.), which are also responsible. The area divisions tend to see espionage value or information-gathering value in counterespionage operations, which are referred to in CIA files as joint FI/CI projects--FI (Foreign Intelligence) being the Clandestine Services' euphemism for espionage.

Almost every CIA station or base overseas has one or more officers assigned to it for counterespionage purposes. The first priority for these counterspy specialists is to monitor agency espionage and covert-action operations to make sure that the opposition has not penetrated or in some other way compromised the activity. All reports submitted by CIA case officers and their foreign agents are carefully studied for any indication of enemy involvement. The counterintelligence men know all too well that agents, wittingly or unwittingly, can be used by the KGB as deceptions to feed false information to the CIA, or employed as provocations to disrupt carefully laid operational plans. Foreign agents can also be penetrations, or double agents, whose task it is to spy on the CIA's secret activities. When a double agent is discovered in an operation, consideration is given to "turning" him--that is, making him a triple agent. Or perhaps he can be unwittingly used to deceive or provoke the opposition.

If a KGB officer tries to recruit a CIA staff employee, the counterespionage experts may work out a plan to entrap the enemy operator, then publicly expose him or attempt to "turn" him. Or they may encourage the agency employee to pretend to cooperate with the Soviets in order to learn more about what kind of information the KGB wants to collect, to discover more about KGB methods and equipment, or merely to occupy the time and money of the KGB on a fruitless project. CIA counterespionage specialists do not necessarily wait for the KGB to make a recruitment effort, but instead may set up an elaborate trap, dangling one of their own as bait for the opposition.

Further, beyond safeguarding the CIA's own covert operations, counterespionage officers actively try to penetrate the opposition services. Seeking to recruit agents in Communist and other intelligence services, they hope both to find out what secret actions the opposition is planning to take against the CIA, and to thwart or deflect those initiatives.

Counterespionage, like covert action, has become a career specialty in the CIA; some clandestine operators do no other type of work during their years with the agency. These specialists have developed their own clannish subculture within the Clandestine Services, and even other CIA operators often find them excessively secretive and deceptive. The function of the counterespionage officer is to question and verify every aspect of CIA operations; taking nothing at face value, they tend to see deceit everywhere. In an agency full of extremely mistrustful people, they are the professional paranoids. It is commonly thought within the CIA that the Counterintelligence Staff operates on the assumption that the agency--as well as other elements of the U.S. government--is penetrated by the KGB. The chief of the CI Staff is said to keep a list of the fifty or so key positions in the CIA which are most likely to have been infiltrated by the opposition, and he reportedly keeps the persons in those positions under constant surveillance. Some CIA officers speculate--and a few firmly believe--that the only way to explain the poor performance in recruiting Soviet agents--and conducting clandestine intelligence operations in general against the U.S.S.R.--is that KGB penetration inside the agency has been for years sending back advance warnings.

MORE KGB IN CIA THAN AMERICANS

[H: I must note at this point as a reminder. This may have been speculation at the time of IMA's writing--although I suspect he simply had no "proof" and therefore failed to speak with assurance--however, it has been known for years now that there are more KGB in your Central Intelligence service than Americans. The entire thrust has been to unify for the Soviets and American Government have been in coalition for decades--as allies. The point is to have a hard-hitting, cold and powerful police force--by the time the U.N. takes control (which is NOW).]

Many experienced CIA operators believe that counter-espionage operations directed against opposition services receive a disproportionate amount of attention and resources within the Clandestine Services, for even if a spy were recruited in the KGB (which almost never happens), he would likely be of less intelligence value than a penetration at a similar level elsewhere in the Soviet government or Communist Party. To be sure, the spy could probably provide the CIA with some information on foreign agents working for the KGB, perhaps the type of intelligence received from them and other foreign sources, and maybe a few insights into KGB operations against the United States and other countries. But he would know little about the intentions of the Soviet leadership or Moscow's military and nuclear secrets--the most crucial information of all to those officials responsible for looking after the national security of the United States. The KGB officer, like most clandestine operators, is usually better versed on developments in foreign countries than those in his own nation. Although it is interesting to know what the KGB operators know and how they acquired their knowledge, that in itself is of little significance in achieving U.S. intelligence goals. The justification for the counterintelligence effort, although usually couched in intricate, sophisticated argument, amounts to little more than "operations for operations' sake". Admittedly, there can occasionally be a positive intelligence windfall from a counterespionage operation; an agent recruited in a foreign service may have access to information on his own government's secret policies and plans. Penkovsky, who was in Soviet military intelligence (GRU), provided his British and American case officers with reams of documents concerning the Soviet armed forces and their advanced weapons-development programs, in addition to clandestine operational information and doctrine. Agents working for other foreign services have from time to time made similar, although less valuable, contributions. But the CIA's preoccupation with this type of clandestine operation, often to the exclusion of a search for more important secrets, is at least questionable.

CIA'S SOVIET BLOC DIVISION

Within the Clandestine Services, the Soviet Bloc (SB) Division, quite obviously, is the most counterespionage-oriented of all the area divisions. The rationale generally given for this emphasis is that it is nearly impossible to recruit even the lowest-level spy in the U.S.S.R. because of the extremely tight internal-security controls in force there. Among the few Soviets who can, however, move about freely despite these restrictions are KGB and other intelligence officers. They are, furthermore, part of that small group of Soviet officials who regularly come in contact with Westerners (often searching for their own recruits). And they are among those officials most likely to travel outside the Soviet Union, where recruitment approaches by CIA operators (or induced defections) can more easily be arranged. Being the most accessible and least supervised of all Soviet citizens, KGB officers are, therefore, potentially the most recruitable.

Outside the Soviet Union, according to the SB Division's rationale, recruitment of non-KGB agents is almost as difficult as in the U.S.S.R. Most other Soviets, including the highest officials, are usually under KGB surveillance; they travel or live in groups, or are otherwise unreachable by the agency's clandestine operators. Once again, it is only the opposition intelligence officer who has the freedom of movement which allows for secret contact with foreigners. The division's efforts are therefore concentrated on seeking out potential agents among the KGB.

There is much truth in the Soviet Bloc Division's view of this operational problem, but the fact that the agency's operators have recruited no high-level Soviet spies and included almost no significant defection from the U.S.S.R. in well over a decade raises serious questions concerning the CIA's competence as a clandestine intelligence organization. [H: No, it only presents "proof" of what I say--there ceased to be intent as the organizations actually "merged" right under your noses. Moreover, there is no change in current practices even though the mouths and papers tout no Cold War. The facts are that the merging operations have been under-way for United Nations One World Government and enforcement for over 30 years.] In fact, since the early 1960's there have been practically no CIA attempts to recruit a Soviet agent, and only a handful of defection inducements; Oleg Penkovsky, it must be remembered, was turned away when he first tried to defect.

To be sure, there is reason for extreme care. Most Soviet defectors who bolt to the West are greeted by the agency with great caution because they may be KGB deceptions or provocations. The clandestine operators are so unsure of their ability to evaluate the intentions and establish the legitimacy of most defectors that the CIA has set up an inter-agency committee within the U.S. intelligence community to review all defector cases. This bureaucratic layering not only works to reduce the number of defectors accepted by the U.S. government (perhaps wisely), but also serves to spread the blame if mistakes are made.

Despite the CIA's extreme caution, however, a few defectors, some of them KGB undercover officers, have managed to accomplish their goal of escaping and establishing, as it is known in the clandestine trade, their bonafides, in spite of the agency's doubts. Svetlana Stalin succeeded simply because the CIA officers on the scene in India, with the encouragement of Ambassador Chester Bowles, refused to be held back by the SB Division's bureaucratic precautions.

It has been well established that the CIA cannot spy, in the classical sense, against its major target, the Soviet Union. Nor does the CIA seem to be able to conduct effective counterespionage (in the offensive aspect) against the Soviets. It even has difficulty dealing with the gratuitous opportunities presented by walk-ins and defectors. Much of this obviously can be attributed to the inherent difficulties involved in operating in a closed society like the U.S.S.R.'s, and against a powerful, unrelenting opposition organization like the KGB; and some of the lack of success can, too, be explained by the CIA's incompetence. But there is more to the failure against the Soviet target than insurmountable security problems or ineptitude. The CIA's Clandestine Services are, to a large extent, fearful of and even intimidated by the Soviet KGB because they have so frequently been outmaneuvered by it.

So it is--if you think it difficult to face your own sleepy actions, consider the man who has killed hundreds or thousands of innocents only to find it was for protection of CRIME!]

Most Soviet spying successes against the major Western powers have involved penetrations of their intelligence services. The KGB, with its origins in the highly conspiratorial czarist secret police, has often appeared to professional observers to be more adept at penetrating foreign intelligence organizations than in recruiting ordinary spies.

Most notorious among the KGB's infiltrations of Western intelligence (at least those that have been discovered) was Harold "Kim" Philby, who spied for Moscow for over twenty years while a very high-ranking official of Britain's MI-6. In his memoirs (unquestionably full of KGB disinformation) Philby expressed little professional respect for the CIA's talents in counterespionage. But he did admit that it was an agency officer (ironically, an ex-FBI agent) who ultimately saw through his masquerade and was responsible for exposing him to British authorities. There have been several other highly damaging KGB penetrations of British intelligence, French and German intelligence, and the services of most of the smaller N.A.T.O. countries. And KGB agents have been uncovered on several occasions in U.S. intelligence agencies, including the National Security Agency, several of the military security agencies, and the intelligence section of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

But as far as is publicly known, no career officer of the CIA has ever been proved to be an enemy spy. There have been some odd dismissals of clandestine officers from time to time for reasons that have smacked of more than mere incompetence or corruption, but none of these has ever officially been designated as a penetration. On the other hand, foreign agents recruited by the agency have sometimes been found to be working for an opposition service. Whenever such a penetration is discovered in a CIA operation, the agency's counterespionage specialists compile a damage report assessing how much information has been revealed to the subject and the possible repercussions of such disclosures on other CIA activities. Similarly, agency counterespionage officers participate in the preparation of damage reports when a penetration is exposed elsewhere in the U.S. intelligence community.

LT. COL. WHALEN

One such report was prepared in cooperation with the Defense Department in 1966 when Lieutenant Colonel W. H. Whalen, a U.S. Army intelligence officer working for the Joint Chiefs of Staff, was arrested as a KGB spy. The investigation disclosed that Whalen had had access to almost all the U.S. national intelligence estimates of Soviet strategic military capabilities during the "missile gap" controversy several years earlier. Evidently, he had delivered copies of these top-secret documents to his KGB employers.

However, the results of Whalen's actions were, upon examination, as surprising as they were discouraging to U.S. intelligence. A principal reason why CIA and Pentagon analysts believed there was a missile gap during the late 1950's and early 1960's was the numerous references in speeches made at the time by Khrushchev and other Soviet leaders alluding to the development and deployment of Soviet long-range nuclear missiles. These announcements, carefully timed to correspond to the progressive phases of intercontinental ballistic missile research, testing, production, and operational introduction to the armed forces, were studied in great detail by the Kremlin-watchers of the U.S. intelligence community. Learning from American scientists working on U.S. missile programs what was technically feasible in the field of ICBM development, and having already witnessed the startling demonstration of Soviet space technology demonstrated in the launching of Sputnik, the intelligence analysts assumed the worst--that the Soviets were well ahead of the United States in the missile race. The analysts noted in their estimates that the statements of the Soviet leaders were a significant factor in making this judgment.

Let us break at this point since it is time for your meeting. Salu. Please get some rest this afternoon. Thank you.
